Slayer Of Farmer, Wife Hunted Near New Philly

Man Wrecks Car During Wild Chase

Believed In Vicinity Of Newcomerstown After Eluding Police

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — A manhunt touched off Saturday night by the slaying of a farmer and his wife continued without letup today in hill country southwest of here.

Scores of weary law officers searched farm buildings, abandoned mines and wooded country for a man they want to question in the slaying of William W. Fender, 59, and his wife, Bernice, 54.

The man they seek wrecked Fender's car in a high-speed chase started after Ohio Highway Patrolmen became suspicious of the actions of the driver of the car.

After tracing the ownership of the wrecked car, patrolmen came upon the bodies of Fender and his wife in their farm home near Doylestown in Wayne County, Ohio, 30 miles northwest of here.

Wayne County authorities said there may be a link between the slayings and the wounding of a woman at Rittman, near Doylestown, Friday night. Mrs. Lewis Wagner, 25, was wounded in the shoulder and stomach. She was reported in fair condition in Wadsworth Hospital in Medina County.

Sought for questioning in that shooting was Kenneth Watts, 21, of Wayne County, W. Va., who had known Mrs. Wagner for some time, according to Sheriff Glen Rike. Watts had lived at Rittman since last fall.

Mrs. Wagner's car was found abandoned in a swamp a few miles west of Fender's livestock farm.

Patrolman William McMahon said the man who killed the Fenders apparently wanted nothing but the keys to Fender's car. Fender's pockets had been pulled inside out, but everything in the house appeared undisturbed, the officer said.

The man who wrecked Fender's car fled on foot and the patrol said he was believed still on foot somewhere in the vicinity of Newcomerstown, southwest of here.

More than 50 patrolmen, Tuscarawas County sheriff's deputies and volunteers joined the manhunt. The patrol said many of them kept at it 13 and 14 hours at a stretch before being relieved.

The patrol used an airplane Sunday and a score of unmarked cars.

A small caliber weapon was used in both shootings, Wayne County authorities reported. Ballistic tests were to be made in an effort to see if it was the same weapon. The revolver or rifle used was not found.

Man, 36, Dies As Auto Veers Off Roadway

Chest Injuries Take Leon Russell After Hillcrest Accident

County 1960 Traffic Toll
9 KILLED
This date in 1959—7 Killed!
'DON'T DRIVE LIKE 60'

A 36-year-old Hillcrest Rd. man was killed early this morning when his car veered off a curve on Route 45 and nosed into the embankment of a 4-foot ditch only a quarter of a mile from his home near Wellsville.

Leon Russell, 1057 Hillcrest Rd., who was an employe of a tree service firm, was pulled from his wrecked auto by a passing motorist after the car plunged into the ditch about 4:40 a. m. two-tenths of a mile north of Wellsville.

Short circuits in the horn and lighting wires apparently ignited the auto after Mr. Russell was removed from the car and Wellsville firemen were called to extinguish the blaze. The car's horn was blowing when firemen arrived.

Mr. Russell apparently was headed uphill and lost control on a section of the highway which is level—halfway up the hill—when the auto left the road and went into the ditch.

Thrown over the steering wheel, he suffered severe chest injuries.

He was killed instantly, suffering a crushed chest and fractured neck. Dr. R. C. Costello, deputy county coroner, is investigating.

The death was Columbiana County's ninth traffic fatality this year, compared to seven at this time in 1959.

An employe of the Davey Tree Expert Co., he had stayed overnight with a friend at Wellsville and was en route home to go out to work this morning.

He was a veteran of World War II and a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9285 of Wellsville.

He came here from Pulaski, Va., over seven years ago and apparently has no local relatives. Police this morning were attempting to locate relatives in Virginia.

The body was removed to the Haugh Funeral Home at Wellsville. Arrangements are incomplete.

IBOP Plans To Seek Contract's Reopening

"Progress" was reported by International Brotherhood of Operative Potters representatives after returning from Cincinnati, where the union's wage policy committees met to prepare proposals that will be presented in negotiations for new working agreements.

The proposals will be presented when contracts in the generalware and chinaware divisions expire, Harry L. Gill, editor of the Potters Herald, said this morning. The meeting ended Saturday.

The union will advise the manufacturers it wants to reopen the contracts and management and union officials will work out meeting dates. About 75 delegates from generalware and chinaware locals along with the union's Executive Board attended the sessions which opened Thursday.

J. N. Vodrey Claimed After Long Illness

J. Norman Vodrey, 86, president of the Moore Furniture Co., died this morning at 10:55 at City Hospital, where he had been admitted Saturday.

A resident of 419 Thompson Ave., Mr. Vodrey had been ill for a number of months.

He was a native of East Liverpool and a long time official in the E. 5th St. furniture concern, which was incorporated in 1903. He was a member of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

Besides his widow, survivors include two sons, Wendell H. Vodrey and Robert Vodrey.

The body was removed to the Dawson Funeral Home.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home Wednesday at 2 p. m. by the Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. Other arrangements are incomplete.

Officers Raid Weirton Spots In Crackdown

WEIRTON — Police staged early morning raids over the weekend on two city establishments at the request by Mayor David T. Frew and arrested four men and a woman on charges of liquor law violations.

The Young Democrat Club and the Serbian Athletic Club were raided by police Sunday and the SAC establishment was hti again today. Both were found to be open for business after closing hours, police said.

Bill Cresco of Weirton, cited at the SAC establishment, posted $106 bond for a hearing on charges of selling liquor and beer after the Sunday midnight curfew.

Dominic Orlando, 47, of Weirton, was arrested at the Young Democrat Club Sunday at 3:25 a. m. and posted $106 bond for a hearing on charges of disorderly conduct and being open after hours.

Jeannette Shreve of Weirton was cited Sunday at 9 a. m. on a charge of dispensing alcoholic liquor and beer after the curfew hour. Milan Dadasovich, 47, was charged with operating a gaming device, disrespect of officers and using abusive language. He was cited at 2:05 a. m. today in the SAC building and posted $318 bond for a hearing.

Nick Vuckovich, 46, of Weirton was cited Sunday at 3:25 a. m. for permitting the sale of alcoholic beverages in one of the two establishments. He was cited again at 2:05 a. m. today and posted $212 bond for dispensing liquor after hours.

DeGaulle, Party Head For Canada And U.S.

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle leaves today for America and his most extended foreign tour since he returned to power two years ago.

He takes off from Orly airport this afternoon for a 14,000-mile, 17-day trip that will take him to Ottawa, Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Washington, New York, San Francisco, New Orleans, French Guiana and the French West Indies islands.

Kennedy Sets Key Issues In West Virginia

Declares Depressed Areas In State Are In Need Of Attention

CLARKSBURG (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said today that unemployment and economically depressed areas are "the issue in this campaign, not where I go to church on Sunday."

He made the reference to the religious issue, which arises from the fact that he is a Roman Catholic, in a short speech at a coffee-and-doughnuts gathering in the Stonewall Jackson Hotel.

About 200 persons crowded into the hotel ballroom to hear Kennedy. Many carried placards — "The Remedy is Kennedy," "We're Back of Jack."

The appearance opened Kennedy's first campaign swing into Northern West Virginia as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. His rival in the May 10 West Virginia primary, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), is not due back in the state until next week, but Mrs. Humphrey is scheduled to appear at a rally in Clarksburg tonight.

Kennedy told the enthusiastic hotel crowd, "There is no state in the United States that is more in need (than West Virginia) of a new administration, a Democratic administration that is willing to take up where Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman left off."

He referred to reports that Humphrey will have the help in West Virginia not only of his own supporters but also of those who favor Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas), Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) or Adlia Stevenson for the nomination.

Kennedy said he thought the people of West Virginia would resent use of their primary for supporters of several candidates to gang up behind one just to stop another.

"Anyone running for the presidency should be willing to submit his name himself and not through another candidate," Kennedy said.

Kennedy referred to a national magazine Newsweek article quoting Humphrey's co-chairman in West Virginia, William L. Jacobs of Parkersburg, as saying he really preferred Symington or Stevenson for the nomination. Kennedy said if he had a co-chairman who would make a statement like that, he "would get a new co-chairman."

Kennedy spoke of Humphrey as "a candidate who could not win in the state next to him and therefore could not be nominated."

This was a reference to Humphrey's defeat by Kennedy in the presidential primary in Wisconsin, nextdoor to Humphrey's own state of Minnesota.

After a tour of a glass plant in Clarksburg, Kennedy was to go on by chartered bus to Fairmont and Morgantown for appearances later today.

Burglars Loot Chester Store

Faulk Concern Lists Loss Totaling $390

Some $390 worth of sports rifles, shotguns, ammunition, appliances and cash were taken by thieves over the weekend from the Faulk Brothers Co. store on Carolina Ave., Chester.

Police Chief Harold Davis said entrance was made through a rear window. The intruders then smashed three interior doors to get to the main part of the store.

Eugene Hall, manager, discovered the entry at 8 a. m. today. The entrance was made between 5 p. m. Saturday and this morning, he said.

About $50 in change was taken from a cash box and register in the feed store part of the business.

Also removed were four .22 caliber rifles, a 16-gauge shotgun, a 410-gauge shotgun, two small radios, two electric drills, some 2,500 rounds of .22 caliber ammunition, a quantity of shotgun shells, two coffeemakers, two small electric clocks and a small electric heater.

Hall estimated the loss at between $360 and $400.

Stiff Breezes And Rain Mar City's Holiday

Community Sunrise Rite Attracts 1,200 To Patterson Field

Stiff breezes whipped milady's finery in the Easter parade in East Liverpool Sunday, but the co-operative weatherman held off predicted showers until mid-afternoon —long enough to prevent any serious conflict with the holiday's observance.

Thousands of Christians jammed churches throughout the East Liverpool area yesterday to hail the Risen Christ. At the main services at 11 a. m., they paraded to church through balmy 80 - degree temperatures, although strong winds had a tendency to ruffle hairdos and turn corsages askew.

When the crowds emerged from the services at noon for the traditional "parade," the mercury had climbed to 82.

A sunrise service at 6 at Patterson Field drew an estimated 1,200. It was sponsored jointly by the East Liverpool Ministerial Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The rite was the first community sunrise service in several years.

About 250 attended the 23rd annual Easter sunrise service held at the Masonic Temple under the auspices of Pilgrim Commandery 55, Knights Templar, H. Emil Heidel Jr., commander, said.

At St. Stephen's Episcopal Church attendance at the services was reported about 625, with approximately 250 at the 10:45 a. m. worship.

About 730 attended 10:30 a. m. worship at the First Church of Christ. Approximately 954 attended 11 a. m. worship at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

An overflow crowd of 1,500 was reported at the First Church of the Nazarene at 11 a. m. worship. The Sunday School missile project that began over a month ago "went into orbit" yesterday morning, when the attendance hit 1,011. The quota was 1,000.

The midnight Mass at St. Aloysius Catholic Church Saturday was attended by about 400.

The mercury climbed to a high of 83 at 1 p. m. yesterday. The overnight low was 42. Dam 8 at Newell recorded eight hundredths of an inch of rain overnight.

The trend toward colder weather will continue today, with a possibility of mixed rain and snow this afternoon, the forecaster said. The high today will be 40-45. Winds will diminish tonight, but the mercury will drop to a low of 28-32. Tuesday will be fair and warmer.

By Police, Troops

400 Are Arrested In African Raids

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police and troops, backed by eight armored cars, arrested 400 Negroes in a raid on the African township of Duncan outside East London today.

The big sweep came as strong police patrols maintained an uneasy quiet in other major South African cities on the first day of a week-long work boycott called by Negro leaders opposing South Africa's white supremacy laws. This was a Monday Easter holiday for most workers, however, and the real showdown comes Tuesday.

Police and troops threw a cordon around the East London settlement, then moved in.

The East London district police commandant, Maj. P. M. Landman, said the arrested Negroes were "all part of a tsotsi (young gangsters) element in this native settlement." These elements have been accused of beating and intimidating Negroes who want to work.

Landman claimed there were no violent incidents.

Police reported all quiet in Johannesburg and African townships surrounding this metropolis up to noon. Most stores were closed and the sunny streets were largely deserted.

Negroes employed in hotels and apartment houses appeared to be on the job, but many of these live in the buildings where they work or nearby. Their working was no indication of the sentiment of Africans in native townships.

In the first violence of the week, a group of Negroes attacked and seriously injured a Negro police sergeant on his way to work in Port Elizabeth. An attempt was made on another Negro policeman shortly after, but he resisted and escaped unharmed. Police arrested six Negro suspects.

The government mobilized all police forces throughout the nation for the first test of strength with the country's leading Negro political organization since it went underground.

Strong police patrols kept a watch on Negro settlements around major urban areas.

Hundreds of thousands of Negroes who work in the big cities and environs were caught in the political squeeze. The government warned anyone staying away from work faced loss of their jobs or even banishment to native reserves in the remote interior.

Traffic Mishaps Claim 17 In State During Weekend

Traffic	17
Fires	2
Miscellaneous	2
Total	21

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths struck a six-fold blow at dead center of the state Sunday and traveled streets and highways in many places over the weekend. By the time the count was in on the 54-hour Easter weekend (6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday), Ohio had registered a vehicular fatality toll of at least 17.

Accidental deaths reached 21 in all as two more came via fire and one when a man plunged through the glass roof of a greenhouse.

And in Rossford, a baby girl drowned.

The six-victim mishap occurred when two automobiles collided near Centerburg, Ohio's geographical midpoint. From there, the casualties fanned out in all directions but came most frequently in the populous northeast section.

Four of those killed around the state were pedestrians.

The fatalities:

Friday Night

Ernest Dehnbostel, 34, Toledo, when his car struck a utility pole in Toledo.

Henry Rose, 49, Mansfield, in an auto crash on U.S. 30 bypass near Ontario, a Mansfield suburb.

Saturday

Fred W. Williard, 80, asphyxiated in a fire at his home in Ravenna.

Don R. Kistler Jr., 23, Rt. 4, Lancaster, in a head-on collision on a Fairfield County road three miles northeast of Sugar Grove.

Stevens Irons, 6, Canton, struck by a car in front of his home.

Barbara Bolevich, 4, Youngstown, struck by a car in Youngstown while on her way to buy Easter candy.

Louis Roknich, 20, Massillon, when his car hit a parked car

National Chairman Paul Butler, who heads the 14-member arrangements committee meeting here, said the group probably will pick leaders for the platform and credentials committees.

The arrangements committee is scheduled to inspect facilities to be used by the convention which starts July 11.

The arrangements committee includes Bernard Boutin, Laconia, N.H.; Dr. Mildred O'Tenasek, Baltimore, Md.; Carmine G. De Sapio, New York City; Mrs. W. W. Ehrmann, Gainesville, Fla.; Herbert Walters, Morristown, Tenn.; Camille F. Gravel Jr., Alexandria, La.; Mrs. Georgia Neese Gray, Richland, Kan.; Miss Mary Cunningham, Rulo, Neb.; Paul Ziffren, Los Angeles; Elizabeth Smith, Kentfield, Calif.; Mrs. Watters Martin, Honolulu; Joseph Gluck, Seattle, and Donald J. Mitchell, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Tonight's Last Chance To File Income Report

Tonight's the last, the final, the ultimate deadline for filing 1959 income tax returns with the District Director of Internal Revenue at Cleveland.

Ordinarily, the deadline falls on April 15, but it was extended throughout the United States because of Good Friday. But last-minute returns must bear today's postmark, or Uncle Sam will raise an eyebrow over the delinquency.

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown cautioned that returns must be dropped into the lobby of the main Post Office before 10 tonight to insure that they will carry today's postmark.

Canada, Soviet Union Sign New Trade Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — Canada and the Soviet Union today signed a new three-year trade pact under which the Soviets will spend two dollars in Canada for every Canadian dollar spent here.

The Soviet government promised to purchase 25 million dollars worth of goods each year.

About 250 attended the 23rd annual Easter sunrise service held at the Masonic Temple under the auspices of Pilgrim Commandery 55, Knights Templar, H. Emil Heidel Jr., commander, said.

At St. Stephen's Episcopal Church attendance at the services was reported about 625, with approximately 250 at the 10:45 a. m. worship.

About 730 attended 10:30 a. m. worship at the First Church of Christ. Approximately 954 attended 11 a. m. worship at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

An overflow crowd of 1,500 was reported at the First Church of the Nazarene at 11 a. m. worship. The Sunday School missile project that began over a month ago "went into orbit" yesterday morning, when the attendance hit 1,011. The quota was 1,000.

The midnight Mass at St. Aloysius Catholic Church Saturday was attended by about 400.

The mercury climbed to a high of 83 at 1 p. m. yesterday. The overnight low was 42. Dam 8 at Newell recorded eight hundredths of an inch of rain overnight.

The trend toward colder weather will continue today, with a possibility of mixed rain and snow this afternoon, the forecaster said. The high today will be 40-45. Winds will diminish tonight, but the mercury will drop to a low of 28-32. Tuesday will be fair and warmer.

By Police, Troops 400 Are Arrested In African Raids

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police and troops, backed by eight armored cars, arrested 400 Negroes in a raid on the African township of Duncan outside East London today.

The big sweep came as strong police patrols maintained an uneasy quiet in other major South African cities on the first day of a week-long work boycott called by Negro leaders opposing South Africa's white supremacy laws. This was a Monday Easter holiday for most workers, however, and the real showdown comes Tuesday.

Police and troops threw a cordon around the East London settlement, then moved in.

The East London district police commandant, Maj. P. M. Landman, said the arrested Negroes were "all part of a tsotsi (young gangsters) element in this native settlement." These elements have been accused of beating and intimidating Negroes who want to work.

Landman claimed there were no violent incidents.

Police reported all quiet in Johannesburg and African townships surrounding this metropolis up to noon. Most stores were closed and the sunny streets were largely deserted.

Negroes employed in hotels and apartment houses appeared to be on the job, but many of these live in the buildings where they work or nearby. Their working was no indication of the sentiment of Africans in native townships.

In the first violence of the week, a group of Negroes attacked and seriously injured a Negro police sergeant on his way to work in Port Elizabeth. An attempt was made on another Negro policeman shortly after, but he resisted and escaped unharmed. Police arrested six Negro suspects.

The government mobilized all police forces throughout the nation for the first test of strength with the country's leading Negro political organization since it went underground.

Strong police patrols kept a watch on Negro settlements around major urban areas.

Hundreds of thousands of Negroes who work in the big cities and environs were caught in the political squeeze. The government warned anyone staying away from work faced loss of their jobs or even banishment to native reserves in the remote interior.

Democratic Leaders Hold 3-Day Parley

Chairmen For Two Key Committees Will Be Selected

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democratic party officials today open a three-day meeting during which they expect to name chairmen for two key committees at their July presidential convention.

National Chairman Paul Butler, who heads the 14-member arrangements committee meeting here, said the group probably will pick leaders for the platform and credentials committees.

The arrangements committee is scheduled to inspect facilities to be used by the convention which starts July 11.

The arrangements committee includes Bernard Boutin, Laconia, N.H.; Dr. Mildred O'Tenasek, Baltimore, Md.; Carmine G. De Sapio, New York City; Mrs. W. W. Ehrmann, Gainesville, Fla.; Herbert Walters, Morristown, Tenn.; Camille F. Gravel Jr., Alexandria, La.; Mrs. Georgia Neese Gray, Richland, Kan.; Miss Mary Cunningham, Rulo, Neb.; Paul Ziffren, Los Angeles; Elizabeth Smith, Kentfield, Calif.; Mrs. Watters Martin, Honolulu; Joseph Gluck, Seattle, and Donald J. Mitchell, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Traffic Mishaps Claim 17 In State During Weekend

Traffic	17
Fires	2
Miscellaneous	2
Total	21

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths struck a six-fold blow at dead center of the state Sunday and traveled streets and highways in many places over the weekend. By the time the count was in on the 54-hour Easter weekend (6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday), Ohio had registered a vehicular fatality toll of at least 17.

Accidental deaths reached 21 in all as two more came via fire and one when a man plunged through the glass roof of a greenhouse.

And in Rossford, a baby girl drowned.

The six-victim mishap occurred when two automobiles collided near Centerburg, Ohio's geographical midpoint. From there, the casualties fanned out in all directions but came most frequently in the populous northeast section.

Four of those killed around the state were pedestrians.

The fatalities:

Friday Night

Ernest Dehnbostel, 34, Toledo, when his car struck a utility pole in Toledo.

Henry Rose, 49, Mansfield, in an auto crash on U.S. 30 bypass near Ontario, a Mansfield suburb.

Saturday

Fred W. Williard, 80, asphyxiated in a fire at his home in Ravenna.

Don R. Kistler Jr., 23, Rt. 4, Lancaster, in a head-on collision on a Fairfield County road three miles northeast of Sugar Grove.

Stevens Irons, 6, Canton, struck by a car in front of his home.

Barbara Bolevich, 4, Youngstown, struck by a car in Youngstown while on her way to buy Easter candy.

Tonight's Last Chance To File Income Report

Tonight's the last, the final, the ultimate deadline for filing 1959 income tax returns with the District Director of Internal Revenue at Cleveland.

Ordinarily, the deadline falls on April 15, but it was extended throughout the United States because of Good Friday. But last-minute returns must bear today's postmark, or Uncle Sam will raise an eyebrow over the delinquency.

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown cautioned that returns must be dropped into the lobby of the main Post Office before 10 tonight to insure that they will carry today's postmark.

Canada, Soviet Union Sign New Trade Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — Canada and the Soviet Union today signed a new three-year trade pact under which the Soviets will spend two dollars in Canada for every Canadian dollar spent here.

The Soviet government promised to purchase 25 million dollars worth of goods each year,

With Surprise Snows

Storms Hit Much Of U.S.

A mass of cold air pushed out of the Midwest into the eastern third of the nation today after an Easter weekend of violent storms and surprise snows.

Generally fair and warm weather was on tap for the storm-struck Midwest westward to the Pacific Coast. Showers, thundershowers and possible snow flurries were expected in the Northwest and some thunderstorm activity in New England.

The cold mass plummeted temperatures below freezing from Minnesota eastward into Michigan this morning and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., counted four inches of fresh snow.

Green Bay, Wis., reported 19 above; Grantsburg, Wis., registered 18, and Mason City, Iowa 27. The freezing zone extended southward into central Illinois and Indiana.

Cold, wet weather after a night of tornadoes, chilling rains and snows spoiled Easter observances in the Midwest. Property damage was extensive. The two-day death toll stood at nine.

Snowstorms hit Wyoming, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Iowa, Wisconsin, northern Illinois and the eastern side of Lake Michigan.

Ames, Iowa, had two inches on the ground Easter morning. Scottsbluff and North Platte, in southwest Nebraska, and Pellston and Traverse City, Mich., all reported an inch of snow.

Tornadoes Saturday night wreaked havoc from Oklahoma northeastward into eastern Iowa.

A half-dozen twisters were sighted in Oklahoma. At least 15 persons were injured when gale-force winds struck Tulsa, stoving in plate glass windows and toppling utility poles, traffic lights and signs. A 16-month-old boy perished when lightning struck his Tulsa home.

At Waterloo, Iowa, a heavy truck was blown on top of an auto, killing a passenger in the car. At Traer, Iowa, 50 m.p.h. winds lifted two freight cars off the wheels, causing a 38-car derailment.

A twister leveled buildings on six farms near Ottawa, Kan.

Four members of a family drowned near Hayti, Mo., when their boat capsized in wind-whipped Mississippi River flood waters as they were returning to their farm home from Easter services.

Three persons were killed when their car skidded into a concrete abutment near Chester, Ill., during a heavy wind and rain storm.

Lisbon Grange Starts Strawberry Fete Plans

LISBON — The Lisbon Grange Friday evening began plans for the annual strawberry festival to be held June 25 and committees were appointed.

James Crowell, master, reported that a bi-monthly officers' meeting will be held May 10 at the Highlandtown Grange Hall and the annual inspection of Lisbon Grange will be May 20.

City Firemen Respond To 3 Alarms On Sunday

Three minor calls were answered Sunday afternoon and night by city firemen.

A dump fire was extinguished at 12:55 p. m. at Central and Ohio Aves. by men from the East End station. Firemen laid 300 feet of 2½-inch hose and 100 feet of 1½-inch hose in quelling the stubborn blaze.

Firemen were called to Shive's Hill off Maine Blvd. at 6:27 p.m. to extinguish a grass fire. A large section of the area burned over Friday.

An auto owned by James Plotts of Massillon caught fire at 7:20 p. m. at Church Ln. and Market St. Firemen said the motor became overheated and set fire to grease.

Trustees To Meet

SALINEVILLE — The Washington Township trustees will meet Wednesday night at 6:30 at the township hall, Howard Adams, chairman, said.

School Group Plans Election

Loren D. Early, superintendent of Lisbon village schools, has been nominated for the presidency of the East Central Ohio Teachers Association and a Columbiana teacher has been nominated for secretary.

William F. Quinn, executive secretary-treasurer of the ECOTA, reported the candidates selected by the nominating committee.

Early will oppose J. William Rieker, New Philadelphia high school instructor, for the post now held by Charles Andrews of Canton.

David Knight, principal of Orrville Junior High School, and E. R. Malone, superintendent of North Canton schools, will vie for the vice presidency while Mrs. Laura Schaeffer, an elementary teacher in Columbiana, will oppose Miss Irene Curry, Carrollton High School instructor, for secretary.

The elections will be held at the ECOTA's fall meeting in Canton.

The nominations committee was headed by Homer Keppler of Tuscarawas County and included Ralph Waldo Ward as Columbiana's representative. The association is composed of teachers and administrators in Columbiana, Stark, Tuscarawas, Holmes and Wayne Counties.

The Radiant Pink Hybrid That Gives You
THOUSANDS OF ROSES FROM A SINGLE PLANT
Outblooms Any Rose We've Ever Seen or Heard of!

Leading Eastern Agricultural College Reports:
this fabulous rose variety produced
500 blooms in June
1523 more blooms in July
1616 more blooms in August
437 more blooms in September
all from one single plant

4,076 ROSES all from one single plant!

AND was still blooming heavily in October, November and right up to frost—long after the agricultural authorities had stopped counting the blooms! Of 69 famous American Roses tested, by actual count, this fabulous rose variety produced at least 5½ times more roses than its nearest competitor — AND ACTUALLY PRODUCED OVER 40 TIMES MORE BLOSSOMS FROM ONE SINGLE PLANT THAN THE AVERAGE OF ALL OTHER 68 FAMOUS ROSES COMBINED!

Roses, roses, roses . . . laughing, lavish, reddish-pink roses flaming against the side of your house, erupting into fabulous blankets of bloom along your walls and fences . . . a mass of exquisite pink-crimson beauty for all the world to see and admire . . . a fabulous Wonder Rose to turn your grounds into the Rose Garden of your community! It's called "Nearly Wild" and it's hailed as "probably the greatest blooming rose of all time."

Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Blossoms the First Season Planted!

In actual tests at a leading agricultural college, "Nearly Wild" has actually produced 40 times more blossoms in a single season than the average of 68 of the nation's top roses combined! And it blooms, blooms, blooms for fully 5 to 6 months . . . from early June right up until frost . . . producing as many as 50 fresh blossoms each day, week after week, month after month once it's well-established. Each dainty 3" single rose resembles a lovely, extra-petaled dogwood blossom, has all the native beauty of the wild, all the perfection of expert cultivation. Just one plant and your yard will glow with hundreds upon hundreds of the most beloved and enchanting flowers known to man . . . roses! "Nearly Wild" bursts into ravishing masses of color the first season you plant it, and unlike most other roses, will flower more and more profusely each passing year. Indeed, there are so many blossoms aflame on each plant, you can gather an armload and leave just as many roses still on the bush!

A Sub-Zero Hybrid Rose Triumph . . . Resists Heat, Drought, Cold and Disease!

So easy to care for, too, and so amazingly hardy and resistant to disease, including Blackspot! Developed by famous hybridizer Dr. Walter D. Brownell, "Nearly Wild" is his fabulous Sub-Zero rose creation that defies freezing temperatures down to 35° below zero, will even thrive in the Arctic Circle . . . and is just as resistant to heat as it is to intense cold. "Nearly Wild" sparkles through blazing summer heat when most other roses droop and hang limp. Through searing sun, its fiery reddish-pink blossoms stay fresh and perky!

Supplies Limited! We Expect an Immediate Sellout . . . So Order Quickly!

If you would like to have this super-blooming rose flaming in your garden, if you would like the thrill of watching those first tight-furled pink buds unfold and burst into the most abundant blanket of roses you've ever seen, we suggest you order at once before our supplies are exhausted! "Nearly Wild" is in extremely short supply . . . once they're gone, there may be no more available for possibly the next 2 years to come. So don't miss out on this fabulous super-rose. Do You Know The Candidates?

A story out of Wheeling over the weekend pointed up a fault typical of too many campaigns — primaries in particular: The average voter knows too little about the candidates and issues involved.

During a "man-in-the-street" survey by a newspaper reporter, of 50 persons interviewed at random only four knew the full names of the two Democratic presidential aspirants in the May 10 West Virginia primary.

The situation by no means is peculiar to the state of West Virginia. It prevails most everywhere, be it east, west, north or south.

All of which brings to mind the Ohio primary of May 3; in particular, the Columbiana County races which are of special concern to residents of East Liverpool and other county communities.

On April 2, The Review presented in detail the 46 who will be contesting for 12 county offices. But in the hope that a situation such as that at Wheeling can be averted here, the names of the various candidates, their place of residence and the offices they seek are presented again. They follow:

Commissioner

Republican — William Y. Orr, East Liverpool; Clarence L. Robinson, Lisbon; Howard L. Ketchum, Wayne Township; Walter A. Hunston, East Palestine; Jonathan C. Mason, East Liverpool; Hugh McPherson of North Georgetown; Lorain H. Foulks of Calcutta; Galen H. Greenisen of Salem RD 3; Ford L. McQuilkin of Homeworth.

Democratic — John Varsho of Lisbon RD 3; R. Max Gard of near Lisbon; Samuel J. Crawford of near West Point; Robert Barnett of Beloit RD 2; Robert L. Faulkner of Leetonia RD 1; Rudy Wilk of Wellsville; Daniel A. McKeever of Williamsport.

State Representative

Republican — Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon; Delmar T. O'Hara of Wellsville; I. J. Vorndran of East Liverpool; J. Warren Bettis of Salineville; Kenneth E. Bell of Columbiana.

Democratic — John H. Todd of Lisbon; Benjamin Barrett of Salem; Bernard Freeman of Columbiana; Robert Cogan of East Rochester; Samuel Sowards of Lisbon.

County Recorder

Republican — Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool; Robert W. Sample Jr. of East Liverpool; Richard T. Mason of Lisbon.

Democratic — Lawrence A. Finlay of East Liverpool; John E. Graham of Wellsville; Donald J. Longshore of Columbiana.

Sheriff

Democratic — Albert E. Kittridge of East Liverpool; Joseph McGurren of Salem; John Ansman of Salem; Lloyd Bentley of Salineville RD; Merle Hardy of North Georgetown.

Republican — Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan of East Palestine is unopposed for nomination for a second term.

Four Democratic officeholders are unopposed for renomination: Probate Judge Louis Tobin, Court Clerk Carl L. Stacey, Treasurer Vincent C. Judge and Dr. William A. Kolozsi, coroner.

Two other Republican incumbents are unopposed: Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw and County Engineer Charles O. Snyder.

The Democrats have two other unopposed candidates — John Ursu for county engineer and Herbert E. Arfman for prosecuting attorney. On the Republican ticket, Mrs. H. Joan Dixon is unopposed for nomination for treasurer.

The Republicans have no candidates for probate judge and coroner.

The Review will offer its primary recommendations several days before the voting. Meantime, in the interest of a more enlightened electorate, why not clip the candidates' names above and give them your attention?

Merely to go to the polls and mark a ballot isn't enough. The candidates should be chosen after an intelligent appraisal and not at random. Only by an analysis of each man or woman's qualifications can it be hoped to select those who appear best fitted for the various offices.

Praiseworthy Primping

East Liverpool's principal streets presented a pleasant appearance Easter Day, with the winter's accumulation of dirt and cinders gone.

And the city administration can be thanked for that.

Working night and day, city crews swept the main streets of the cinders that had been scattered only a few weeks ago when snow and ice made driving hazardous.

Then the grime and grit of winter was washed away with the hosing of the streets, giving the downtown a fresh appearance and a clean look for the first time since winter departed.

The work may have been lost sight of in the hustle and bustle of preparations for Easter, but residents enroute to early church services Sunday could not help but observe the clean appearance of the streets in the morning's sunlight.

And This Is Only Mid-April

The major league baseball seasons are under way and the boys are playing for keeps. Everything up to now has been for fun.

If the old pros with high lifetime batting averages couldn't hit their weight, it didn't matter; spring training wasn't the real thing.

If the adroit glove men looked like arthritic kangaroos in the field, all that mattered was what they could do when the season began, not what they did while the season was still safely in the future.

If the veterans acted like rookies and some of the rookies acted as if they owned the training camps, that was all right, too. Everybody knew the rookies were doing their best to make an impression and the veterans no longer felt they had to prove their right to be in uniform.

THIS SORT of thing comes to mind when dopesters in national politics, needing something to justify their existence, suck their thumbs and come up with critiques of rookies and the veterans.

If the dopesters were to be taken at their word, the veterans would be on the bench when the time came to play for keeps and the rookies would have taken all their places. It rarely works that way. Once in a lifetime a Wendell Willkie swoops from nowhere and creates a sensation. But mostly patient preparation and the old pro touch pay off in politics.

Of all the pity being wasted this year on objects that do not need pity, the worst waste is the pity bestowed on Vice President Nixon, who has had no chance to show what he can do in the primaries; Adlai Stevenson, who has been playing "winter ball" in South America, and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, who has been so busy taking care of congressional business he has no time to impress the tourists, amateur photographers and training camp buffs.

All the action has centered on two senators, Kennedy of Massachusetts and Humphrey of Minnesota, with a little spillover on Symington of Missouri. The comparison has made the old pros look drab and dull. But the fact is it's only mid-April. The campaign hasn't begun yet.

NOT ALL the mighty swingers and Fancy Dans who gobble up every ball hit close to them will be around when the season opens. Fewer still will be around when the season closes.

It's a dismal thought—a grim thought. But it's as true in politics as it is in baseball, which each spring is going to be turned upside down by the rookies and each midsummer is leaning on the rookies that survived long enough to become veterans.

Killing The Goose

By Frank Tripp

This is a report of a conversation with a man who has a taxable income of $150,000 a year, after all the deducts. One of the "rich" who Uncle Sam "soaks", $90,000 worth.

He is not one of the get-rich-lately. He has had wealth a long time; before there was an income tax, and through the early years of reasonable income taxes. He is known to his community as a man who backed many a small business and financed lads who had no collateral to give to professional lenders.

I was talking with him about it and observed that there doesn't seem to be the enterprise there once was among young men. "Oh yes there is," he said. "Many of them come to me but I can't help them any more." I asked him why.

BEFORE THE days of excessive income tax and inflation it cost him $50,000 to live and do the kindly things which the tax authorities do not recognize as deductible gifts and ventures. His income was around $80,000.

He still then had $30,000 of income which he loaned to enterprising youngsters or to small businesses, some of which succeeded, some failed. His personal position was secure, his vision broad and he chose to take chances on ambitious young men in small new enterprises.

Today his income is $150,000, nearly doubled, but government takes $90,000 of it in taxes. Thus he has left $60,000 — not eighty. Quite enough of course, but his $50,000 annual expenses have gone up, too. So he's just about breaking even. Lucky guy so far as he's concerned — but the $30,000 a year that he used to put to work for other folks now goes to Uncle Sam.

Together we figured out what it would cost him now to stake two young mutual acquintances as he did some 30 years ago. He put up $20,000 for them, not knowing that he'd get it back. The little business prospered, grew big; one of several that he sponsored.

Those days he just took $20,000 of the money which he now pays to the government and started a pair of worthy lads in business. Just like that; that simple.

LET'S SEE how he could get $20,000 for such a worthwhile deed today. Assuming that he could in some manner increase his income, how much would he have to increase it to have $20,000 to risk?

Of every additional dollar that he might get, the government would take 90 cents; he'd get 10. So to net $20,000 for a new business venture he must increase his income, in round figures, by $200,000; more than double what it is.

Impossible of course. Why not sell some securities, I asked him. His answer was simple. Almost all that he owns is stock which he, his father or those whom he has helped have developed to its present value by risked capital, good management and hard work.

The cost of such stock on his books, compared with its value today, would establish a big profit, if sold, and create a tax which no sane man would assume in order to obtain venture capital in the present uncertain economy.

So I got to thinking — and with no sympathy for this man, for he needs none — that this "soak the rich" business is the bunk.

"Gouging the poor" fits it better.

Ill Omen?

We Don't Know Our Economics

By Benjamin Fine

America is raising a generation of economic illiterates.

Most school and college students would flunk even a rudimentary test dealing with the economy of their city, state or nation. Indeed, they would be baffled by the financial operation of their own home.

This assessment was made last week by a group of prominent educators who spent the past two years studying the place of economics in the nation's elementary, high school and college classrooms. The study was made by the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, a department of the National Education Assn.

The 78-page report, "Educating for Economic Competence," points to a major weakness of American education—the almost complete neglect, from first grade on, of the subject of economics. As a result, children go through school, and later graduate from college or university, with only a hazy notion of the place that economics plays in our society.

FOR MOST AMERICANS, for example, the income tax deadline was an unhappy day. They pored over the list of figures on the income tax blanks, but few could understand what they meant. Moreover, many housewives simply cannot keep their home budgets from disintegrating.

"I just don't understand figures," they say, almost proudly.

But this is no joking matter, the Commission for Economic Competence insists. It urges that children begin to learn about economics in the first grade. And it further proposes that economics be made an integral part of the curriculum, just as reading, writing and arithmetic are required today.

If the economic education of the children now in school is not better than that of their parents, the report declares, the possible consequences "are fearful to contemplate." Our very society, our democracy, our tradition of private enterprise, depends upon a knowledge of economics.

Of course, many teachers may say the curriculum is overcrowded now. The school day is not long enough to add all the courses that are needed. But the commission has a solution: Don't add a new subject; instead, integrate economic education into what is already being taught.

In geography the student can discover that, due to differences in climate, resources and skills, there is a world-wide division of labor that results in international trade. Furthermore, geography could teach that countries develop at different rates, that people develop different institutions and economic systems through which they produce and distribute goods and services.

IN HISTORY, students can learn how economic progress and stability recur as vital political issues. It may sound far-fetched, but fifth graders can learn something about capital formation from the frugality of the Puritans. The controversies of Jefferson and Hamilton may point up the conflict between emphasis on economic growth and political freedom.

The ultimate aim, the report stresses, is to build into our youth those skills and interests which will enable them, as adults, to analyze and solve the economic problems which will confront them.

A basic objective, of course, is to produce a high school graduate able to understand the structure and operation of the American economy. The average graduate should be able to apply the tools of economic analysis to the issues of the day.

It doesn't matter whether the issues are such personal ones as the choice of a career or the decision to spend or save, or such matters of national concern as depression, inflation, economic growth, agriculture, labor-management policies or international trade.

Today the daily press and current periodicals devote more space than ever before to economics. Most Americans, for example, now know that GNP stands for Gross National Product. The annual economic report of the President is front page news. You also see prominently in your newspaper the latest figures on the cost of living, statistics on unemployment, and changes in Federal Reserve requirements.

But how many persons actually understand all this? Few indeed. The educators urge that economic education receive a far higher priority in our schools than it does at present.

SOMEHOW, the field of economics must be broken down into simpler terms for the average pupils. In the first grade, for example, a unit on "what our daddies do" can bring in such questions as money, household budgets, insurance, taxes and other aspects of everyday home life—in very basic terms, of course.

The teachers are told they can even start with the problems of a "kid with a nickel in his pocket and his nose against the candy counter." Here the problem is of immediate concern and simple enough to be understood. But good consumer education does not stick to the level of buying a candy bar. Schools are urged to follow this up with studies of taxation, insurance, installment credit, advertising, personal and community organization for recreation, and international trade.

Unfortunately, teachers themselves are often poorly prepared to teach economics. The commission suggests in-service training programs. In high schools, it says, economics may be taught as an elective subject, with the economics teacher serving as a consultant to the rest of the faculty.

Our youth can grow up inspired by the unprecedented vigor of our free, democratic economy, zealous to guard and improve it, competent to combine vision and good sense in building upward—or, they can grow up querulous, narrow-gauge, fearful, susceptible to every silly demagogic wind of economic fallacy and every twisted sentiment of ideology.

The answer is obvious. We must train for economic literacy.

Let Them Lie

By Truman Twill

Sunrise now comes before 6 o'clock for early birds, and our house has its problem back.

Early-birding at the Twillery is at 6:10, the latest rising time allowable if the inmates are to be about their business on schedule. During the dismal months of the year, this means life stirs and twitches each morning in darkness.

This is important—the darkness. It means the first living beings to be up and about are the filers of the joint return, and they wouldn't be in this plight were it not for the alarm clock.

Without the alarm clock's command to struggle out of the downy and into circulation, nothing would stir. In this climate, dawn is so indeterminate during the dismal season that nothing would stir some days until half time for lunch, if the alarm clock hadn't added automated humanity's sense of duty and loyalty to the mother company.

The dogs and the cats would stay in the sack.

But when dawn creeps up and finally moves beyond 6, the Twillery problems begins.

The problems is how to explain to three dogs, two of them old and a little potty, that it is not necessary to rise with the dawn; that their chances for a key to the washroom will not be jeopardized if they lie still until the lord and master inaugurates another day by letting them bruise his semi-bare feet as they rush out the door.

They wake up with the dawn as if they were chickens. They flap their feet and their tails. They crow and cackle.

With no sense of time but an overdeveloped sensitivity to nature, they demand to be let out. To them it is obvious that old lord and master is taking a holiday and they are on their own.

From where they sleep, they cannot hear the alarm clock anyway; they do not know if it has performed its morning duty and they do not care. It is morning, and what a dog does when it's morning is to go outside.

Thus, it comes about that each springtime when dawn comes a little earlier each morning the waking time at the Twillery comes a little earlier, too. There being no way to go back to sleep with three dogs barking to get out and an indeterminate number of cats clawing at the door to get in, rising time comes earlier, too.

The problem becomes acute each year, and there has been no solution found. Chidings and rantings have produced no results, other than to replace barking with that squeak a dog knows how to make when it has a complaint to make and has been ordered to shut its mouth.

What this country needs is a way to make sleeping dogs lie.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — A sandwich sale to provide uniforms for the new 21-piece drum and bugle corps organized by the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic was conducted in the downtown stores.

Organization of safety patrols at the 6th St. and St. Aloysius schools in East Liverpool and the Garfield School in Wellsville was completed.

Members of East Liverpool Pilgrim Commandery No. 55, Knights Templars, attended services at the Orchard Grove Methodist Episcopal Church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of the First Presbyterian Church spoke on "Apostolic Ambitions" in marking the first year of his ministry at the church.

A campaign for tuberculosis tests among the more than 300 members of the senior class of the local high school was launched with the showing of two movies.

Dr. C. M. Mayberry of East Liverpool, trustee of the Ohio American Osteopathic Society, was invited to be the main speaker at the annual convention of the society at St. Louis in June.

TEN YEARS AGO — Miss Nessie Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap of Fisher Ave., was initiated into Psi Kappa Omega at Mt. Union College.

The 75-voice Ohio Wesleyan University choir presented a concert at the First Methodist Church.

'Big Charlie'

By James Marlow

De Gaulle Pays Another Visit

WASHINGTON — Frenchmen call him big Charlie. He thinks big, too, but not always along the same lines as his allies. Since he is also stubborn, he can be a problem for them and they for him.

So, when French President Charles de Gaulle comes here Friday for a solid weekend of talks with President Eisenhower, neither is likely to have his mind changed about anything. But, since they are old friends, they should get along.

Because he is 6-foot-4, De Gaulle has been able to look down on people. But his air of pride, grandeur, silence and aloofness are to some extent deliberately created.

He has explained that such an air gives him the prestige and authority he feels are needed for his special role as the leader of a new and just-as-great-as-ever France.

He is the prime example of a man who can start out without a dime and wind up being president. When he escaped to England during the Nazi occupation of France in World War II, his country was flat on its back.

He had no army but by his vision and his faith in the future of France he made himself both the symbol of his country undaunted and a rallying point for French freedom.

In his pride in a France of the future—which often looked like arrogance—he annoyed President Roosevelt. There was even the suspicion that what he aspired to was a dictatorship.

But when he returned to a liberated France, the power he held only briefly he abandoned to the politicians whom he seems to despise. But it was long enough to show that he believed in a democratic government and that he was much to the left of any American president, before or since, in his social and economic thinking.

He came out of retirement to save France from a new chaos of his own making. It is as head of a France he revitalized that he comes here now to see Eisenhower before they meet May 16 at the summit in Paris with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

What does he want at the summit? What do he and Eisenhower have to talk about? It is not clear.

Last week his foreign minister agreed with the American, British and West German foreign ministers that the West will take a firm stand against the division of Germany and Khrushchev's push to get them out of West Berlin.

De Gaulle appears to want Britain and this country to get agreement with Khrushchev on East-West control of weapons, shipped to underdeveloped countries in Asia and Africa.

Also he seems to want the Soviet Union and the West to coordinate their ideas on economic aid to backward peoples. The United States has been cold to both proposals.

De Gaulle, who tries to take a long view of history, may be right in his ideas about cooperation with the Soviet Union on weapons and aid. In the end this country may be glad to make such a deal.

Two examples show the extreme determination of De Gaulle in refusing to let France lose its identity or to depend on the mercy or friendship of anyone:

1. His resistance against letting French military forces be integrated with their allies in NATO. He tells Frenchmen that the task of defending France belongs first to Frenchmen.

2. Although the United States and the Soviet Union were years ahead in nuclear development he pushed and is pushing French development.

It is easy to see how he could envision the time when the two big nuclear powers, the United States and the Soviet Union, might decide to divide the world between them.

It can hardly be done so long as France becomes a third nuclear force. This, in De Gaulle's mind, could make France the balancing power in the world.

A Conservative Note

By Raymond Moley

The poll of Republican county chairmen by Human Events, an interesting and influential Washington newsletter, has brought out a point that the party convention and its candidate for president should consider if a GOP victory is to be won this year.

The poll limited its list of choices for vice president to Goldwater, Halleck, Lodge, Hatfield, Keating, Mitchell, Scott, and Seaton. Write-ins were possible. Rockefeller was not included in the list, but he received 58 write-in choices among the 1,003 replies.

Goldwater lead with 257; Lodge was next with 251; Halleck had 149.

If these choices are grouped, we might regard the votes for Goldwater, Halleck, Keating, and the write-ins for Morton as preferences for a conservative ticket. The combined vote of these was three times that of the combined "liberals" — Rockefeller, Hatfield, Mitchell, and Scott. It is impossible to classify Seaton because there is little in the record to indicate a leaning one way or another.

WHILE THERE ARE some who regard Lodge as a "liberal" because he supported Eisenhower against Taft in 1952 and has been engaged in international affairs since 1953, there is nothing in the record to prove the point. No doubt, many of his votes were motivated by the belief that his experience in inernational affairs would make him handy for a President to have around.

It is fair, therefore, to conclude that almost three times as many of these party workers prefer a conservative candidate for vice president as those who voted for a "liberal."

To strengthen the conclusion that these Republicans who want to win this election prefer a conservative ticket with a specific declaration of conservative party principles, there is the very striking vote for Goldwater. For the Arizona senator has been the most articulate spokesman in the Senate for conservative principles and in a very short time has become an outstanding national figure.

Now let us consider these figures in the light of what so many commentators (mostly Democrats) and others are telling us. They are saying substantially that the Republican candidate and his party platform must appease the so-called "independents" to win and that these "independents," who, incidentally, have not been voting except in the Eisenhower elections, are "liberal."

The non-voters for the most part are not independent at all. They are either neglectful or indifferent. And when, as in the Eisenhower elections, a few million have come out, they have not hestitated to vote for a Republican who, despite some compromises, has stood for less spending, less bureaucracy, and for keeping government out of individual enterprise.

TO TRIM THE SAILS of the Republican candidate and his platform to please these so-called "independents" would be on the assumption that the regular party members are "in the bag" and would have to support the ticket. These regulars would do that for the sake of party and patronage. They would give their minds and their voices to any party candidate. But not their hearts.

Anyone who knows politics must realize that it is the extra enthusiasm, zeal, and activity that comes when party workers are happy about their candidate that brings out the margin of lazy or indifferent voters necessary to win an election.

To these workers must be added the tens of thousands of businessmen who are for the first time pledged to get out the conservative vote at the local level. There are also the contributors to the party funds. To chill these by a swing to the left will be equally disastrous.

This is something that Vice President Nixon must consider when he hears from those who tell him fairy tales about winning "independents" and Democrats by trying to outpromise the Democratic candidate, whoever he may be.

Getting An Eyeful

Tears are a very human trait. Of all creatures, only man weeps in moments of grief—or laughter.

Man long has deplored his tears and fought them back. Shakespeare called them "eye-offending brine." Tennyson exclaimed, "Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean!"

But modern scientists, unlike the poets, have only praise for them. In happy moments, tears wash the eyes and keep them bright. In wretched moments, tears apparently protect the nasal passages from infection.

Certain animals other than man cry out when in pain. Chicks peep pitifully, for example. Dogs whimper. But none sheds tears at the same time, and scientists long wondered why man alone does.

Recently the British anthropologist, Ashley Montagu, offered a theory. Like other animals, human infants need to signal their hunger or other discomfort, he said. But until they can talk they have no way of doing it except by wailing, the technique which animal babies quickly replace the characteristic vocal expression of the species.

Democratic — Albert E. Kittridge of East Liverpool; Joseph McGurren of Salem; John Ansman of Salem; Lloyd Bentley of Salineville RD; Merle Hardy of North Georgetown.

Republican — Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan of East Palestine is unopposed for nomination for a second term.

Four Democratic officeholders are unopposed for renomination: Probate Judge Louis Tobin, Court Clerk Carl L. Stacey, Treasurer Vincent C. Judge and Dr. William A. Kolozsi, coroner.

Two other Republican incumbents are unopposed: Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw and County Engineer Charles O. Snyder.

The Democrats have two other unopposed candidates — John Ursu for county engineer and Herbert E. Arfman for prosecuting attorney. On the Republican ticket, Mrs. H. Joan Dixon is unopposed for nomination for treasurer.

The Republicans have no candidates for probate judge and coroner.

The Review will offer its primary recommendations several days before the voting. Meantime, in the interest of a more enlightened electorate, why not clip the candidates' names above and give them your attention?

Merely to go to the polls and mark a ballot isn't enough. The candidates should be chosen after an intelligent appraisal and not at random. Only by an analysis of each man or woman's qualifications can it be hoped to select those who appear best fitted for the various offices.

Praiseworthy Primping

East Liverpool's principal streets presented a pleasant appearance Easter Day, with the winter's accumulation of dirt and cinders gone.

And the city administration can be thanked for that.

Working night and day, city crews swept the main streets of the cinders that had been scattered only a few weeks ago when snow and ice made driving hazardous.

Then the grime and grit of winter was washed away with the hosing of the streets, giving the downtown a fresh appearance and a clean look for the first time since winter departed.

The work may have been lost sight of in the hustle and bustle of preparations for Easter, but residents enroute to early church services Sunday could not help but observe the clean appearance of the streets in the morning's sunlight.

And This Is Only Mid-April

The major league baseball seasons are under way and the boys are playing for keeps. Everything up to now has been for fun.

If the old pros with high lifetime batting averages couldn't hit their weight, it didn't matter; spring training wasn't the real thing.

If the adroit glove men looked like arthritic kangaroos in the field, all that mattered was what they could do when the season began, not what they did while the season was still safely in the future.

If the veterans acted like rookies and some of the rookies acted as if they owned the training camps, that was all right, too. Everybody knew the rookies were doing their best to make an impression and the veterans no longer felt they had to prove their right to be in uniform.

THIS SORT of thing comes to mind when dopesters in national politics, needing something to justify their existence, suck their thumbs and come up with critiques of rookies and the veterans.

If the dopesters were to be taken at their word, the veterans would be on the bench when the time came to play for keeps and the rookies would have taken all their places. It rarely works that way. Once in a lifetime a Wendell Willkie swoops from nowhere and creates a sensation. But mostly patient preparation and the old pro touch pay off in politics.

Of all the pity being wasted this year on objects that do not need pity, the worst waste is the pity bestowed on Vice President Nixon, who has had no chance to show what he can do in the primaries; Adlai Stevenson, who has been playing "winter ball" in South America, and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, who has been so busy taking care of congressional business he has no time to impress the tourists, amateur photographers and training camp buffs.

All the action has centered on two senators, Kennedy of Massachusetts and Humphrey of Minnesota, with a little spillover on Symington of Missouri. The comparison has made the old pros look drab and dull. But the fact is it's only mid-April. The campaign hasn't begun yet.

NOT ALL the mighty swingers and Fancy Dans who gobble up every ball hit close to them will be around when the season opens. Fewer still will be around when the season closes.

It's a dismal thought—a grim thought. But it's as true in politics as it is in baseball, which each spring is going to be turned upside down by the rookies and each midsummer is leaning on the rookies that survived long enough to become veterans.

Killing The Goose

By Frank Tripp

This is a report of a conversation with a man who has a taxable income of $150,000 a year, after all the deducts. One of the "rich" who Uncle Sam "soaks", $90,000 worth.

He is not one of the get-rich-lately. He has had wealth a long time; before there was an income tax, and through the early years of reasonable income taxes. He is known to his community as a man who backed many a small business and financed lads who had no collateral to give to professional lenders.

I was talking with him about it and observed that there doesn't seem to be the enterprise there once was among young men. "Oh yes there is," he said. "Many of them come to me but I can't help them any more." I asked him why.

BEFORE THE days of excessive income tax and inflation it cost him $50,000 to live and do the kindly things which the tax authorities do not recognize as deductible gifts and ventures. His income was around $80,000.

He still then had $30,000 of income which he loaned to enterprising youngsters or to small businesses, some of which succeeded, some failed. His personal position was secure, his vision broad and he chose to take chances on ambitious young men in small new enterprises.

Today his income is $150,000, nearly doubled, but government takes $90,000 of it in taxes. Thus he has left $60,000 — not eighty. Quite enough of course, but his $50,000 annual expenses have gone up, too. So he's just about breaking even. Lucky guy so far as he's concerned — but the $30,000 a year that he used to put to work for other folks now goes to Uncle Sam.

Together we figured out what it would cost him now to stake two young mutual acquintances as he did some 30 years ago. He put up $20,000 for them, not knowing that he'd get it back. The little business prospered, grew big; one of several that he sponsored.

Those days he just took $20,000 of the money which he now pays to the government and started a pair of worthy lads in business. Just like that; that simple.

LET'S SEE how he could get $20,000 for such a worthwhile deed today. Assuming that he could in some manner increase his income, how much would he have to increase it to have $20,000 to risk?

Of every additional dollar that he might get, the government would take 90 cents; he'd get 10. So to net $20,000 for a new business venture he must increase his income, in round figures, by $200,000; more than double what it is.

Impossible of course. Why not sell some securities, I asked him. His answer was simple. Almost all that he owns is stock which he, his father or those whom he has helped have developed to its present value by risked capital, good management and hard work.

The cost of such stock on his books, compared with its value today, would establish a big profit, if sold, and create a tax which no sane man would assume in order to obtain venture capital in the present uncertain economy.

So I got to thinking — and with no sympathy for this man, for he needs none — that this "soak the rich" business is the bunk.

"Gouging the poor" fits it better.

Ill Omen?

We Don't Know Our Economics

By Benjamin Fine

America is raising a generation of economic illiterates.

Most school and college students would flunk even a rudimentary test dealing with the economy of their city, state or nation. Indeed, they would be baffled by the financial operation of their own home.

This assessment was made last week by a group of prominent educators who spent the past two years studying the place of economics in the nation's elementary, high school and college classrooms. The study was made by the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, a department of the National Education Assn.

The 78-page report, "Educating for Economic Competence," points to a major weakness of American education—the almost complete neglect, from first grade on, of the subject of economics. As a result, children go through school, and later graduate from college or university, with only a hazy notion of the place that economics plays in our society.

FOR MOST AMERICANS, for example, the income tax deadline was an unhappy day. They pored over the list of figures on the income tax blanks, but few could understand what they meant. Moreover, many housewives simply cannot keep their home budgets from disintegrating.

"I just don't understand figures," they say, almost proudly.

But this is no joking matter, the Commission for Economic Competence insists. It urges that children begin to learn about economics in the first grade. And it further proposes that economics be made an integral part of the curriculum, just as reading, writing and arithmetic are required today.

If the economic education of the children now in school is not better than that of their parents, the report declares, the possible consequences "are fearful to contemplate." Our very society, our democracy, our tradition of private enterprise, depends upon a knowledge of economics.

Of course, many teachers may say the curriculum is overcrowded now. The school day is not long enough to add all the courses that are needed. But the commission has a solution: Don't add a new subject; instead, integrate economic education into what is already being taught.

In geography the student can discover that, due to differences in climate, resources and skills, there is a world-wide division of labor that results in international trade. Furthermore, geography could teach that countries develop at different rates, that people develop different institutions and economic systems through which they produce and distribute goods and services.

IN HISTORY, students can learn how economic progress and stability recur as vital political issues. It may sound far-fetched, but fifth graders can learn something about capital formation from the frugality of the Puritans. The controversies of Jefferson and Hamilton may point up the conflict between emphasis on economic growth and political freedom.

The ultimate aim, the report stresses, is to build into our youth those skills and interests which will enable them, as adults, to analyze and solve the economic problems which will confront them.

A basic objective, of course, is to produce a high school graduate able to understand the structure and operation of the American economy. The average graduate should be able to apply the tools of economic analysis to the issues of the day.

It doesn't matter whether the issues are such personal ones as the choice of a career or the decision to spend or save, or such matters of national concern as depression, inflation, economic growth, agriculture, labor-management policies or international trade.

Today the daily press and current periodicals devote more space than ever before to economics. Most Americans, for example, now know that GNP stands for Gross National Product. The annual economic report of the President is front page news. You also see prominently in your newspaper the latest figures on the cost of living, statistics on unemployment, and changes in Federal Reserve requirements.

But how many persons actually understand all this? Few indeed. The educators urge that economic education receive a far higher priority in our schools than it does at present.

SOMEHOW, the field of economics must be broken down into simpler terms for the average pupils. In the first grade, for example, a unit on "what our daddies do" can bring in such questions as money, household budgets, insurance, taxes and other aspects of everyday home life—in very basic terms, of course.

The teachers are told they can even start with the problems of a "kid with a nickel in his pocket and his nose against the candy counter." Here the problem is of immediate concern and simple enough to be understood. But good consumer education does not stick to the level of buying a candy bar. Schools are urged to follow this up with studies of taxation, insurance, installment credit, advertising, personal and community organization for recreation, and international trade.

Unfortunately, teachers themselves are often poorly prepared to teach economics. The commission suggests in-service training programs. In high schools, it says, economics may be taught as an elective subject, with the economics teacher serving as a consultant to the rest of the faculty.

Our youth can grow up inspired by the unprecedented vigor of our free, democratic economy, zealous to guard and improve it, competent to combine vision and good sense in building upward—or, they can grow up querulous, narrow-gauge, fearful, susceptible to every silly demagogic wind of economic fallacy and every twisted sentiment of ideology.

The answer is obvious. We must train for economic literacy.

Let Them Lie

By Truman Twill

Sunrise now comes before 6 o'clock for early birds, and our house has its problem back.

Early-birding at the Twillery is at 6:10, the latest rising time allowable if the inmates are to be about their business on schedule. During the dismal months of the year, this means life stirs and twitches each morning in darkness.

This is important—the darkness. It means the first living beings to be up and about are the filers of the joint return, and they wouldn't be in this plight were it not for the alarm clock.

Without the alarm clock's command to struggle out of the downy and into circulation, nothing would stir. In this climate, dawn is so indeterminate during the dismal season that nothing would stir some days until half time for lunch, if the alarm clock hadn't added automated humanity's sense of duty and loyalty to the mother company.

The dogs and the cats would stay in the sack.

But when dawn creeps up and finally moves beyond 6, the Twillery problems begins.

The problems is how to explain to three dogs, two of them old and a little potty, that it is not necessary to rise with the dawn; that their chances for a key to the washroom will not be jeopardized if they lie still until the lord and master inaugurates another day by letting them bruise his semi-bare feet as they rush out the door.

They wake up with the dawn as if they were chickens. They flap their feet and their tails. They crow and cackle.

With no sense of time but an overdeveloped sensitivity to nature, they demand to be let out. To them it is obvious that old lord and master is taking a holiday and they are on their own.

From where they sleep, they cannot hear the alarm clock anyway; they do not know if it has performed its morning duty and they do not care. It is morning, and what a dog does when it's morning is to go outside.

Thus, it comes about that each springtime when dawn comes a little earlier each morning the waking time at the Twillery comes a little earlier, too. There being no way to go back to sleep with three dogs barking to get out and an indeterminate number of cats clawing at the door to get in, rising time comes earlier, too.

The problem becomes acute each year, and there has been no solution found. Chidings and rantings have produced no results, other than to replace barking with that squeak a dog knows how to make when it has a complaint to make and has been ordered to shut its mouth.

What this country needs is a way to make sleeping dogs lie.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — A sandwich sale to provide uniforms for the new 21-piece drum and bugle corps organized by the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic was conducted in the downtown stores.

Organization of safety patrols at the 6th St. and St. Aloysius schools in East Liverpool and the Garfield School in Wellsville was completed.

Members of East Liverpool Pilgrim Commandery No. 55, Knights Templars, attended services at the Orchard Grove Methodist Episcopal Church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of the First Presbyterian Church spoke on "Apostolic Ambitions" in marking the first year of his ministry at the church.

A campaign for tuberculosis tests among the more than 300 members of the senior class of the local high school was launched with the showing of two movies.

Dr. C. M. Mayberry of East Liverpool, trustee of the Ohio American Osteopathic Society, was invited to be the main speaker at the annual convention of the society at St. Louis in June.

TEN YEARS AGO — Miss Nessie Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap of Fisher Ave., was initiated into Pai Kappa Omega at Mt. Union College.

The 75-voice Ohio Wesleyan University choir presented a concert at the First Methodist Church.

'Big Charlie'

By James Marlow

De Gaulle Pays Another Visit

WASHINGTON — Frenchmen call him big Charlie. He thinks big, too, but not always along the same lines as his allies. Since he is also stubborn, he can be a problem for them and they for him.

So, when French President Charles de Gaulle comes here Friday for a solid weekend of talks with President Eisenhower, neither is likely to have his mind changed about anything. But, since they are old friends, they should get along.

Because he is 6-foot-4, De Gaulle has been able to look down on people. But his air of pride, grandeur, silence and aloofness are to some extent deliberately created.

He has explained that such an air gives him the prestige and authority he feels are needed for his special role as the leader of a new and just-as-great-as-ever France.

He is the prime example of a man who can start out without a dime and wind up being president. When he escaped to England during the Nazi occupation of France in World War II, his country was flat on its back.

He had no army but by his vision and his faith in the future of France he made himself both the symbol of his country undaunted and a rallying point for French freedom.

In his pride in a France of the future—which often looked like arrogance—he annoyed President Roosevelt. There was even the suspicion that what he aspired to was a dictatorship.

But when he returned to a liberated France, the power he held only briefly he abandoned to the politicians whom he seems to despise. But it was long enough to show that he believed in a democratic government and that he was much to the left of any American president, before or since, in his social and economic thinking.

He came out of retirement to save France from a new chaos of his own making. It is as head of a France he revitalized that he comes here now to see Eisenhower before they meet May 16 at the summit in Paris with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

What does he want at the summit? What do he and Eisenhower have to talk about? It is not clear.

Last week his foreign minister agreed with the American, British and West German foreign ministers that the West will take a firm stand against the division of Germany and Khrushchev's push to get them out of West Berlin.

De Gaulle appears to want Britain and this country to get agreement with Khrushchev on East-West control of weapons, shipped to underdeveloped countries in Asia and Africa.

Also he seems to want the Soviet Union and the West to coordinate their ideas on economic aid to backward peoples. The United States has been cold to both proposals.

De Gaulle, who tries to take a long view of history, may be right in his ideas about cooperation with the Soviet Union on weapons and aid. In the end this country may be glad to make such a deal.

Two examples show the extreme determination of De Gaulle in refusing to let France lose its identity or to depend on the mercy or friendship of anyone:

1. His resistance against letting French military forces be integrated with their allies in NATO. He tells Frenchmen that the task of defending France belongs first to Frenchmen.

2. Although the United States and the Soviet Union were years ahead in nuclear development he pushed and is pushing French development.

It is easy to see how he could envision the time when the two big nuclear powers, the United States and the Soviet Union, might decide to divide the world between them.

It can hardly be done so long as France becomes a third nuclear force. This, in De Gaulle's mind, could make France the balancing power in the world.

A Conservative Note

By Raymond Moley

The poll of Republican county chairmen by Human Events, an interesting and influential Washington newsletter, has brought out a point that the party convention and its candidate for president should consider if a GOP victory is to be won this year.

The poll limited its list of choices for vice president to Goldwater, Halleck, Lodge, Hatfield, Keating, Mitchell, Scott, and Seaton. Write-ins were possible. Rockefeller was not included in the list, but he received 58 write-in choices among the 1,003 replies.

Goldwater lead with 257; Lodge was next with 251; Halleck had 149.

If these choices are grouped, we might regard the votes for Goldwater, Halleck, Keating, and the write-ins for Morton as preferences for a conservative ticket. The combined vote of these was three times that of the combined "liberals" — Rockefeller, Hatfield, Mitchell, and Scott. It is impossible to classify Seaton because there is little in the record to indicate a leaning one way or another.

WHILE THERE ARE some who regard Lodge as a "liberal" because he supported Eisenhower against Taft in 1952 and has been engaged in international affairs since 1953, there is nothing in the record to prove the point. No doubt, many of his votes were motivated by the belief that his experience in inernational affairs would make him handy for a President to have around.

It is fair, therefore, to conclude that almost three times as many of these party workers prefer a conservative candidate for vice president as those who voted for a "liberal."

To strengthen the conclusion that these Republicans who want to win this election prefer a conservative ticket with a specific declaration of conservative party principles, there is the very striking vote for Goldwater. For the Arizona senator has been the most articulate spokesman in the Senate for conservative principles and in a very short time has become an outstanding national figure.

Now let us consider these figures in the light of what so many commentators (mostly Democrats) and others are telling us. They are saying substantially that the Republican candidate and his party platform must appease the so-called "independents" to win and that these "independents," who, incidentally, have not been voting except in the Eisenhower elections, are "liberal."

The non-voters for the most part are not independent at all. They are either neglectful or indifferent. And when, as in the Eisenhower elections, a few million have come out, they have not hesitated to vote for a Republican who, despite some compromises, has stood for less spending, less bureaucracy, and for keeping government out of individual enterprise.

TO TRIM THE SAILS of the Republican candidate and his platform to please these so-called "independents" would be on the assumption that the regular party members are "in the bag" and would have to support the ticket. These regulars would do that for the sake of party and patronage. They would give their minds and their voices to any party candidate. But not their hearts.

Anyone who knows politics must realize that it is the extra enthusiasm, zeal, and activity that comes when party workers are happy about their candidate that brings out the margin of lazy or indifferent voters necessary to win an election.

To these workers must be added the tens of thousands of businessmen who are for the first time pledged to get out the conservative vote at the local level. There are also the contributors to the party funds. To chill these by a swing to the left will be equally disastrous.

This is something that Vice President Nixon must consider when he hears from those who tell him fairy tales about winning "independents" and Democrats by trying to outpromise the Democratic candidate, whoever he may be.

Getting An Eyeful

Tears are a very human trait. Of all creatures, only man weeps in moments of grief—or laughter.

Man long has deplored his tears and fought them back. Shakespeare called them "eye-offending brine." Tennyson exclaimed, "Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean!"

But modern scientists, unlike the poets, have only praise for them. In happy moments, tears wash the eyes and keep them bright. In wretched moments, tears apparently protect the nasal passages from infection.

Certain animals other than man cry out when in pain. Chicks peep pitifully, for example. Dogs whimper. But none sheds tears at the same time, and scientists long wondered why man alone does.

Recently the British anthropologist, Ashley Montagu, offered a theory. Like other animals, human infants need to signal their hunger or other discomfort, he said. But until they can talk they have no way of doing it except by wailing, the technique which animal babies quickly replace the characteristic vocal expression of the species.

Pope Places Emphasis Upon Racial Tolerance

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII expressed sorrow in his Easter message Sunday for those suffering because of race or denial of their civil rights.

Addressing 150,000 persons standing in the rain in the great square before St. Peter's basilica, the 78-year-old pontiff called men to the peace of the risen Christ in a world plagued by racial intolerance.

In an obvious reference to the Negro's race problem, he said: "And our sorrowing gaze turns also to the other children of God everywhere, suffering because of race or economic conditions, at once complex and giving reason for anxiety, or through the limitation on the exercise of their natural and civil rights."

The ruler of the Roman Catholic Church put special emphasis on racial tolerance during Holy Week.

On Holy Thursday he performed the traditional ceremony of washing the feet of 13 persons, emulating Christ at the Last Supper. For the first time those chosen included Negroes, a Japanese, West Indians and a Polynesian.

Before giving his Easter message, the pontiff sent special greetings to Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, first Negro to be elevated to princedom in the church. The prelate has been ill in a Rome hospital since he received his red hat last month.

The pope also dealt with communism in his message.

"On one side stands Christ, together with his representatives and his followers in the church, raised up in holiness and brotherly love," he declared. "And with the church thus blessed there abide sound doctrine, truth, justice and peace."

On the other side, he said, "rallying support, is the anti-Christian spriit which is error, a false idea of personal and social life, excessive power and even physical violence, evil and ruinous disaster."

West Virginian Held For Attacking Woman

MOUNDSVILLE (AP) — A man was picked up Sunday at a Wheeling hospital and charged with the rape of an 18-year-old wife.

He was at the hospital to be treated for injuries received in a fight with her husband and brother.

Police said the wife told them the fight broke out after Jobie Walton, from the Big Grave Creek area east of here, raped her early yesterday morning near the Marshall-Ohio county line.

She and the three men had been together at the Moonlight Inn near Elm Grove.

Walton was taken from Wheeling to be jailed in Moundsville. He had not been badly hurt in the fight.

Train Runs Over Man Asleep Along Tracks

CAMERON, W. Va. (AP) — A man was killed Sunday when a Baltimore and Ohio freight ran over him at Denver Station east of here.

The Marshall County sheriff's office said that Jearld C. Oliver, 21, apparently was lying asleep in the path of the train.

Oliver had his home at Cameron, and worked out of there as a door-to-door salesman. He left a widow and son.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII expressed sorrow in his Easter message Sunday for those suffering because of race or denial of their civil rights.

Addressing 150,000 persons standing in the rain in the great square before St. Peter's basilica, the 78-year-old pontiff called men to the peace of the risen Christ in a world plagued by racial intolerance.

In an obvious reference to the Negro's race problem, he said: "And our sorrowing gaze turns also to the other children of God everywhere, suffering because of race or economic conditions, at once complex and giving reason for anxiety, or through the limitation on the exercise of their natural and civil rights."

The ruler of the Roman Catholic Church put special emphasis on racial tolerance during Holy Week.

On Holy Thursday he performed the traditional ceremony of washing the feet of 13 persons, emulating Christ at the Last Supper. For the first time those chosen included Negroes, a Japanese, West Indians and a Polynesian.

Before giving his Easter message, the pontiff sent special greetings to Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, first Negro to be elevated to princedom in the church. The prelate has been ill in a Rome hospital since he received his red hat last month.

The pope also dealt with communism in his message.

"On one side stands Christ, together with his representatives and his followers in the church, raised up in holiness and brotherly love," he declared. "And with the church thus blessed there abide sound doctrine, truth, justice and peace."

On the other side, he said, "rallying support, is the anti-Christian spriit which is error, a false idea of personal and social life, excessive power and even physical violence, evil and ruinous disaster."

West Virginian Held For Attacking Woman

MOUNDSVILLE (AP) — A man was picked up Sunday at a Wheeling hospital and charged with the rape of an 18-year-old wife.

He was at the hospital to be treated for injuries received in a fight with her husband and brother.

Police said the wife told them the fight broke out after Jobie Walton, from the Big Grave Creek area east of here, raped her early yesterday morning near the Marshall-Ohio county line.

She and the three men had been together at the Moonlight Inn near Elm Grove.

Walton was taken from Wheeling to be jailed in Moundsville. He had not been badly hurt in the fight.

Train Runs Over Man Asleep Along Tracks

CAMERON, W. Va. (AP) — A man was killed Sunday when a Baltimore and Ohio freight ran over him at Denver Station east of here.

The Marshall County sheriff's office said that Jearld C. Oliver, 21, apparently was lying asleep in the path of the train.

Oliver had his home at Cameron, and worked out of there as a door-to-door salesman. He left a widow and son.

'No Gang Up On Kennedy,' Senator Asks

By The Associated Press

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) had West Virginia campaigning all to himself today as attention focused on the religious and "gang up" issues.

Reports indicated that his rival, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), was making headway in the campaign for the state's presidential primary May 10.

Another Democratic presidential candidate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, received encouraging reports. Despite signs of a falling-out over the civil rights bill recently, many of the South's delegates apparently have decided to stick with him at the Democratic National Convention in July.

On the Republican side, associates of Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he had made a realistic appraisal of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's chances for the Republican convention.

But, barring some unforseen development, Nixon remains confident that Rockefeller cannot defeat him. The vice president has the backing of President Eisenhower.

In the West Virginia primary, Sen. Mike Manifield (D-Mont) urged other Democratic candidates not to gang up on Kennedy. Mansfield is considered a supporter of Johnson, who has not entered any primaries.

Another Johnson supporter, Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-WVa), recently suggested that followers of Johnson and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) vote for Humphrey in an attempt to stop Kennedy.

But, in a Washington interview today, Mansfield said "I do not favor the idea of all the other Democratic candidates ganging up on Kennedy. This kind of procedure is highly reprehensible and very unfair."

On the eve of Kennedy's three-day tour of West Virginia, Humphrey and his supporters accused the Kennedy forces of crying "bigotry" in an effort to play down the election and create sympathy for the Massachusetts senator.

Kennedy is a Roman Catholic campaigning in a state where only 4.9 per cent of the population is listed as Catholic.

"It appears obvious," Humphrey said in a statement Sunday, "that there is a carefully designed plan of high-priced and clever public relations and propaganda experts to downgrade the importance of this primary, to engender sympathy for my opponent, and to undermine credit for the victory we intend to achieve."

In a statement Saturday, the two co-chairman of the Humphrey-for-President committee in the state, Marshall West and William Jacobs, said Kennedy "seems to think everybody who doesn't want him to be president is a bigot."

But Matt Reese, executive director of the West Virginians for Kennedy, countered: "The most ridiculous statement I ever heard."

"Were it not for Sen. Kennedy's confidence that the people of West Virginia would choose on the basis of the candidate's public service record and not his religion." Reese said, "he could hardly have dared to enter national politics."

Humphrey will not return to West Virginia until next Monday, but he plans to keep campaigning there, almost without a break, until primary day.

Hundreds Jam Town After Report Of Vision

ARROYO, Puerto Rico (AP) — Hundreds of people flocked to this little coastal town today following reports that the image of the Virgin Mary had appeared repeatedly in the ruins of an old Spanish house.

The local priest, Father Domingo, and others labeled the reported vision "foolishness." But many, including Arroyo's Mayor Lorenzo Tirado, swore they saw the apparition in a flash of light.

Children Hurt In 4 Accidents

Four youngsters hurt at play were among eight adults and young people treated at City Hospital over the weekend.

Pauline Brewer, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brewer of Westfield, suffered abrasions of the left heel in a fall while riding a bicycle Sunday night.

David Potts, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Potts, 239 W. 3rd St., received a fractured collarbone in a fall at play yesterday.

In a fall while playing baseball yesterday, Perry Hull, 11, son of Mr. nd Mrs. Perry Hull, 1030 St. Clair Ave., received an injury of the right elbow.

Kimberly Ulbright, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ulbright of Logan St., was treated yesterday for a laceration of the forehead suffered in a fall at a drive-in theater.

Paul Hardwick, 37, of 467 1st Ave. was treated yesterday afternoon for an injured right ankle suffered in a fall at a garage.

Richard Chambers, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chambers of Georgetown R. D. 1, received an injured right foot in a 10-foot fall from a swing at home.

Bobby Gross, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gross of S. Shady Lane Dr., was treated Saturday for bruises of two fingers on which a car door closed.

Mrs. William Cunningham of Calcutta was treated Saturday for a foot injury received Friday night in a fall.

Newell's Firemen Leave Church To Fight Brush Blaze

Newell volunteer firemen, accustomed to quelling blazes of all sorts at most any hour of the day, are "burning" themselves this time.

Because a rural resident found Easter Sunday a convenient day to burn weeds and grass on his property, five volunteer firemen had to leave Presbyterian Church services Sunday morning at 11:30 when the fire burned out of control and an alarm was turned in to the department.

In addition, firemen responded to two other alarms over the Easter holiday weekend. All three fires occurred during hours prohibited by West Virginia law for kindling fires outdoors.

Chief Charles Lee has issued a stern warning against igniting outdoor fires between the hours of 5 a. m. and 5 p. m. each day. Violators of the fire code will be subject to fines and penalties, he warned.

Sunday's grass fire was on the 1st St. Hill, where another burned out of control on Saturday. The first weekend alarm was for a grass fire near the Globe Brick Co. plant south of Newell.

Newell firemen will meet tonight at 7:30 in the station. A meeting is scheduled Tuesday night at 7:30 in New Cumberland to map plans for a fire school the week of May 23.

GOP Club To Meet

EAST PALESTINE — Common Peas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard will speak at a dinner meeting of the Men's Republican Club Thursday night at 7:30 at Mansell's Restaurant. County candidates have been invited to the meeting, at which the jurist will speak on court procedures and his experiences, James Grappo, chairman, said.

Health, Welfare Agencies To Hold Dinner In Beaver

A dinner meeting of all Health and Welfare Agencies of Beaver County will be held April 25 at the Trinity Episcopal Parish House at Beaver.

Elmer Tropman, executive director of the Health and Welfare Association of Allegheny County, will be the speaker. The Rev. John Corbett, assistant pastor of the Midland Presentation Catholic Church, is a member of the committee planning the event.

Two representatives from each agency, including hospitals, have been invited to attend and state their needs from a Community Welfare Council.

A workshop for clergymen, under the direction of the education committee of the Beaver County Mental Health Society, will be held April 25 at the Brodhead Hotel in Beaver Falls.

Dr. Charles Stinnette, professor of Pastoral Psychology at Union Theological Seminary in New York and a lay analyst, will be the leader. Reservations will be taken until Friday.

Investment Class To Open Tuesday

A series of five classes being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce on investments in stocks and bonds will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at Westgate School.

Robert Lewis, chairman, said 27 have signed, but pointed out anyone interested still may register by contacting him at FU 5-3313. He also said registrations will be accepted at the door and anyone interested in attending only a part of the classes may do so by paying a per centage of the cost.

Carl Shaheen of Canton, a broker with the firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., will be the instructor.

Free books and instruction material will be provided. Each class will be about one to two hours and will conclude with a question and answer period.

Flying Turkey Struck By Car

Chuck holes and a flying turkey spelled bad luck for two motorists in highway mishaps reported over the weekend by the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Charles Spenik, 35, of Cuyahoga Falls was headed south with his wife and son about 5:30 a. m. Sunday on Route 14 a mile north of Salem when a turkey, flying across the road, struck the auto's windshield.

The turkey was killed and its carcass, along with broken glass, flew back into the car, spattering feathers, blood and glass particles throughout the interior and on the driver and passengers.

Spenik was treated at Salem Central Clinic for lacerations of the thumb and forehead. His wife, Rose, 32, and son, Charles, 10, were shaken but unhurt. The fowl was owned by Fred Frank of Salem R. D.

Allen Little, 26, of Leetonia R. D. escaped injury when his car struck some frost-formed depressions on Route 558 two miles southeast of Salem Sunday night and careened into a ditch, striking a large stone. The front of his auto was badly damaged, officers said.

Cumberland Firemen Quell 2 Brush Blazes

NEW CUMBERLAND — Volunteer firemen quelled two grass fires over the Easter holiday weekend. No damage was reported.

The first alarm at 1:40 a. m. Sunday was for a grass fire along Route 66. Mike Macek, assistant chief, responded to the alarm with 10 firemen.

The second alarm was received at 2:10 p. m. Sunday for a grass fire in a field along Hardins Run Rd. Paul Wigner, chief, and 14 volunteer firemen made the run.

Logical Choice

DURANGO, Colo. (AP) — A young couple stood in the post office debating whether to pay the doctor bill or the electric bill. The girl finally came up with this solution: "Pay the power bill. Doc's not liable to shut off your blood."

Charles Spenik, 35, of Cuyahoga Falls was headed south with his wife and son about 5:30 a. m. Sunday on Route 14 a mile north of Salem when a turkey, flying across the road, struck the auto's windshield.

The turkey was killed and its carcass, along with broken glass, flew back into the car, spattering feathers, blood and glass particles throughout the interior and on the driver and passengers.

Spenik was treated at Salem Central Clinic for lacerations of the thumb and forehead. His wife, Rose, 32, and son, Charles, 10, were shaken but unhurt. The fowl was owned by Fred Frank of Salem R. D.

Allen Little, 26, of Leetonia R. D. escaped injury when his car struck some frost-formed depressions on Route 558 two miles southeast of Salem Sunday night and careened into a ditch, striking a large stone. The front of his auto was badly damaged, officers said.

Cumberland Firemen Quell 2 Brush Blazes

NEW CUMBERLAND — Volunteer firemen quelled two grass fires over the Easter holiday weekend. No damage was reported.

The first alarm at 1:40 a. m. Sunday was for a grass fire along Route 66. Mike Macek, assistant chief, responded to the alarm with 10 firemen.

The second alarm was received at 2:10 p. m. Sunday for a grass fire in a field along Hardins Run Rd. Paul Wigner, chief, and 14 volunteer firemen made the run.

Driver Jailed, Loses Permit After Mishap

A steelworker drew a 60-day jail term along with heavy fines and a two-year license suspension today in Municipal Court after pleading guilty to charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and leaving the scene of an accident.

He was one of two motorists arrested over the Easter weekend for drunken driving, along with six other drivers cited on a variety of charges.

James D. McFarland, 46, of 1061 Claybourne Ave. was fined $500 and costs and given the jail term and license suspension by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after pleading guilty to the drunk driving count.

The judge also imposed an additional fine of $50 and costs on the hit-skip charge.

"It's disgraceful that your children have a poor Easter because of what you do," the judge told McFarland. Noting that the defendant was arrested on Dec. 11, 1958, on the same charge, Judge Chertoff added:

"You enjoy the holidays regardless of whether your wife and children do or not.

"You have no right to drive; you can't stop drinking so you shouldn't be driving."

McFarland was arrested on Good Friday night after his car struck a southbound station wagon operated by Mrs. Loretta J. Flasco, 1837 Idaho Ave. McFarland continued up the hill and was arrested 14 minutes later on Boring Ln., police said.

Donald Ray Tabour of New Springfield, arrested on Easter Sunday on Route 30 by the State Highway Patrol for driving while under the influence, drew a fine of $250 and costs and five days in jail and his license was revoked for six months.

Two Lakewood brothers forfeited $56 bonds on reckless driving charges.

Charles L. King and D. Norris King were arrested at 5:51 p. m. Sunday on Dresden Ave. by Lt. Thomas A. Walker and Patrolman R. E. Higgins after the two officers spotted the motorcyclists passing autos halted at traffic lights and at intersections.

The officers said they saw the two pass cars halted in the Diamond for a traffic signal, pulling alongside the lead auto. When the light changed, the two beat the waiting traffic and continued north on Dresden, repeating the operation at Dresden and Webber Way.

They then rode down the center line of the street, heedless of oncoming traffic, which was extremely heavy, the officers said.

Louis Bradich Jr., 23, of 1101 Lisbon St. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of failing to stop in the assured clear distance. He was cited after a traffic mishap late Friday afternoon on E. 6th St.

George R. Maskaluk of Salineville R. D. 1, cited April 12 on Route 7 by the State Highway Patrol for driving without a license, was fined $10 and costs. Judge Chertoff suspended the fine on payment of costs after Maskaluk produced a new license.

Because the defendant is ill, a hearing for Edna J. Cassidy, 750½ Sophia St., on a similar charge was continued until next Monday. She also was cited by the patrol on the same day.

The judge ordered a bench warrant issued for Clyde Moore, 1745 Main St., Wellsville, who failed to appear for the second time on a charge of driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

Moore was arrested April 10 by police but failed to appear the following day and police were told to notify him to appear. The affidavit was sent back to court this morning, but Moore failed to answer when his name was called.

Two motorists forfeited $31 bonds. Gerald L. Stewart, 1010 Commerce St., Wellsville, was cited by police for speeding Friday night on W. 8th St. and Daniel N. Corbin of Munhall, Pa., was cited by the State Highway Patrol at Routes 30 and 267 for passing at an intersection.

State Reports Unpaid Taxes

Unpaid taxes in Columbiana County total $265,880, part of a delinquency totaling over $30 million throughout Ohio, State Auditor James A. Rhodes said today at Columbus.

Rhodes' report showed delinquencies in the 88 Ohio counties at the end of 1959. Of the total in Columbiana County, $120,933 was delinquent for the current tax year and $135,063 was overdue from prior years, Rhodes reported.

In addition, $9,883 was listed in unpaid special assessments, Rhodes' office reported. Cities and villages report special assessments for street and sewer improvements to the county auditor's office for collection on the tax duplicate.

Delinquent taxes on real estate and public utility property in Ohio showed a slight upturn in 1959 after hitting a 25-year low in 1958, Rhodes reported.

The increase was $714,263 during the year, bringing the total delinquency to $30,531,857 compared with $29,817,594 at the end of 1958.

It was only the third year in the last 24 that the total tax delinquency reversed the downward trend from the all-time high of almost $196 million in 1936. In 1941 the tax delinquency jumped $29 million over the preceding year; in 1957, about $468,000, and last year, $714,263. In all other years the delinquency has dropped.

The tax delinquency today is less than one-third what it was in 1946 at the end of the second World War. At that time it amounted to more than $98 million. The 1959 total was less than half the total in 1949.

In addition to the total of delinquent real estate and public utility taxes, there also was $12,289,583 in unpaid taxes on tangible and intangible personal property at the close of tax collections in 1959. This was an increase of $971,637 over the previous year.

Amnesty Rule Breaker Gets Jail Sentence

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today welcomed Raymond (Sarge) Franklin back to Municipal Court, and then informed the frequent intoxication defendant he couldn't count on any more amnesty.

Franklin had been released from jail Friday morning for the Easter weekend under Judge Chertoff's ruling that no minor offender should spend Good Friday and Easter in jail.

Before releasing Franklin, the judge had secured a promise that he would return today to finish serving out a jail term in lieu of a fine of $50 and costs imposed April 6 for intoxication.

But the temptation was too much for Sarge and he was back in jail at 2:30 a. m. Saturday on a new intoxication charge.

"At least you came back!" Judge Chertoff told Franklin this morning.

After fining him another $50 and costs, the judge commented:

"In addition, you'll serve every bit of time on the previous charge and on this count."

At a rate of $3 a day, Franklin can look forward to about 37 more days in jail.

Three other intoxication defendants were fined $15 and costs after their arrests over the weekend.

Roadblock Nets $208 In Hancock Fund Drive

A roadblock of the Hancock County Society for Crippled Children and Adults held in Chester Saturday netted $208.30 in donations from motorists.

Mrs. Clayton H. Hobbs, chairman, said members of American Legion Post 121 aided in operating the roadblock from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. on Carolina Ave.

Motorists contributed $271 to the society at a roadblock held in Newell Friday with Mrs. J. Carl Durham in charge.

The fund campaign, including the sale of Easter Seals, has reached over $5,000. The 1960 goal for aiding crippled children and adults is $7,000.

Wellsville Begins Water Turnoffs

The Wellsville water department started shortly before noon today shutting off service at the six homes where the householders failed to comply with orders to pay delinquent water bills.

The department also has started preparing another list of notices to be mailed sometime this week to others who owe delinquent bills.

The shutoffs were to have been made Saturday but Mayor Willaim J. Shoub delayed action over the weekend so no one would be without water on Easter.

Twenty notices were mailed two weeks ago and all made payment except the six whose service was shutoff today.

The department is attempting to collect some $10,000 owed the city in back bills.

Stolen Newell Auto Wrecked At State Line

A Newell man's auto, stolen Friday night in East Liverpool, was found wrecked Saturday night at the slag dump at the Pennsylvania state line, police reported.

Officers said no arrests were made in connection with the theft of the 1956 Ford Victoria owned by Ralph E. Cunningham, 100 Harrison St.

Cunningham reported to police Saturday afternoon that his car was taken from Washington St. between 9 p. m. Friday and 1 a.m. Saturday.

It was located at the slag dump by Patrolman R. E. Higgins at 6:50 p. m. Saturday, police said.

Tag Day Clears $450 For Band, Orchestra

Students collected a total of $450 in a Tag Day held Saturday in the downtown area by the ELHS Band and Orchestra Parents.

The three students who collected the most donations and winning cash prizes of $5, $3, and $2, respectively, were David Marshall, Mary Lou Curren and George Prince.

The organization will hold election of officers at a meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Memorial Auditorium. Mrs. Wayne Russell, president, will be in charge.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl, 13½ years old. I don't consider myself a baby any longer but my folks do. They think I have to have a sitter when they go out at night.

For the past few months the sitter has been a 19-year-old college boy who lives in the neighborhood. He has made some fresh remarks and has told me some jokes that weren't very nice. To be honest, I feel uncomfortable when he's in the house.

There's no lock on my bedroom door so I go into my bathroom, bolt the door, put a pillow in the bathtub and try to sleep until my folks come home. The bathtub is kind of short and I don't get much rest.

I don't want to tell my folks how I feel because I may get the kid in trouble and he really hasn't done anything wrong. Please, Ann, tell me what to do.—KRICK IN MY NECK.

Dear Krick: It sounds as if the sitter needs someone to sit with him.

This is what to tell your folks: The boy is nice but you'd prefer a girl sitter—as sort of a substitute big sister.

If this doesn't get any action tell them, a few of the sitter's jokes and credit the scource. That'll do it.

Eardrums Battered

Dear Ann: I teach psychology and do well solving the problems of others—but I can't solve my own.

I'm what is known as "The Perfect Listener." Consequently I attract the most loguacious, long-winded, boring people in every group. I get stuck in corners at parties, collared in vestibules, nailed in doorways, trapped on the telephone and frankly I'm tired of it.

Everyone says, "Lois, you have such perfect understanding!" or, "Lois, I just love to talk to you—you're such a comfort!" Both ears are tattered and ragged. What shall I do?—HEAR YE.

Dear Hear: Paste up those tattered ears and stay with us, Doll. The world needs you!

I know, because of the number of people who pour out their hearts to me, that this world is filled with troubled souls who have no one to talk to. Almost few know how to listen.

"The Perfect Listener" is a dying breed. You are performing a greater service than you know. Don't leave your post, Soldier.

Brother's Keeper

Dear Ann: Several years ago my husband built a nice business from scratch. He felt sorry for his brother who had lost one job after another, so he took him into the business.

The brother has borrowed large sums of money from the business for "emergencies." He has never paid it back. My husband says he'd rather forget about it than start any trouble.

A few months ago the brother took his own son into the business without even consulting my husband. The son has an obnoxious personality and has already lost some key accounts because of his big mouth.

My husband is getting ulcers from all the aggravation. What shall we do? Please don't suggest we get out of the business. Remember my husband started it.—C.C.T.

Dear C.C.T.: Regardless of the face that is shown to the outside world, relatives who feed from a common trough usually have deeply hostile feelings. If the men get along then the wives don't. Of course there are exceptions but they are rare as hen's teeth.

My advice is to buy the brother out or insist that he buy you out. This is no way to live.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Oil Spreader To Be Bought

Liverpool Township trustees voted to purchase a used truck-mounted oil distributor at their meeting Friday night at City Hall.

The truck, with the 1,150 - gallon tank, will be purchased from Howard E. Adams of Salineville for $2,500. This was the lone bid on used equipment.

Bids also were received from four firms on new equipment. Each entered two bids, with price depending on the type of pump installation and spray bar.

The bids were Adams, $4,360 and $5,289; Gladhill Road Machinery Co. of Galion, $4,940 and $2,462; W. W. Williams Co. of Cleveland, $3,335 and $9,300 and the Belding Highway Equipment Co. of Canton, $3,475 and $5,216.

These bids were on a truck with a 1,000-gallon insulated tank. The trustees had inspected the equipment beforehand so the bids could be acted upon immediately.

In other business, trustees reappointed two police constables for two years. They are Clifford H. Owens of Shadyside Ave. and Richard N. Barnes of Dixonville.

A committee asked that an unnamed alley between 5th and 6th Sts., LaCroft, be opened. The trustees said if residents opened the alley, the trustees would maintain it.

The trustees voted to do some sewer and ditching work on streets in Radio Heights and to check on dedicating streets in a plot of ground being improved near Radio Heights.

The next meeting will be April 27, according to Simon Hall, clerk.

Two Youths Admit Spree Of Crime

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Two youths who have admitted a four-state crime spree face arraignment today on charges of robbing a Lorain gas station of $114.

Harold D. Wolford, 21, of Dearborn, Mich., and Earl Estep, 18, of Thacker, W. Va., were captured Saturday by State Highway Patrolmen in a field near Wellington, Ohio, after the pair wrecked a stolen car in a 100 m.p.h. chase by Oberlin police.

Authorities said the two admitted a crime spree in four states, but denied killing Carl Nickell, 43, a Belleville, Mich., gas station attendant who was shot Thursday night, then doused with gasoline and set afire. However, the youths have admitted a Thursday night motel robbery 18 miles from the torch slaying scene.

Michigan police were in Lorain County Sunday to pick up a gasoline sample, taken from the wrecked car, and bullets and shell casings from a .22 caliber pistol the pair possessed. Nickell was shot four times with a gun of the same caliber.

The tests were to be conducted in Michigan today.

A hold order was placed on the suspects for their eventual return to Michigan in connection with several other gas station and motel robberies there.

Egg Hunt At Wellsville Draws 300 Youngsters

Some 300 children attended the Easter egg hunt held yesterday afternoon by Wellsville American Legion Post 70 at Nicholson Stadium.

Prizes were awarded children finding special eggs. A total of 113 dozen eggs was used. They were donated by Wellsville merchants.

The auxiliary aided in the project. The event was open to youngsters through the fourth grade of school.

East Germany Offers Slightly Modified Plan

BERLIN (AP) — In a slight modification of the Communist demand to make West Berlin a demilitarized "free" city, East Germany has proposed gradual reduction of Allied forces in the city and a gradual lifting of the occupation.

The new Communist plan offers nothing in return for the concessions demanded from the West.

Rep. Cook Waited At Area Democrat Dinner On May 6

Rep. Robert Cook, Kent Democrat, and his wife have accepted an invitation to the Jefferson - Jackson Day Dinner May 6 at Beaver Local High School, at which Lyndon B. Johnson, Senate majority leader, and Rep. Wayne L. Hays, district congressman, will be the principal speakers.

Rep. Cook's acceptance was announced today by Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman. Rep. Cook is the member of Congress from the 11th Ohio District.

Democratic State Chairman William Coleman also has indicated he and his wife may attend. Judge Lynn Griffith and Judge John Donahue of the District Court of Appeals have accepted invitations.

Gosney previously announced confirmation of the appearance of U. S. Sen. Stephen Young, Lt. Gov. John Donahey, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson, Highway Director Everett Preston and Robert Terhune, director of agriculture.

Gosney has called a meeting of the Dinner committees for Tuesday night at Lisbon Village Hall to make final preparations for the dinner, at which a crowd of 1,500 is expected.

Egg Hunt Draws 800 At East Palestine Park

EAST PALESTINE — Over 800 attended the sixth annual Easter egg hunt sponsored by American Legion Post 31 at the City Park Saturday.

Larry Felger, Karen Wilhelm and Judy Peterson were winners in the hunt, which was the largest held by the post since 1954, James Grappo, chairman, said.

Over 500 attended a sunrise service held Sunday morning at the City Park, sponsored by youth groups of the city churches. The Rev. Dale Rough of the Evangelical United Brethren Church was speaker. A youth choir and brass octet presented musical selections.

Cancer Canvass Set

EAST PALESTINE — A house-to-house canvass for the Cancer Fund will be held Tuesday by some 30 members of the East Palestine Registered Nurses Association, Mrs. Gwen Galltin, city drive chairman, announced. Brittain Motors will be headquarters for the canvass. Boy Scouts will assist in the drive at New Waterford and Rainbow Girls will help at Negley, Mrs. Gallatin said.

Conference Attracts 6 Women In Hancock

Six Hancock County women are attending a spring training conference for Farm Women's Clubs which opened today in Jackson Mills.

The delegates from the County Farm Women's Council are Mrs. Floyd Grimes, Mrs. John Village, Mrs. Luke Daley and Mrs. Louis Cenino, all from the Oakland Club of Wiley Ridge, and Mrs. Kenneth Timberlake and Mrs. Kenneth Melvin of the Agathelian club of Weirton.

The conference will get under way tonight and will conclude Friday noon. Mrs. Village received a scholarship to a "three generations class" on family life.

Mrs. Grimes is representing the county council as Mrs. Harry Nelson of Georgetown, president, was unable to attend.

Farm Home Looted

LISBON — Floyd Deshler, 145 College St., East Liverpool, reported to the sheriff's office Saturday at 4:40 p. m. that someone broke into his unoccupied farm home on Hazel Rd., south of Highlandtown, and stole a rototiller, a cultivator for a small tractor, a hand pump fruit sprayer, a stoker and motor for a furnace, a large hand pump for a well, a push type cultivator and a large farm bell. Chief Deputy James Miller is investigating.

Mishap Damages Car

LISBON — A parked car owned by Charles Homan, 126 N. Market St., was damaged at 3:10 a. m. today on N. Market St. when struck by a backing tractor-trailer driven by Jack Riddle, 26, of R. D. 5 and owned by Williams and Co. of Lisbon. The left front fender and headlight were damaged, police said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle today delayed Frank Poindexter's scheduled electrocution for first-degree murder until April 22. Poindexter, 50, of Cincinnati, had been scheduled to die tonight.

The governor said he needs more time to study the case.

Lifeboat, Raft Did The Trick

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—"Before she went down, the whole crew stepped off the ship's ladder into one lifeboat and one raft. No one was hurt. No one got his feet wet."

This, according to one seaman, was the way the 23-man crew of the small freighter Ethel C abandoned the ship off the Virginia coast early Saturday, before she sank with her cargo of scrap iron.

The Ethel C went down in calm seas after a hole was punched in her bottom, possibly by shifting cargo. Pumps were unable to handle the water that poured through the break.

The crew, 21 of them Greek seamen, had plenty of food and water aboard the lifeboat and raft. They waited more than 12 hours before being spotted by a search plane. Rescue ships brought them here.

The 329-foot freighter, valued at about $150,000 by her agents, was hauling $130,000 worth of scrap iron from New York to nearby Newport News.

Ellwood City Couple Hospitalized In Crash

An Ellwood City couple is hospitalized today with injuries received in the lone Easter weekend accident investigated by Hancock sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said damages were extensvie when an auto driven by Dale Young, 50, of Ellwood City, and a tractor-trailer rig operated by Ralph Smith, 38, of Canton collided Sunday about 9:30 p. m. on State Route 30 in back of Chester.

Young suffered possible chest injuries and abrasions of the left leg and is in "fair" condition in City Hospital. His wife, Mrs. Louise Young, 41, a passenger, suffered a lacerated chin, and knee injury and a possible concussion. She is in "fairly good" condition.

Deputies said Smith was charged with reckless driving and will receive a hearing today. The mishap occurred near the Johnsonville Rd. intersection with Route 30.

Baby Boy Found Safe After Being Taken From Crib

SYDNEY MINES, N.S. (AP)—An 18-month-old boy, snatched from his crib just after midnight by a young man, was found safe and unharmed in a field behind the family home.

Police said they had picked up a man but gave no details immediately.

No explanation for the kidnaping was apparent. The child's father is a telephone company employe and the family has only modest means.

A store clerk, Jean McPhee, found the boy, Russell MacKenzie as she was walking to work.

6 Defendants Deny Charges

Six defendants indicted by the April Grand Jury entered pleas of not guilty this morning when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon. Two pleaded guilty and asked for immediate sentencing and three others pleaded guilty and sought probation.

Not guilty pleas were entered by: Stanley C. Lovett, 19, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, three counts of auto theft; Robert Garey, 25, of East Liverpool R. D. 1 and John J. Gillen, 26, of Cincinnati, theft of an auto from a Klondyke used car lot Feb. 9; Donald C. Uselton, 18, of Beleek St., burglary of the Wellsville Feed & Supply Co. store Feb. 7; Robert Lee Dyer, 34, of Mercer, Pa., non-support, and Oliver Metts of Salem, incest.

Sentenced immediately after they pleaded guilty were: Kenneth L. McVay, 26, of Lisbon R. D. 5, 1 to 5 years for burglary, and Edwin B. Groff, 18, of Lisbon, 1 to 5 years at the Ohio State Reformatory for burglary.

Gary Deland, 25, of Salem, accused of larceny, pleaded guilty and asked for probation, as did Frazier Fowler of New Waterford and Clayton Smith of North Lima, both accused of non-support.

Criminal trials will open May 2 before Judge Sharp.

Clues Hunted After Capsule Fails To Fall

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Air Force scientists studied radio messages from space today, hoping to learn why 300 pounds of instruments didn't come back when they called.

The instrument-laden capsule of the Discoverer XI satellite was supposed to drop out of orbit and descend near Hawaii. C119 Flying Boxcars were waiting to snag its parachute on trapezes hung beneath their fuselages. Instead, it stayed in orbit.

The capsule separated from the rocket when scientists signaled it to do so Saturday afternoon.

"We know it separated okay," Lt. Col. Lee Battle, director of the Discoverer project system said Sunday.

"We know the retro-rocket fired. But we don't know yet why it didn't come down."

The capsule sent out radio messages as it sped high over Hawaii, apparently following the 19-foot second-stage rocket which had helped carry it aloft from this big missile base on Friday.

In the early 19th Century, seven out of every 10 persons worked on the land in the United States. Today the average is one of every 10.

Pedestrian Injured By Hit-Skip Accident

A city man was treated at City Hospital early Sunday for injuries he told police were received when he was struck by a hit-skip motorist, and a young woman was injured when her husband's car was struck on Dresden Ave. late Saturday night.

Cecil Cook, 35, of 831 Avondale St. walked into police headquarters at 3 a. m. yesterday and related he was knocked down on lower Broadway by an unidentified auto.

Cook told officers he was crossing from the east to west side of Broadway at E. 3rd St. when the auto hit him and the driver failed to stop. He told officers he was unable to identify the car.

Cook was treated at the hospital for injuries to the right hand, right knee and back.

Mrs. Dorothy Geisse, 19, of 338½ W. Drury Ln. was treated for an abrasion of the forehead when a car operated by Alfred J. Pierson, 32, of LaCroft struck the side of the car driven by her husband, Joseph G. Geisse, 21, at 10:30 Saturday night on Dresden Ave.

Pierson said he had stopped at Rural Ln. to enter Dresden Ave., failed to see any traffic approaching and pulled out and collided with the passing Geisse auto.

Pierson was fined $25 and costs today in Municipal Court for failing to yield the right-of-way.

A Cream City youth was fined a total of $50 and costs today in Municipal Court after pleading guilty to reckless driving and driving without a license after a mishap early today on Lincoln Ave.

James Talbert, 19, of near Irondale was arrested at 12:18 a. m. after police said he backed his car north on Lincoln Ave. in the wrong lane of traffic at a speed between 15 and 20 miles an hour, striking a parked car owned by Cecil Wayne Morgan, 800 Lincoln Ave.

Not guilty pleas were entered by: Stanley C. Lovett, 19, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, three counts of auto theft; Robert Garey, 25, of East Liverpool R. D. 1 and John J. Gillen, 26, of Cincinnati, theft of an auto from a Klondyke used car lot Feb. 9; Donald C. Uselton, 18, of Beleek St., burglary of the Wellsville Feed & Supply Co. store Feb. 7; Robert Lee Dyer, 34, of Mercer, Pa., non-support, and Oliver Metts of Salem, incest.

Sentenced immediately after they pleaded guilty were: Kenneth L. McVay, 26, of Lisbon R. D. 5, 1 to 5 years for burglary, and Edwin B. Groff, 18, of Lisbon, 1 to 5 years at the Ohio State Reformatory for burglary.

Gary Deland, 25, of Salem, accused of larceny, pleaded guilty and asked for probation, as did Frazier Fowler of New Waterford and Clayton Smith of North Lima, both accused of non-support.

Criminal trials will open May 2 before Judge Sharp.

Clues Hunted After Capsule Fails To Fall

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Air Force scientists studied radio messages from space today, hoping to learn why 300 pounds of instruments didn't come back when they called.

The instrument-laden capsule of the Discoverer XI satellite was supposed to drop out of orbit and descend near Hawaii. C119 Flying Boxcars were waiting to snag its parachute on trapezes hung beneath their fuselages. Instead, it stayed in orbit.

The capsule separated from the rocket when scientists signaled it to do so Saturday afternoon.

"We know it separated okay," Lt. Col. Lee Battle, director of the Discoverer project system said Sunday.

"We know the retro-rocket fired. But we don't know yet why it didn't come down."

The capsule sent out radio messages as it sped high over Hawaii, apparently following the 19-foot second-stage rocket which had helped carry it aloft from this big missile base on Friday.

In the early 19th Century, seven out of every 10 persons worked on the land in the United States. Today the average is one of every 10.

Pedestrian Injured By Hit-Skip Accident

A city man was treated at City Hospital early Sunday for injuries he told police were received when he was struck by a hit-skip motorist, and a young woman was injured when her husband's car was struck on Dresden Ave. late Saturday night.

Cecil Cook, 35, of 831 Avondale St. walked into police headquarters at 3 a. m. yesterday and related he was knocked down on lower Broadway by an unidentified auto.

Cook told officers he was crossing from the east to west side of Broadway at E. 3rd St. when the auto hit him and the driver failed to stop. He told officers he was unable to identify the car.

Cook was treated at the hospital for injuries to the right hand, right knee and back.

Mrs. Dorothy Geisse, 19, of 338½ W. Drury Ln. was treated for an abrasion of the forehead when a car operated by Alfred J. Pierson, 32, of LaCroft struck the side of the car driven by her husband, Joseph G. Geisse, 21, at 10:30 Saturday night on Dresden Ave.

Pierson said he had stopped at Rural Ln. to enter Dresden Ave., failed to see any traffic approaching and pulled out and collided with the passing Geisse auto.

Pierson was fined $25 and costs today in Municipal Court for failing to yield the right-of-way.

A Cream City youth was fined a total of $50 and costs today in Municipal Court after pleading guilty to reckless driving and driving without a license after a mishap early today on Lincoln Ave.

James Talbert, 19, of near Irondale was arrested at 12:18 a. m. after police said he backed his car north on Lincoln Ave. in the wrong lane of traffic at a speed between 15 and 20 miles an hour, striking a parked car owned by Cecil Wayne Morgan, 800 Lincoln Ave.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Laugh With, Not At, Tot's Remarks

Any child, two to four, may ask a question or utter a remark which strikes an adult as funny. What seems funny may be in the meaning of his statement or in its language. "Who put the water in the brook?" "God forgot to take the moon in last night." "She upset the milk." To the older person, the remarks seem funny because they are not what he is accustomed to hear. They shock him with surprise. But when the little child says what strikes us as funny, he had not meant to be funny. Never was he more serious. And when we laugh at his utterance how must he feel? He must feel still more puzzled when several adults, including a guest, all laugh together.

By Garry Meyer.

ABOUT THE most barbarous thing I can think of is to cause the little child to repeat some innocent statement he had made so that a crowd of guests might join with the parents to laugh uproariously at him.

Often you have heard and read: "Don't laugh at the child, laugh with him." But when have you ever heard a little child make a remark for the first time on purpose to be funny, hoping you would laugh with him?

If, in an extreme instance, a little child discovers his natural utterance has caused adults to laugh, he may go on repeating it over and over until he grows repulsive.

But nearly always when the child, two to four, is laughed at after a question or remark of his, he is greatly embarrassed and puzzled.

He supposes he must have done something wrong, made a great mistake. He gets a vague feeling that he is being treated as though he were much younger than he is —a feeling of inferiority.

CHECK ON yourself. Suppose on a number of social occasions you notice that some serious, innocent remark of yours brings smiles and laughter. How would you feel?

Henceforth, you would often censor what you wanted to say before you said a word. Or you might say nothing.

Perhaps all these fears about conversation which youths and adults tell about began in early years when their own parents laughed at them.

Consider all the suffering in the classroom by school children, six to 18, who are in constant dread that they might be laughed at when they falter, blunder or say something or that the teacher might make a statement arousing laughter at their expense.

About the only safe and humane way is for us, as parents and teachers, to laugh only at our own foibles and frailties, hoping others will laugh with us.

My bulletins, "The Lonely, Timid Child" and "The Child Who Is Shy," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Next 2 Months To Be Lean In Steel Orders

CLEVELAND (AP) — The next two months will be relatively lean for the steel industry from a new order standpoint, Steel Magazine reported today.

But the metalworking weekly predicted a turning point will come in July when automobile manufacturers start their buildups for the 1961 models. The automakers probably have enough steel on hand or on order to round out production of 1960 models, it added.

"The operating rate could fall to 75 per cent of capacity or slightly lower before the summer months," the magazine said, "but steel industry leaders still are confident they'll turn out better than 120 million tons of steel ingots this year to top the 1955 record. This will take an average ingot rate of 80 per cent."

Steel mill operations fell 4.4 points to 79.9 per cent of rated capacity last week due to the Easter holidays, a wildcat strike (against the Great Lakes Steel Corp at Detroit) and planned cutbacks in production. The week's output totaled about 2,277,000 ingot tons.

District operating rates included: Cleveland 92 per cent, down one point; Pittsburgh 82 per cent, up one point; Youngstown 65 per cent, down nine points, and Cincinnati 99 per cent, down three points.

Steel's price composite on prime heavy melting steelmaking scrap held at $33.66 a gross ton for the third straight week, but the market was slow.

Kookie Resumes Work After Salary Squabble

House Is Made To Order

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Features of good living suggested by 51 women are being incorporated in a house under construction in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Why exactly 51 women? Because they are the representatives of 50 states and the District of Columbia who are the finalists in a national homemakers' contest that will be judged in mid - June. And since the winner will receive the house as the top prize, it was decided that it should be built according to the preferences expressed by the contestants.

We've just looked over a floor plan of the house, plus a description of some of the materials that are going into it. The ladies haven't forgotten anything! Not even a swimming pool.

They haven't settled for just another backyard swimming pool, either. This one is a luxury affair, complete with filter accessories. If you wanted one like it, it would run more than $6,000.

About the house itself: it has a concrete block contemporary exterior, four bedrooms, a family room, a recreation area, a utility room and two baths. Sliding glass doors in the family room open to a poured concrete patio. The master bedroom not only has a private bath but a separate dressing room.

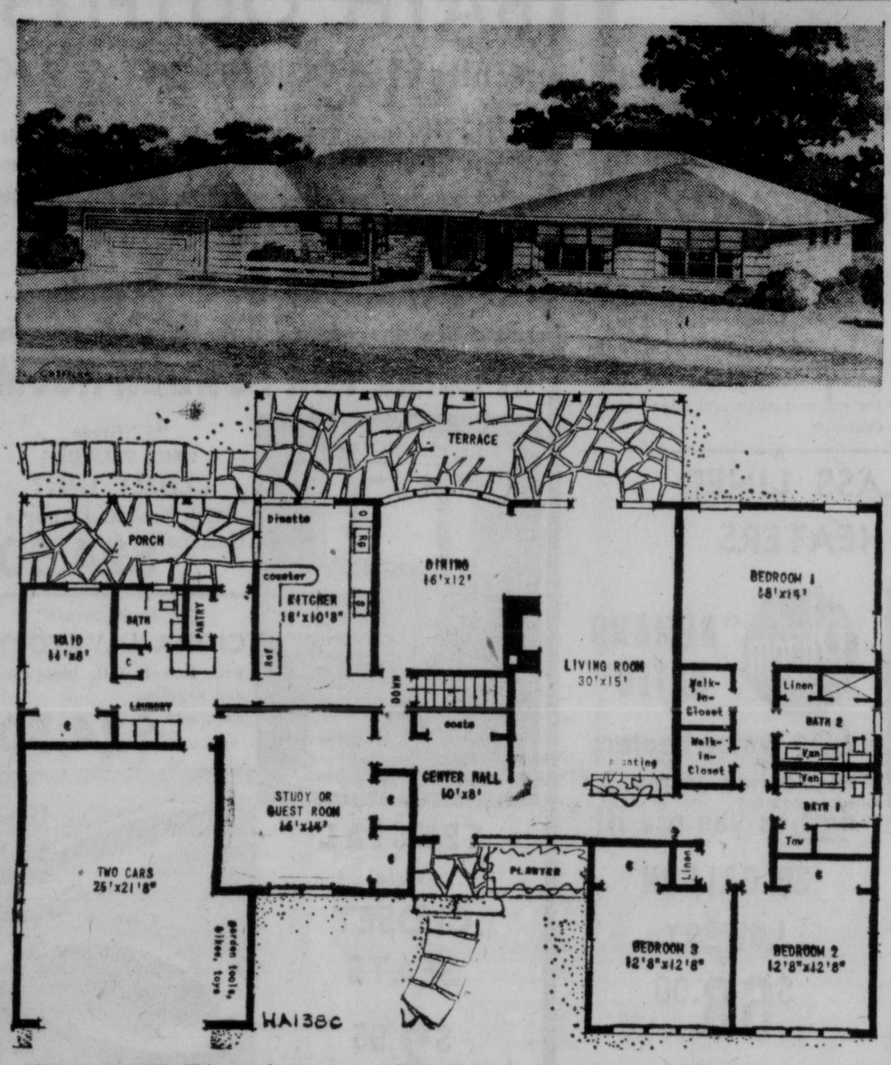
Name all the extras of modern homes — dishwashers, freezers, kitchen waste disposals, automatic water softeners and all kinds of built-ins — and this house has it. The attached garage, long enough to allow plenty of room for storage, has an access door to the family room.

There are dramatic new uses of flooring, wall, ceiling and other building products, with special emphasis on cutting down maintenance costs.

The ladies, it appears, went out of their way to point out that certain materials are easier to keep clean and, consequently, reduce or eliminate major maintenance outlays.

Last year, under somewhat similar conditions, a house built in Fort Lauderdale was placed on exhibition. It will go on sale in a couple of months.

The big difference is that, this time, after the exhibition period, the woman judged the nation's outstanding homemaker becomes the owner of the house she and the 50 other ladies helped create.



DREAM RANCH. This ranch is luxury unlimited; 2,680 square feet of well-planned comfort. The design features three large bedrooms (one 18x14), study, living room, dining room, kitchen with dinette and maid's room with separate bath. The house is 48 feet deep and 80 feet wide. Architect is Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York, N. Y., and the plan is HA138C.

68 Babies Passed To Safety As Flames Scorch Hospitals

MEMPHIS (AP) — Towering flames raced with explosive speed through a baseball park Sunday night. They destroyed a city block of shops and scorched the walls of two hospitals.

A human chain of workers hastily passed 68 babies to safety and then evacuated the mothers from maternity wards as 100-foot-high flames charred City Hospital window frames and shattered big glass panes.

The hospitals, Red Cross workers, fire and police officials reported no serious injuries. Damage was estimated at about one million dollars.

There was no panic when Deputy Fire Chief J. D. Johnson warned the 14-story Baptist Hospital to prepare for evacuation and 200 patients were moved to inner halls during the crisis.

The Baptist Hospital lobby was a mess. Every ground floor window was out. Floors were cluttered with overturned furniture, fire hoses and glass.

James Hatmaker, a young City Hospital attendant, said the fire began in the left field grandstand "and seemed to whirl through the stands."

Leo Burson, president of the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Assn., said damage to the park was half a million dollars, but it was estimated four or five million dollars would be required to replace it.

Woman Lays An Egg When Hiding Whisky

LUCEDALE, Miss. (AP)—Lovonia Jones Box, 60, admits she gave a setting hen a strange assignment.

The Negro woman pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing illicit whisky and was fined $500. Two deputies testified they searched her home Saturday and found a gallon of moonshine in half-pint bottles under a setting hen.

7 Homes 'Barbecued' As Man Burns Weeds

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Chester Larson burned some weeds in his backyard barbecue pit Sunday and, in about the time it takes to broil a steak, seven homes were ablaze.

Asst. Fire Chief J. E. Byrne estimated the neighborhood damage at more than $60,000.

Dies Of Heart Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. James Garesche Ord, 73, whose family has provided regular Army officers since the War of 1812, died Friday of a heart attack. Ord, who retired in 1946, served in France in World War I and for the last three years of World War II was chairman of the Joint Brazil-United States Defense Commission.

Aged Banker Dies

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—McCook, an Iowa and California banker for 70 of his 84 years, died Friday night. He had suffered from heart ailments for several years. McCook organized the First National Bank of Sumner, Iowa, at the age of 24, later entered banking enterprises in San Bernardino, Long Beach and San Diego, Calif.

The air mile distance from one end of the Burma road to the other end is 260 miles. But on the ground, it is 700 miles.

'Open Design' Helps Double Home's Size

PORTLAND, Ore. — Even the tiniest of cottages can be spacious. Doubling the size of a small home is quite a challenge for an architect, but topflight designers are meeting it — and are turning out some perfectly delightful abodes as a result.

The trick is to design rooms which borrow space from each other and from the outdoors. This mode of interior space handling is often called "open area design." Room dividers replace conventional floor-to-ceiling walls in the living wing of the house so that space flows freely throughout the area. And extensive but judicious use of window walls lets the home expand into the garden.

The kitchen-dining room area frequently comes in for the "open" treatment. Often the two rooms are separated by a divider rather than by a conventional wall. And especially when they're pint-sized rooms, the divider is apt to be only shoulder - height to allow a maximum of space - borrowing between them..

The divider should be designed with storage units on one or both sides and with a pass through which facilitates serving and table-clearing. When family and guests are seated at the dining table, they will find the shoulder-high divider tall enough to close off effectively the kitchen from sight.

In designing an area like this, care should be taken to establish continuity of decor throughout the two rooms. This again, increases visually their size by eliminating the break caused by differing color schemes or wall treatments.

In the kitchen - dining room, the easiest and loveliest way to establish such continuity is to pick up the wood used for the kitchen cabinetry, repeating it for the divider, dining room built-ins, and for wall paneling.

A sleek, finely grained wood like west coast hemlock is good for this purpose, for it is never obtrusive, and its subtle champagne coloring is space-expanding. Cabinetry can be designed with magnetic latches, which open by finger pressure, rather than conventional hardware for unbroken, satin-smooth surfaces.

A textured ceiling of something like rough-sawn Douglas fir decking adds luxurious elegance to this petite area and is more interesting to the eye than flat, painted surfaces.

If there's a lovely vista on this side of the house, or you have created your own private view with a handsome lounging deck or a charming, enclosed courtyard, a good expanse of glass on exterior walls again magnifies the size of your home's interior.

Bringing Up A Family

Laugh With, Not At, Tot's Remarks

Any child, two to four, may ask a question or utter a remark which strikes an adult as funny. What seems funny may be in the meaning of his statement or in its language. "Who put the water in the brook?" "God forgot to take the moon in last night." "She upset the milk." To the older person, the remarks seem funny because they are not what he is accustomed to hear. They shock him with surprise. But when the little child says what strikes us as funny, he had not meant to be funny. Never was he more serious. And when we laugh at his utterance how must he feel? He must feel still more puzzled when several adults, including a guest, all laugh together.

By Garry Meyer.

ABOUT THE most barbarous thing I can think of is to cause the little child to repeat some innocent statement he had made so that a crowd of guests might join with the parents to laugh uproariously at him.

Often you have heard and read: "Don't laugh at the child, laugh with him." But when have you ever heard a little child make a remark for the first time on purpose to be funny, hoping you would laugh with him?

If, in an extreme instance, a little child discovers his natural utterance has caused adults to laugh, he may go on repeating it over and over until he grows repulsive.

But nearly always when the child, two to four, is laughed at after a question or remark of his, he is greatly embarrassed and puzzled.

He supposes he must have done something wrong, made a great mistake. He gets a vague feeling that he is being treated as though he were much younger than he is —a feeling of inferiority.

CHECK ON yourself. Suppose on a number of social occasions you notice that some serious, innocent remark of yours brings smiles and laughter. How would you feel?

Henceforth, you would often censor what you wanted to say before you said a word. Or you might say nothing.

Perhaps all these fears about conversation which youths and adults tell about began in early years when their own parents laughed at them.

Consider all the suffering in the classroom by school children, six to 18, who are in constant dread that they might be laughed at when they falter, blunder or say something or that the teacher might make a statement arousing laughter at their expense.

About the only safe and humane way is for us, as parents and teachers, to laugh only at our own foibles and frailties, hoping others will laugh with us.

Next 2 Months To Be Lean In Steel Orders

CLEVELAND (AP) — The next two months will be relatively lean for the steel industry from a new order standpoint, Steel Magazine reported today.

But the metalworking weekly predicted a turning point will come in July when automobile manufacturers start their buildups for the 1961 models. The automakers probably have enough steel on hand or on order to round out production of 1960 models, it added.

"The operating rate could fall to 75 per cent of capacity or slightly lower before the summer months," the magazine said, "but steel industry leaders still are confident they'll turn out better than 120 million tons of steel ingots this year to top the 1955 record. This will take an average ingot rate of 80 per cent."

Steel mill operations fell 4.4 points to 79.9 per cent of rated capacity last week due to the Easter holidays, a wildcat strike (against the Great Lakes Steel Corp at Detroit) and planned cutbacks in production. The week's output totaled about 2,277,000 ingot tons.

District operating rates included: Cleveland 92 per cent, down one point; Pittsburgh 82 per cent, up one point; Youngstown 65 per cent, down nine points, and Cincinnati 99 per cent, down three points.

Steel's price composite on prime heavy melting steelmaking scrap held at $33.66 a gross ton for the third straight week, but the market was slow.

House Is Made To Order

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Features of good living suggested by 51 women are being incorporated in a house under construction in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Why exactly 51 women? Because they are the representatives of 50 states and the District of Columbia who are the finalists in a national homemakers' contest that will be judged in mid - June. And since the winner will receive the house as the top prize, it was decided that it should be built according to the preferences expressed by the contestants.

We've just looked over a floor plan of the house, plus a description of some of the materials that are going into it. The ladies haven't forgotten anything! Not even a swimming pool.

They haven't settled for just another backyard swimming pool, either. This one is a luxury affair, complete with filter accessories. If you wanted one like it, it would run more than $6,000.

About the house itself: it has a concrete block contemporary exterior, four bedrooms, a family room, a recreation area, a utility room and two baths. Sliding glass doors in the family room open to a poured concrete patio. The master bedroom not only has a private bath but a separate dressing room.

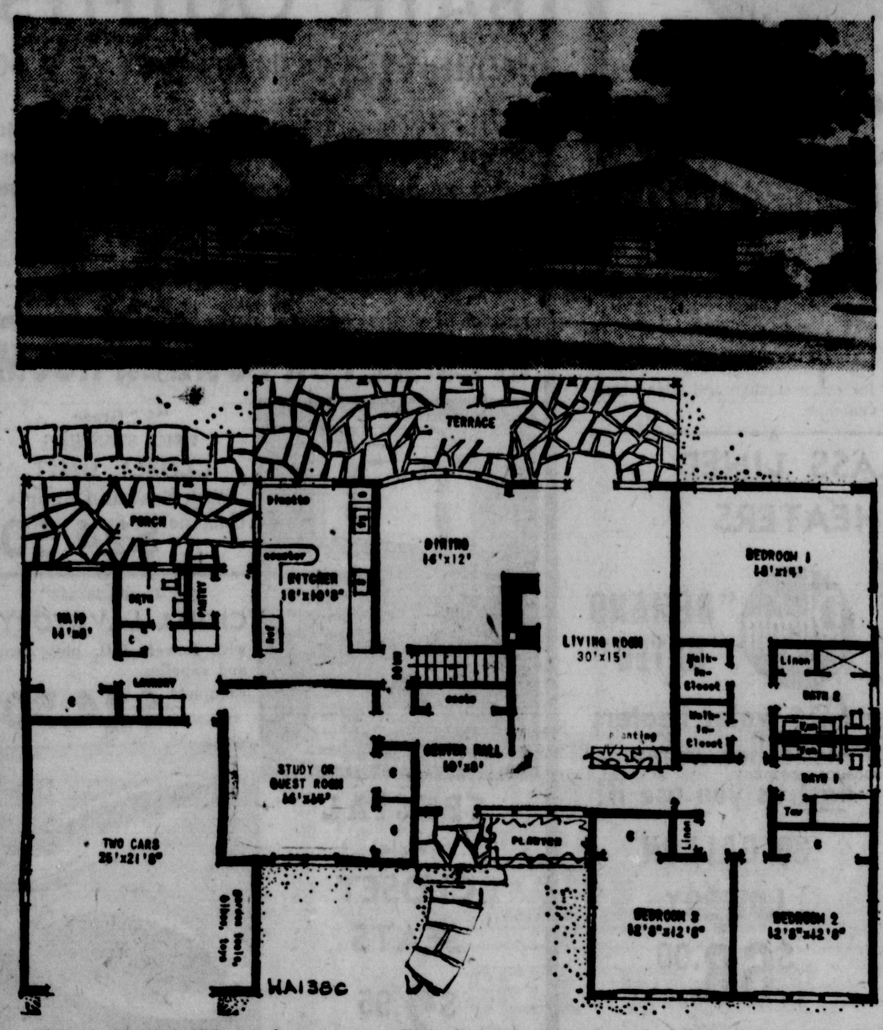
Name all the extras of modern homes — dishwashers, freezers, kitchen waste disposals, automatic water softeners and all kinds of built-ins — and this house has it. The attached garage, long enough to allow plenty of room for storage, has an access door to the family room.

There are dramatic new uses of flooring, wall, ceiling and other building products, with special emphasis on cutting down maintenance costs.

The ladies, it appears, went out of their way to point out that certain materials are easier to keep clean and, consequently, reduce or eliminate major maintenance outlays.

Last year, under somewhat similar conditions, a house built in Fort Lauderdale was placed on exhibition. It will go on sale in a couple of months.

The big difference is that, this time, after the exhibition period, the woman judged the nation's outstanding homemaker becomes the owner of the house she and the 50 other ladies helped create.



DREAM RANCH. This ranch is luxury unlimited; 2,680 square feet of well-planned comfort. The design features three large bedrooms (one 18x14), study, living room, dining room, kitchen with dinette and maid's room with separate bath. The house is 48 feet deep and 80 feet wide. Architect is Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York, N. Y., and the plan is HA138C.

68 Babies Passed To Safety As Flames Scorch Hospitals

MEMPHIS (AP) — Towering flames raced with explosive speed through a baseball park Sunday night. They destroyed a city block of shops and scorched the walls of two hospitals.

A human chain of workers hastily passed 68 babies to safety and then evacuated the mothers from maternity wards as 100-foot-high flames charred City Hospital window frames and shattered big glass panes.

The hospitals, Red Cross workers, fire and police officials reported no serious injuries. Damage was estimated at about one million dollars.

There was no panic when Deputy Fire Chief J. D. Johnson warned the 14-story Baptist Hospital to prepare for evacuation and 200 patients were moved to inner halls during the crisis.

The Baptist Hospital lobby was a mess. Every ground floor window was out. Floors were cluttered with overturned furniture, fire hoses and glass.

James Hatmaker, a young City Hospital attendant, said the fire began in the left field grandstand "and seemed to whirl through the stands."

When it reached the street it fanned right and left and enveloped a block of stores.

Leo Burson, president of the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Assn., said damage to the park was half a million dollars, but it was estimated four or five million dollars would be required to replace it.

'Long, Long Ballot'

Governor Races To Hold West Virginia Spotlight

CHARLESTON (AP) — Although the Kennedy-Humphrey presidential contest has received most of the headlines, it is only one race among many of a long, long ballot for the May 10 West Virginia primary election.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Sen. Hubert E. Humphrey (D-Minn) will test their relative popularity as presidential candidates with the state's Democratic voters. However, the outcome will not commit any of the state's delegates to the Democratic national convention, where the nominee will be chosen.

OF AS much, if not more, interest to state politicians—for this is where the patronage dwells — are the races for the Democratic and Republican nominations for governor.

Three Democrats and two Republicans are running. Also at stake in the West Virginia voting this year are:

The U. S. Senate seat of Jennings Randolph; the state's six seats in the House of Representatives; two judgeships on the Supreme Court of Appeals; the offices of attorney general, secretary of state, agriculture commissioner, treasurer, and auditor; all 100 seats in the House of Delegates and 16 of the 32 state Senate seats; 30 circuit judgeships, and a host of county offices.

Besides nominating for those offices, state voters will elect the West Virginia delegations to the two parties' national conventions in the primary.

By most accounts, State Atty. Gen. W. W. (Wally) Barron of Elkins is the front runner for the Democratic nomination for governor. He is opposed by Beckley businessman Hulett C. Smith, who is reported to have made substantial gains in his campaign lately, and State Treasurer Orel J. Skeen. Smith, son of a former congressman, is the state Democratic chairman.

SEEKING THE GOP nomination to succeed Republican Gov. Cecil H. Underwood (West Virginia governors may not succeed themselves) are former U. S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb of Charleston and Harold E. Neely of Hinton.

The Revercomb - Neely contest has Underwood in an uncomfortable spot. Neely, who is 42, has served the Underwood administration first as insurance commissioner and then as public institutions commissioner.

Underwood regards him as an outstanding public official and plainly would like to see him nominated for governor. But two things keep Underwood from going all-out for Neely, with all that would imply in the way of statehouse support.

If Underwood did so and Revercomb won the nomination anyway, Underwood would then wind up as the November running mate of a man he fought in the primary. Underwood is unopposed for the GOP nomination for the U. S. Senate.

The other thing deterring Underwood is campaign promises. When he was running for governor in 1956, Underwood pleged himself not to use the power of the statehouse, as some preceding Democratic governors had, to install a handpicked successor.

ALSO, Underwood might have trouble mustering the full power of the statehouse for Neely. The department with the greatest potential for political legwork, the State Road Commission, is headed by a Revercomb supporter, Commissioner Patrick C. Graney. His son is married to Revercomb's daughter.

So, Underwood has not publicly committed himself as between Revercomb and Neely. But he has quietly informed department heads that Neely is his choice and that they are free to say so. Underwood had them in for dinner at the executive mansion last Monday night and gave them the word then.

It will be Underwood against Randolph for the Senate in November, as Randolph also is unopposed in the primary.

Underwood, now 37, is winding up a term as the state's first Republican governor since 1929-33 and the youngest governor in state history. Randolph, who was 2nd District congressman for seven terms (1933-47), was elected in 1958 to the two-year unexpired Senate term of the late Sen. Matthew M. Neely.

Smacks Of Bossism, Revercomb Declares

By The Associated Press

Chapman Revercomb has thrown up the past to Gov. Underwood in rebuking him for taking sides in the race for the Republican nomination for governor.

"It's the very thing the governor criticized in his predecessor, Gov. Marland," Revercomb said. "It was wrong then. It is wrong now."

Underwood has not committed himself publicly, but he has privately told his department heads that he is for Harold E. Neely, the man Revercomb is running against for the nomination. He gave the department heads permission to let his preference be known to others.

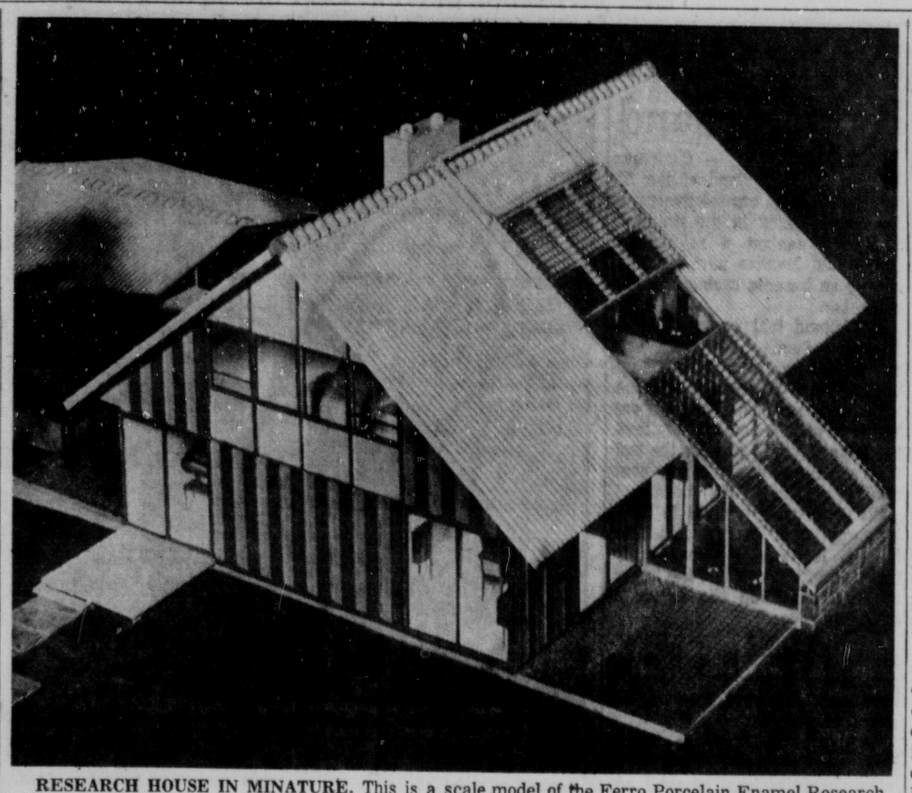
"Of course, Gov. Underwood has a right personally to be for anyone he wants, as any individual has. But Gov. Underwood said earlier he wanted an open primary. And Thursday a week ago he made the statement before a public gathering that he would be very glad, as a candidate for the Senate, to run with either me or with my opponent.

"If he were not a candidate, that would be a different thing. But when he is a candidate himself and reaches out to select particularly one who might be a successor, I think it's wrong."



RESEARCH HOUSE IN MINATURE. This is a scale model of the Ferro Porcelain Enamel Research House now being constructed in a Cleveland suburb by the Ferro Corp. and more than 20 major companies. The project was initiated by Ferro to explore methods of adapting residential housing components to the techniques of mass production, as well as serving as a proving ground for advances in plumbing, heating, and wiring systems. The roof, all exterior walls, and all interior walls in the kitchen, bathroom, and utility areas will be finished in porcelain enamel in a variety of colors and textures. It is scheduled for completion in May. The Ferro Corp. is the world's leading producer of the basic material used in making porcelain enamel finishes.

Tips Offered On Painting

NEW YORK — Paint the ceiling black? Paint triangles on the wall? Paint stripes in the hall?

Yes, according to a leading New York architectural and interior design firm, which suggests that "do-it-yourselfers" take advantage of these techniques to solve their home improvement problems. here's how it works.

When refinishing a room where the ceiling has exposed pipes and ducts, black paint provides an economical bit of camouflage. Painting the ceiling black will effectively hide the unattractive surface units and eliminate the cost of erecting a false ceiling. Use a bright wall color and increase the light wattage to offset the dark ceiling.

THE TRIANGLES are an ideal means of creating interest in an area that does not have outside exposure. Triangle designs are easy to paint when masking tape is used as a guide. Paint the triangles in colors that contrast or harmonize with the rest of the decor. This is an effective way of highlighting an area without the expense of buying paintings or another costly accessory.

The designers, Freidin-Studley, also advocate the use of stripes for achieving visual interest. Stripes are particularly effective when used on the end wall of a hallway or a long, narrow room.

The painted striped wall will seem to advance, hence making the area appear more square. Masking tape comes in very handy for this wall treatment, too. When the wall has been painted with the background color and permitted to dry, the stripes of masking tape are applied in the desired arrangement. Then the exposed areas are painted in the chosen color or colors. When dry, the tape is removed to reveal the multi-colored stripes.

IF SOLID colors are preferred to stripes, the same effect can be achieved by painting the end wall in a contrasting color. This "one contrasting wall" is also suggested as a means of animating a box-like room that lacks interest.

A texture paint is recommended to beautify scarred walls that would otherwise require complete replastering. The heavy consistency of texture paint fills small cracks and hides surface irregularities. These special paints produce a rough plaster - like finish that enhances any style decor.

Before choosing interior colors, it should be remembered that lighting has a deceptive effect on color.

Fluorescent lights have a tendency to accentuate the blue tones of certain colors. Incandescent lighting, on the other hand, brings out yellow tones. For example, under fluorescent lighting, red will appear more violet, while under incandescent lighting it will seem more yellow. Both paints and fabrics should be examined under both types of lighting before final decision is made.

Fryer Prices Show Decline

Poultry fryers have returned to the list of plentiful, economical foods, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

With pork prices somewhat higher and beef prices showing little change, both poultry and frozen fish are good choices this week, he said. Small size turkeys also are desirable in markets that handle them. Among the more economical frozen fish available are ocean perch, haddock and cod.

In the coming weeks, pork is likely to edge up in price until midsummer, although the price level will not likely exceed last year's prices at the same time. Beef prices will fluctuate some, but will show little overall change.

Season fresh vegetables in good supply are cualiflower, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, head lettuce, celery and asparagus. Cauliflower quality is excellent. Asparagus is increasing in supply. The quality of the asparagus will depend largely on how long it has been in the warehouse and store. Asparagus quality deteriorates quite rapidly when placed on display.

Bananas continue again this week to offer one of the better fruit choices. Oranges are somewhat less plentiful and prices have been edging upward. The season for Caulifornia Navels is about over, with Valencias from both Florida and the west coast now furnishing the bulk of the supply.

Other fruit recommended for this week are raisins, canned peaches, pineapple, frozen grape juice concentrate and blended pineapple juices.

Ohio Legislators Swamped With Mail On Medical Issue

By JAMES B. SIBBISON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Ohio Republican congressmen are getting uneasy about an issue that may be a big one in the coming campaign: Free medical care for the aged.

Democrats are in somewhat of a spot, too. Their party can't agree so far on a bill to do something about the problem.

Ohioans in both parties reported today they are getting heavy batches of mail both favoring and opposing a bill by Rep. Aime Forand (D-RI) to supply this care.

Forand wants to increase Social Security taxes so that those over 65 on Social Security pensions will get this help.

Republicans, from President Eisenhower down, nearly all oppose Forand's bill. So far, though, they have offered no substitute they can all support.

The issue is being compared in its emotional impact by some Republicans to the "right-to-work" vote that felled many Ohio Republicans in the last general election.

The office of Rep. Jackson E. Betts (R-Ohio) has received more mail on this issue—more than 2,000 pieces—than on any other issue in the last several years.

One reason is that Betts is a member of the Ways and Means Committee, and one of the unanimous GOP block that joined enough Democrats on the committee to prevent sending the Forand bill to the floor.

Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) also has received about 2,000 pieces of mail, rivaling the number he has received from postal workers wanting a raise.

An assistant to Young said those who oppose the Forand bill are not too far behind those who favor it.

"You'd be surprised at how many little scribbly letters we get against it," he said. "Of course, we've probably heard from every doctor in the state and every insurance company." The American Medical Assn. strongly opposes the bill.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) also is getting mail in the thousands.

Both Young and Lausche are telling their correspondents they recognize the problem but are not saying they specifically favor any particular piece of legislation.

Students Hurl Rocks, Jeer Police In Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Thousands of students and schoolboys hurled rocks and jeered police in three South Korean cities today in defiance of a government ban on demonstrations.

At least a dozen persons were reported injured in scuffles between police and students in Seoul, Pusan and Chongju.

The unbroken wave of demonstrations, now in its second week, posed a growing crisis for President Syngman Rhee's government, which the students accused of rigging the March 15 elections.

Motorist Shot To Death While Fleeing Police

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police shot to death a man early today. They said he tried to flee, apparently after committing a minor traffic violation.

The victim was identified as John T. Nowells, 35, of Cleveland. Records show Nowells was on parole from the Ohio Penitentiary, where he was sent in 1956 on a manslaughter conviction.

Police gave this account:

Nowells made an illegal turn, and cruisermen approached to question him.

Nowells sped off. Several cruisers joined the chase through the crowded East Side neighborhood at up to 85 mp.h.h.

Nowells' car overturned. He leaped from the car and raced across a parking lot. Patrolmen Louis Ferrara and Robert Schroeder fired five shots at him, and Nowells was wounded severely in the abdomen.

The city prosecutor will be asked to rule whether the shooting was justifiable.

5 Killed And 3 Injured As Blast Hits Tanker

GIBRALTAR (AP)—Five crewmen were killed and three injured in an explosion aboard the Dutch tanker Pendrecht off Gibraltar today.

The 13,150-ton tanker out of Rotterdam was towed here by the Norwegian salvage tug Hercules after sending out an SOS.

There were no details immediately available on the cause of the explosion.

'Long, Long Ballot'

Governor Races To Hold West Virginia Spotlight

CHARLESTON (AP) — Although the Kennedy-Humphrey presidential contest has received most of the headlines, it is only one race among many of a long, long ballot for the May 10 West Virginia primary election.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Sen. Hubert E. Humphrey (D-Minn) will test their relative popularity as presidential candidates with the state's Democratic voters. However, the outcome will not commit any of the state's delegates to the Democratic national convention, where the nominee will be chosen.

—:—

OF AS much, if not more, interest to state politicians—for this is where the patronage dwells — are the races for the Democratic and Republican nominations for governor.

Three Democrats and two Republicans are running. Also at stake in the West Virginia voting this year are:

The U. S. Senate seat of Jennings Randolph; the state's six seats in the House of Representatives; two judgeships on the Supreme Court of Appeals; the offices of attorney general, secretary of state, agriculture commissioner, treasurer, and auditor; all 100 seats in the House of Delegates and 16 of the 32 state Senate seats; 30 circuit judgeships, and a host of county offices.

Besides nominating for those offices, state voters will elect the West Virginia delegations to the two parties' national conventions in the primary.

By most accounts, State Atty. Gen. W. W. (Wally) Barron of Elkins is the front runner for the Democratic nomination for governor. He is opposed by Beckley businessman Hulett C. Smith, who is reported to have made substantial gains in his campaign lately, and State Treasurer Orel J. Skeen. Smith, son of a former congressman, is the state Democratic chairman.

SEEKING THE GOP nomination to succeed Republican Gov. Cecil H. Underwood (West Virginia governors may not succeed themselves) are former U. S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb of Charleston and Harold E. Neely of Hinton.

The Revercomb - Neely contest has Underwood in an uncomfortable spot. Neely, who is 42, has served the Underwood administration first as insurance commissioner and then as public institutions commissioner.

Underwood regards him as an outstanding public official and plainly would like to see him nominated for governor. But two things keep Underwood from going all-out for Neely, with all that would imply in the way of statehouse support.

If Underwood did so and Revercomb won the nomination anyway, Underwood would then wind up as the November running mate of a man he fought in the primary. Underwood is unopposed for the GOP nomination for the U. S. Senate.

The other thing deterring Underwood is campaign promises. When he was running for governor in 1956, Underwood pleged himself not to use the power of the statehouse, as some preceding Democratic governors had, to install a handpicked successor.

ALSO, Underwood might have trouble mustering the full power of the statehouse for Neely. The department with the greatest potential for political legwork, the State Road Commission, is headed by a Revercomb supporter, Commissioner Patrick C. Graney. His son is married to Revercomb's daughter.

So, Underwood has not publicly committed himself as between Revercomb and Neely. But he has quietly informed department heads that Neely is his choice and that they are free to say so. Underwood had them in for dinner at the executive mansion last Monday night and gave them the word then.

It will be Underwood against Randolph for the Senate in November, as Randolph also is unopposed in the primary.

Underwood, now 37, is winding up a term as the state's first Republican governor since 1929-33 and the youngest governor in state history. Randolph, who was 2nd District congressman for seven terms (1933-47), was elected in 1958 to the two-year unexpired Senate term of the late Sen. Matthew M. Neely.

Smacks Of Bossism, Revercomb Declares

By The Associated Press

Chapman Revercomb has thrown up the past to Gov. Underwood in rebuking him for taking sides in the race for the Republican nomination for governor.

"It's the very thing the governor criticized in his predecessor, Gov. Marland," Revercomb said. "It was wrong then. It is wrong now."

Underwood has not committed himself publicly, but he has privately told his department heads that he is for Harold E. Neely, the man Revercomb is running against for the nomination. He gave the department heads permission to let his preference be known to others.

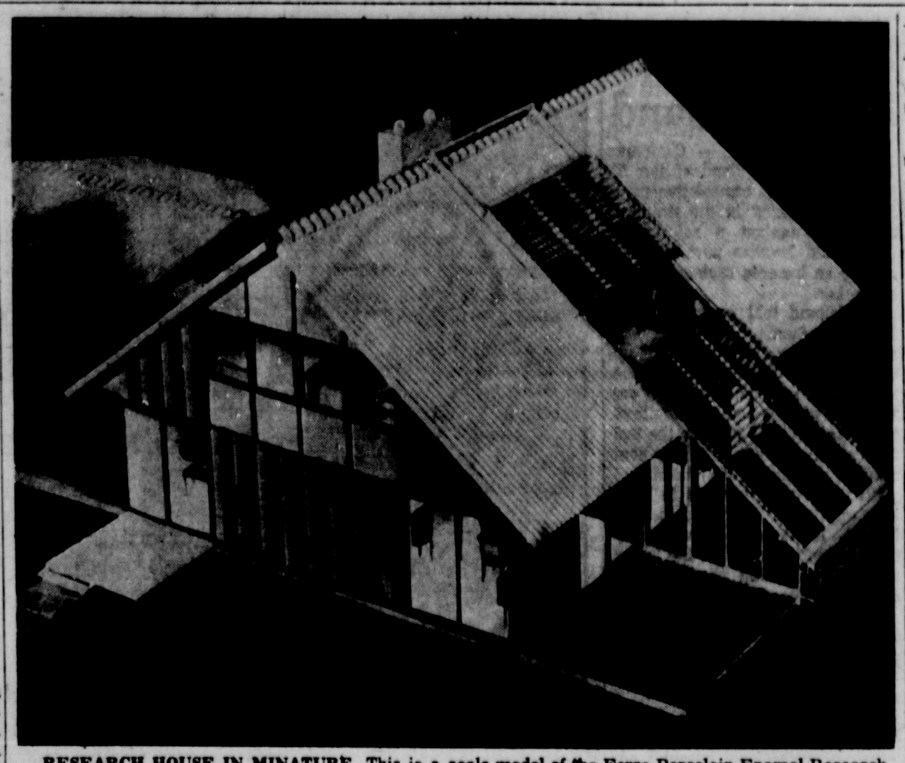
"Of course, Gov. Underwood has a right personally to be for anyone he wants, as any individual has. But Gov. Underwood said earlier he wanted an open primary. And Thursday a week ago he made the statement before a public gathering that he would be very glad, as a candidate for the Senate, to run with either me or with my opponent.

"If he were not a candidate, that would be a different thing. But when he is a candidate himself and reaches out to select particularly one who might be a successor, I think it's wrong."



RESEARCH HOUSE IN MINATURE. This is a scale model of the Ferro Porcelain Enamel Research House now being constructed in a Cleveland suburb by the Ferro Corp. and more than 20 major companies. The project was initiated by Ferro to explore methods of adapting residential housing components to the techniques of mass production, as well as serving as a proving ground for advances in plumbing, heating, and wiring systems. The roof, all exterior walls, and all interior walls in the kitchen, bathroom, and utility areas will be finished in porcelain enamel in a variety of colors and textures. It is scheduled for completion in May. The Ferro Corp. is the world's leading producer of the basic material used in making porcelain enamel finishes.

Tips Offered On Painting

NEW YORK — Paint the ceiling black? Paint triangles on the wall? Paint stripes in the hall?

Yes, according to a leading New York architectural and interior design firm, which suggests that "do-it-yourselfers" take advantage of these techniques to solve their home improvement problems. here's how it works.

When refinishing a room where the ceiling has exposed pipes and ducts, black paint provides an economical bit of camouflage. Painting the ceiling black will effectively hide the unattractive surface units and eliminate the cost of erecting a false ceiling. Use a bright wall color and increase the light wattage to offset the dark ceiling.

THE TRIANGLES are an ideal means of creating interest in an area that does not have outside exposure. Triangle designs are easy to paint when masking tape is used as a guide. Paint the triangles in colors that contrast or harmonize with the rest of the decor. This is an effective way of highlighting an area without the expense of buying paintings or another costly accessory.

The designers, Freidin-Studley, also advocate the use of stripes for achieving visual interest. Stripes are particularly effective when used on the end wall of a hallway or a long, narrow room.

The painted striped wall will seem to advance, hence making the area appear more square. Masking tape comes in very handy for this wall treatment, too. When the wall has been painted with the background color and permitted to dry, the stripes of masking tape are applied in the desired arrangement. Then the exposed areas are painted in the chosen color or colors. When dry, the tape is removed to reveal the multi-colored stripes.

IF SOLID colors are preferred to stripes, the same effect can be achieved by painting the end wall in a contrasting color. This "one contrasting wall" is also suggested as a means of animating a box-like room that lacks interest.

A texture paint is recommended to beautify scarred walls that would otherwise require complete replastering. The heavy consistency of texture paint fills small cracks and hides surface irregularities. These special paints produce a rough plaster - like finish that enhances any style decor.

Before choosing interior colors, it should be remembered that lighting has a deceptive effect on color.

Fluorescent lights have a tendency to accentuate the blue tones of certain colors. Incandescent lighting, on the other hand, brings out yellow tones. For example, under fluorescent lighting, red will appear more violet, while under incandescent lighting it will seem more yellow. Both paints and fabrics should be examined under both types of lighting before final decision is made.

Fryer Prices Show Decline

Poultry fryers have returned to the list of plentiful, economical foods, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

With pork prices somewhat higher and beef prices showing little change, both poultry and frozen fish are good choices this week, he said. Small size turkeys also are desirable in markets that handle them. Among the more economical frozen fish available are ocean perch, haddock and cod.

In the coming weeks, pork is likely to edge up in price until midsummer, although the price level will not likely exceed last year's prices at the same time. Beef prices will fluctuate some, but will show little overall change.

Season fresh vegetables in good supply are cualiflower, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, head lettuce, celery and asparagus. Cauliflower quality is excellent. Asparagus is increasing in supply. The quality of the asparagus will depend largely on how long it has been in the warehouse and store. Asparagus quality deteriorates quite rapidly when placed on display.

Bananas continue again this week to offer one of the better fruit choices. Oranges are somewhat less plentiful and prices have been edging upward. The season for California Navels is about over, with Valencias from both Florida and the west coast now furnishing the bulk of the supply.

Other fruit recommended for this week are raisins, canned peaches, pineapple, frozen grape juice concentrate and blended pineapple juices.

Ohio Legislators Swamped With Mail On Medical Issue

By JAMES B. SIBBISON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Ohio Republican congressmen are getting uneasy about an issue that may be a big one in the coming campaign: Free medical care for the aged.

Democrats are in somewhat of a spot, too. Their party can't agree so far on a bill to do something about the problem.

Ohioans in both parties reported today they are getting heavy batches of mail both favoring and opposing a bill by Rep. Aime Forand (D-RI) to supply this care.

Forand wants to increase Social Security taxes so that those over 65 on Social Security pensions will get this help.

Republicans, from President Eisenhower down, nearly all oppose Forand's bill. So far, though, they have offered no substitute they can all support.

The issue is being compared in its emotional impact by some Republicans to the "right-to-work" vote that felled many Ohio Republicans in the last general election.

The office of Rep. Jackson E. Betts (R-Ohio) has received more mail on this issue—more than 2,000 pieces—than on any other issue in the last several years.

One reason is that Betts is a member of the Ways and Means Committee, and one of the unanimous GOP block that joined enough Democrats on the committee to prevent sending the Forand bill to the floor.

Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) also has received about 2,000 pieces of mail, rivaling the number he has received from postal workers wanting a raise.

An assistant to Young said those who oppose the Forand bill are not too far behind those who favor it.

"You'd be surprised at how many little scribbly letters we get against it," he said. "Of course, we've probably heard from every doctor in the state and every insurance company." The American Medical Assn. strongly opposes the bill.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) also is getting mail in the thousands.

Both Young and Lausche are telling their correspondents they recognize the problem but are not saying they specifically favor any particular piece of legislation.

Friends Help Out

HOLLIS, Okla. (AP) — Farmer H. D. Mangis was recovering from surgery and worrying how he would get his field plowed. He looked out a window one morning and counted 10 neighbors busily plowing the land.

1,482 Attend Last Services At Area Witness Meeting

A crowd of 1,482 attended services Sunday afternoon at the Ceramic Theater which marked the close of a three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Angelo A. Catanzaro, a special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, discussed the theme, "Finding Peace in This Troubled World."

"It is a difficult task to find peace in this troubled world," the speaker declared. "In spite of modern man's material progress, he suffers from anxiety, frustration and discontent. Man has not shown any willingness to put away the harmful emotions such as envy and anger which are responsible for his plight."

Thirty-two Witnesses were baptized Sunday afternoon, including two East Liverpool residents, Pauline Powell and Shirley Carter.

The meeting opened Friday night and continued with meetings and services Saturday and Sunday. Emerson Booth, presiding minister of the East Liverpool congregation, expressed appreciation to householders who opened their homes to the visiting ministers.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average about 5 degrees above normal. Normal high 59 north to 63 south, normal low 39-43. Warmer Tuesday and Wednesday, only minor changes Thursday through Saturday. Precipitation will total about three-quarters inch in showers and thundershowers Thursday or Friday.

Betting Bid Hit By McClelland

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Chairman William D. McClelland of the Allegheny County commissioners is the newest entry in the stable of opposition against a referendum that would legalize pari - mutuel betting on harness racing in Pennsylvania.

McClelland told newsmen in an interview Sunday he would vote against the proposed bill in the upcoming April 26 primary election.

"It's a bad business anyway you look at it," stated McClelland. "It is particularly bad for the welfare and the economy of any community or state." He added:

"It is essentially a bill to legalize gambling in Pennsylvania. That is bad. It would rob the family, the grocer, the butcher, the baker, the merchant and the doctor of their just dues."

McClelland added that contrary to the popular beliefs of many pari-mutuel supporters it is not a necessary source of revenue, nor a productive one.

"It would in time, as it has done in other cities, destroy interest in professional baseball and football and in college football, which depends on the public and paid admissions for support," said McClelland, a dentist. He added:

"Harness racing as such is a great sport, but I don't think any sport has the license to exist on gamblers' stakes."

Joining with McClelland in opposing the bill were county prothonotary David B. Roberts and Recorder of Deeds John J. Exler.

Ohioan Faces Hearing For 'Triangle' Slaying

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. (AP)—Donald Stafford, 28, of Columbus, Ohio, was to have a hearing today on a murder charge in the slaying of a man he suspected of dating his wife.

Prosecutor Ersel Slater said Stafford, visiting his in-laws at Breeden, became suspicious that Willie Messer, 36, of Mud Fork had been taking out his wife.

Slater said the men met Sunday at a store at Breeden and struggled over a .22 caliber target pistol. Messer was wounded fatally and Stafford was struck in the leg by one of the three shots.

VFW Easter Egg Hunt Draws 150 Youngsters

About 150 children participated in a two-hour Easter egg hunt held Saturday afternoon at the Tri - State Casting Club in Oakmont by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66.

Nick Turkaly, youth activity chairman, and his committee were in charge. The children were divided into three age groups — 1-4, 5-12 and 13-15, with prizes awarded in each group.

The auxiliary helped prepare the eggs.

Appomatox Courthouse was the scene of the surrender of General U. S. Grant on April 9, 1565.

EASTER OFFERING. This jar of coins totaling $66.53 was presented by the Junior Church to the Rev. O. F. Haynes, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in Newell, for the world missionary offering at the Easter worship yesterday morning. Mrs. Charles Allison, Junior Church leader, is making the presentation as Jane Cronin, who topped the youngsters in collections with $19, looks on. The presentation was part of the dedication of the new Junior Church, with the Rev. H. Harvey Hendershot of Charleston in charge.

Household Workers Covered Under Social Security's Rules

More than 100,000 housewives throughout the country may be violating the Social Security laws by not reporting the wages they pay their household help, according to William J. McCauley, manager of the Youngstown Social Security office.

Many household employes still are not being reported for Social Security by their employers, although their cash wages from each employer may amount to well over $50 in a three-month period, he said. This is especially true of "day workers," who work for several employers during the course of a week.

Each employer who pays such a worker a total of $50 cash wages during the calendar quarter must file a return showing the name and Social Security number of the worker, the amount of the wages, and the Social Security taxes due, McCauley said.

Some employers may not understand their responsibilities under the law. As little pay as $4 a week amounts to more than $50 in a quarter. Also, some household employes may have asked their employers not to file the returns because they do not want to have their share of the Social Security tax taken out of their pay. The law, however, holds the employer responsible for making the returns and paying the taxes.

If not detected by the Internal Revenue Service through routine enforcement procedures, employers who are not filing reports may later be called for a reckoning in a number of different ways. This could happen when a worker applies to the Social Security office for retirement or disability benefits after the worker's death. Also, a worker at any time can ask the Social Security Administration for a record of credits and ask for an investigation of any credits missing from that record. An employer found delinquent under those conditions might be liable for the entire tax, for several years back, plus interest and penalties.

The Social Security tax on wages paid in 1960 is 6 per cent, 3 per cent to be deducted from the employe's wages, and a matching 3 per cent to be contributed by the employer.

Any housewife who employs domestic help can receive the reporting form every three months by writing to the District Director of Internal Revenue. The Social Security Administration has a booklet of Social Security information for household employers, "Social Security for Your Household Employe," which contains a postcard she can send to the District Director of Internal Revenue, asking that she be put on the mailing list.

Household workers who would like to know more about their rights and obligations under Social Security may get in touch with the nearest social security office and ask for the pamphlet, "Good News for Household Workers." The local Social Security office is at 123 W. Commerce St., Youngstown.

Daughter Admits Firing Shot Which Kills Sleeping Ohioan

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Alice Napper was preparing dinner when she told her daughters, "Girls, go upstairs and wake your father up."

Innocently enough, Virginia Marie Napper, 18, and her sister, Edna Mae, 15, went upstairs to the bedroom where their father lay sleeping.

Then a shot rang out.

The father, Sylvester William Napper, 38, apparently never knew what hit him when a .22 caliber rifle bullet went crashing through the back of his head Sunday.

He was still alive when police got there, summoned by one of his daughters. But he died before an ambulance could get to the home.

Taken into custody Virginia Marie recited how she placed the rifle's muzzle against her father's head and fired into the base of his skull, Police Chief Justin Cornely said.

But why?

Cornely wasn't talking. Not until he confers with County Prosecutor Robert O. Stout, who was out of town Sunday.

Cornely said Virginia Marie implicated her sister in the slaying, but he wouldn't say how the younger girl was involved. All he would say was that Edna Mae also was in the bedroom when the fatal shot was fired.

Napper's two sons, ages 11 and 7, were downstairs with their mother at the time, Cornely added.

Virginia Marie was lodged in the county jail and Edna Mae was taken to the juvenile detention home.

No charges were filed.

Approximately 400 different religious denominations meet with regularity in the United States.

Writ Refused In Party Fight

BEAVER — Judge Morgan Sohn has dismissed a request for a temporary injunction sought by four members of the Beaver County Democratic committee.

If granted, the injunction would have restrained executive committee members from spending funds.

At a hearing Saturday, Judge Sohn said the injunction petition should have been brought to court only after the members had used up the organization's rules to settle the issue.

The petition was filed by John D. Essey of Aliquippa, Willard McNally of Monaca, Jeny Havrilak of Monaca and Olga Dzkowski.

Only McNally showed up for the hearing. It was not learned why the others were not there.

Members of the executive committee are George L. Warner, chairman; James Camp vice chairman; James E. Ross, treasurer; Atty. Eugene Caputo, secretary; and Russel Milnes, campaign treasurer.

Annual Camp Set On Conservation In West Virginia

CAMP CAESAR, W. Va. (AP) — The 18th West Virginia Conservation Camp will be held here this year June 6-11.

About 250 boys and girls ages 15 to 18 are expected to attend. The purpose of the camp will be to acquaint them with the social and economic importance of natural resources and to train them for leadership in conservation.

Subjects to be emphasized include forest products, forest and park recreation, game management and trapping, forest management, law enforcement, nature study and soil and water conservation.

Camp Caesar is located between Webster Springs and Cowen in Webster County.

Democrats Air Plans For Dinner Saturday

Final plans for a "Meet Your Candidates" dinner Saturday night at 6:30 in Lincoln School at Lisbon were completed last Saturday night when the Central Columbiana County Democratic Club met in Village Hall at Lisbon.

Atty. Herbert Arfman reported more than 300 reservations have been made for the dinner meeting.

Democratic candidates addressed the group, discussing their qualifications for office.

Friends Help Out

HOLLIS, Okla. (AP) — Farmer H. D. Mangis was recovering from surgery and worrying how he would get his field plowed. He looked out a window one morning and counted 10 neighbors busily plowing the land.

1,482 Attend Last Services At Area Witness Meeting

A crowd of 1,482 attended services Sunday afternoon at the Ceramic Theater which marked the close of a three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Angelo A. Catanzaro, a special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, discussed the theme, "Finding Peace in This Troubled World."

"It is a difficult task to find peace in this troubled world," the speaker declared. "In spite of modern man's material progress, he suffers from anxiety, frustration and discontent. Man has not shown any willingness to put away the harmful emotions such as envy and anger which are responsible for his plight."

Thirty-two Witnesses were baptized Sunday afternoon, including two East Liverpool residents, Pauline Powell and Shirley Carter.

The meeting opened Friday night and continued with meetings and services Saturday and Sunday. Emerson Booth, presiding minister of the East Liverpool congregation, expressed appreciation to householders who opened their homes to the visiting ministers.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average about 5 degrees above normal. Normal high 59 north to 63 south, normal low 39-43. Warmer Tuesday and Wednesday, only minor changes Thursday through Saturday. Precipitation will total about three-quarters inch in showers and thundershowers Thursday or Friday.

Betting Bid Hit By McClelland

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Chairman William D. McClelland of the Allegheny County commissioners is the newest entry in the stable of opposition against a referendum that would legalize pari - mutuel betting on harness racing in Pennsylvania.

McClelland told newsmen in an interview Sunday he would vote against the proposed bill in the upcoming April 26 primary election.

"It's a bad business anyway you look at it," stated McClelland. "It is particularly bad for the welfare and the economy of any community or state." He added:

"It is essentially a bill to legalize gambling in Pennsylvania. That is bad. It would rob the family, the grocer, the butcher, the baker, the merchant and the doctor of their just dues."

McClelland added that contrary to the popular beliefs of many pari-mutuel supporters it is not a necessary source of revenue, nor a productive one.

"It would in time, as it has done in other cities, destroy interest in professional baseball and football and in college football, which depends on the public and paid admissions for support," said McClellard, a dentist. He added:

"Harness racing as such is a great sport, but I don't think any sport has the license to exist on gamblers' stakes."

Joining with McClelland in opposing the bill were county prothonotary David B. Roberts and Recorder of Deeds John J. Exler.

Ohioan Faces Hearing For 'Triangle' Slaying

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. (AP)—Donald Stafford, 28, of Columbus, Ohio, was to have a hearing today on a murder charge in the slaying of a man he suspected of dating his wife.

Prosecutor Ersel Slater said Stafford, visiting his in-laws at Breeden, became suspicious that Willie Messer, 36, of Mud Fork had been taking out his wife.

Slater said the men met Sunday at a store at Breeden and struggled over a .22 caliber target pistol. Messer was wounded fatally and Stafford was struck in the leg by one of the three shots.

VFW Easter Egg Hunt Draws 150 Youngsters

About 150 children participated in a two-hour Easter egg hunt held Saturday afternoon at the Tri - State Casting Club in Oakmont by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66.

Nick Turkaly, youth activity chairman, and his committee were in charge. The children were divided into three age groups — 1-4, 5-12 and 13-15, with prizes awarded in each group.

The auxiliary helped prepare the eggs.

Appomatox Courthouse was the scene of the surrender of General U. S. Grant on April 9, 1865.

EASTER OFFERING. This jar of coins totaling $66.53 was presented by the Junior Church to the Rev. O. F. Haynes, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in Newell, for the world missionary offering at the Easter worship yesterday morning. Mrs. Charles Allison, Junior Church leader, is making the presentation as Jane Cronin, who topped the youngsters in collections with $19, looks on. The presentation was part of the dedication of the new Junior Church, with the Rev. H. Harvey Hendershot of Charleston in charge.

Household Workers Covered Under Social Security's Rules

More than 100,000 housewives throughout the country may be violating the Social Security laws by not reporting the wages they pay their household help, according to William J. McCauley, manager of the Youngstown Social Security office.

Many household employes still are not being reported for Social Security by their employers, although their cash wages from each employer may amount to well over $50 in a three-month period, he said. This is especially true of "day workers," who work for several employers during the course of a week.

Each employer who pays such a worker a total of $50 cash wages during the calendar quarter must file a return showing the name and Social Security number of the worker, the amount of the wages, and the Social Security taxes due, McCauley said.

Some employers may not understand their responsibilities under the law. As little pay as $4 a week amounts to more than $50 in a quarter. Also, some household employes may have asked their employers not to file the returns because they do not want to have their share of the Social Security tax taken out of their pay. The law, however, holds the employer responsible for making the returns and paying the taxes.

If not detected by the Internal Revenue Service through routine enforcement procedures, employers who are not filing reports may later be called for a reckoning in a number of different ways. This could happen when a worker applies to the Social Security office for retirement or disability benefits after the worker's death. Also, a worker at any time can ask the Social Security Administration for a record of credits and ask for an investigation of any credits missing from that record. An employer found delinquent under those conditions might be liable for the entire tax, for several years back, plus interest and penalties.

The Social Security tax on wages paid in 1960 is 6 per cent, 3 per cent to be deducted from the employe's wages, and a matching 3 per cent to be contributed by the employer.

Any housewife who employs domestic help can receive the reporting form every three months by writing to the District Director of Internal Revenue. The Social Security Administration has a booklet of Social Security information for household employers, "Social Security for Your Household Employe," which contains a postcard she can send to the District Director of Internal Revenue, asking that she be put on the mailing list.

Household workers who would like to know more about their rights and obligations under Social Security may get in touch with the nearest social security office and ask for the pamphlet, "Good News for Household Workers." The local Social Security office is at 123 W. Commerce St., Youngstown.

Daughter Admits Firing Shot Which Kills Sleeping Ohioan

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Alice Napper was preparing dinner when she told her daughters, "Girls, go upstairs and wake your father up."

Innocently enough, Virginia Marie Napper, 18, and her sister, Edna Mae, 15, went upstairs to the bedroom where their father lay sleeping.

Then a shot rang out.

The father, Sylvester William Napper, 38, apparently never knew what hit him when a .22 caliber rifle bullet went crashing through the back of his head Sunday.

He was still alive when police got there, summoned by one of his daughters. But he died before an ambulance could get to the home.

Taken into custody Virginia Marie recited how she placed the rifle's muzzle against her father's head and fired into the base of his skull, Police Chief Justin Cornely said.

But why?

Cornely wasn't talking. Not until he confers with County Prosecutor Robert O. Stout, who was out of town Sunday.

Cornely said Virginia Marie implicated her sister in the slaying, but he wouldn't say how the younger girl was involved. All he would say was that Edna Mae also was in the bedroom when the fatal shot was fired.

Napper's two sons, ages 11 and 7, were downstairs with their mother at the time, Cornely added.

Virginia Marie was lodged in the county jail and Edna Mae was taken to the juvenile detention home.

No charges were filed.

Approximately 400 different religious denominations meet with regularity in the United States.

Writ Refused In Party Fight

BEAVER — Judge Morgan Sohn has dismissed a request for a temporary injunction sought by four members of the Beaver County Democratic committee.

If granted, the injunction would have restrained executive committee members from spending funds.

At a hearing Saturday, Judge Sohn said the injunction petition should have been brought to court only after the members had used up the organization's rules to settle the issue.

The petition was filed by John D. Essey of Aliquippa, Willard McNally of Monaca, Jeny Havrilak of Monaca and Olga Dzkowski.

Only McNally showed up for the hearing. It was not learned why the others were not there.

Members of the executive committee are George L. Warner, chairman; James Camp vice chairman; James E. Ross, treasurer; Atty. Eugene Caputo, secretary; and Russel Milnes, campaign treasurer.

Annual Camp Set On Conservation In West Virginia

CAMP CAESAR, W. Va. (AP) — The 18th West Virginia Conservation Camp will be held here this year June 6-11.

About 250 boys and girls ages 15 to 18 are expected to attend. The purpose of the camp will be to acquaint them with the social and economic importance of natural resources and to train them for leadership in conservation.

Subjects to be emphasized include forest products, forest and park recreation, game management and trapping, forest management, law enforcement, nature study and soil and water conservation.

Camp Caesar is located between Webster Springs and Cowen in Webster County.

Democrats Air Plans For Dinner Saturday

Final plans for a "Meet Your Candidates" dinner Saturday night at 6:30 in Lincoln School at Lisbon were completed last Saturday night when the Central Columbiana County Democratic Club met in Village Hall at Lisbon.

Atty. Herbert Arfman reported more than 300 reservations have been made for the dinner meeting.

Democratic candidates addressed the group, discussing their qualifications for office.

Lane Shocks Cleveland Fans In Colavito-For-Kuenn Deal

HARVEY KUENN
1959 Batting Champion.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Colavito, darling of the fans at Cleveland Stadium last year, will be wearing a Detroit uniform when the Cleveland Indians open their 1960 season here Tuesday against the Detroit Tigers.

Cleveland general manager Frank Lane traded Colavito Sunday for Harvey Kuenn, the 1959 American League batting champion.

"The deal should help both clubs," Lane said. "Kuenn gives us greater speed, better defense and more consistent hitting. He fits the pattern we've set for our club.

"The Tigers need someone who can hit the long ball, so they gave up consistency for power. We think we'll have enough power on our club without Rocky."

In making the last statement, Lane may have been thinking of Walter Bond, a big rookie who has been hitting sensationally in spring exhibitions and who probably will be in right field for Tuesday's game.

President Bill DeWitt of the Tigers said, "We're hopeful this move will enable us to score more runs."

Colavito parked 42 homers last year and should do even better in Detroit's Briggs Stadium with its friendly left field wall. He had a .257 batting average compared to Kuenn's title-winning .353. But Kuenn hit only nine homers.

"The home run is overrated," said Lane in explaining why he gave up one of the game's finest young power hitters for one of its more consistent hitters.

"I hated to let Rocky go, but I think our chances of winning the pennant are greater with a steady hitter like Kuenn in the lineup."

Lane had rejected the same deal just a few weeks ago.

Dewitt was delighted with his first major deal since becoming Tiger president.

The trade did not surprise Kuenn, who was told about it by Manager Jimmie Dykes in the Tigers' clubhouse at Lakeland, Fla.

"That's baseball," said Kuenn, who had played shortstop, then center field and finally right field for Detroit.

Colavito, a right fielder who drove in 111 runs last year for the second-place Indians, seemed disappointed. He said he hated to leave the Indians, but promised to give a "100 per cent effort" for the Tigers.

The explosive Lane now has parted with much of the heart of a team that finished only five games off the pace last season. He dealt his best pitcher, 19-game winner Cal McLish, to Cincinnati. Minnie Minoso batted .302 with 92 RBI, but Lane sent him to the Chicago White Sox.

Now he has parted with the 26-year-old Colavito, and one of the reasons is that Kuenn will give the Indians insurance at several positions.

With Woodie Held's ailing shoulder a question mark, Manater Joe Gordon could always return Kuenn to shortstop in a pinch. Gordon said he'd use Kuenn as a center fielder, Tito Francona in left and Bond in right. But if Held's shoulder kicks up, Kuenn would be on hand to plug a gap that's plagued the Indians since the days of Lou Boudreau.

Kuenn is a 29-year-old spray hitter who won all-star recognition five straight years as a shortstop before he was switched to the outfield because of difficulty with ground balls.

He has been a Detroit standout for seven seasons, with a lifetime batting average of .311.

But the Tigers desperately need power—they topped the league in runners left on base last year—and Colavito should supply it. He has batted in almost as many runs in less than four full campaigns as Kuenn has in seven.

Colavito has hit 129 home runs in that time while Kuenn has only 53 in his big league career. But Rocky has a .272 lifetime B.A.

He also possesses one of the most feared arms in the league. Kuenn's arm at best is mediocre.

Trades Slugger For Consistency

ROCKY COLAVITO
Slugger Is Disappointed.

The Sports Bench

Indian Fans On Warpath . . .

A tribe of Indians from the Lake Erie region, which call themselves Cleveland Fans, are on the warpath today.

They are wearing red faces, but they're not from war paint. Most of them are burned up over Frank Lane's latest trade — Harvey Kuenn for Rocky Colavito.

It was a trade in the literal sense of the word, but in many cornors it was considered outrageous.

Since Babe Ruth popularized the home run ball, fans have been paying their way into major league parks to see the ball hit over the fence.

Cleveland fans are just like any others. Rocky was their hero; he hit 42 home runs last season. They paid to see him smack the long ball. They are not going to be satisfied seeing Harvey Kuenn hit singles and doubles.

Look at the statistics. Colavito hammered 42 homers, drove in 111 runs and only batted .257. On the other hand, Kuenn hit .353 and won the American League batting title, but only drove in 71 runs and hit 9 round-trippers.

There is a difference of 40 runs batted in. Those runs won a lot of games for the Inidans last season.

Home Run Still Most Dangerous . . .

LANE also feels that Walter Bond, the big rookie who has been clubbing the ball well, is the Tribe's answer to their power problem.

However Bond is still untried. It appears that Lane, who is supposed to be shrewd baseball man, is jumping at conclusions before running a test on the rookie.

The Indians' general manager traded power for consistency but the home run ball is still the most dangerous weapon in baseball.

Take, for example, Pittsburgh's 6-5 victory over Cincinnati, Sunday. The Pirates were all but defeated, trailing 5-0 going into the last of the ninth inning.

It took only two home runs with men on base and before you knew it Pittsburgh had defeated the Reds, 6-5.

You can't sell the home run ball short. Maybe Lane will prove that he is right. For Cleveland's sake we hope so.

This is the third time that Lane has really stuck his neck way out over Lake Erie.

The first was last season when he fired Gordon, then immediately did a double take and rehired him. The second was the trade which sent 19-game winner Cal McLish to Cincinnati.

So far the McLish trade has looked good, since Cal got bombed in his first start with the Reds. But one game won't tell the story.

SOME OF the reactions by the fans who live within a stone's throw of Municipal Stadium: "My teeth just fell out," said one Indian follower.

Another commented: "Frank Lane just threw away the pennant," while another declared I'll never go to the ballpark again." And a youngster quipped, "I belong to one of the Rocky Colavito fan clubs. It's all over. We're going to start a new one, the Lane Haters."

A former batboy for the Indians summed it up by saying "The trade, it stinks."

Nevertheless, when tomorrow's opener rolls around at Cleveland Rocky Colavito will be in the outfield wearing a Detroit uniform.

Johnny's Come From Behind To Win Wellsville Tourney

By CHUCK CRONIN

Basketball answered its final curtain call of 1960 in the area Saturday night with a touch of the dramatic.

The scene was Beacom Memorial Gym in Wellsville where about 400 fans watched the windup of the second annual basketball tournament of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The cheers at the climax were for Johnny's Lunch, a Wellsville entry that finished second last year, but couldn't be denied in another bid for the title.

—:—

THE LUNCH entry staged a whirlwind finish to overcome a 14-point deficit midway through the final quarter and best Pete's Cafe of Wellsville in the championship battle, 90-82.

Pete's Cafe, a well - balanced squad with a strong scorer in Charley Boykin, 6-7, and outside strength in southpaw Bob Bingham and Ted Robinson, appeared much the better team for three quarters.

The three clicked to near perfection to give Pete's a 63-57 lead at the end of three quarters and the title seemed near at hand.

Midway through the fourth period, Boykin poured in points in rapid fire order and the two guards scored steadily on fast breaks to move Pete's to an overwhelming 74-60 lead with about five minutes left.

Then, Johnny's Lunch moved into a full court press. Johnny's regained its poise and began to creep up slowly and turn what had at one point been a near-rout into a nip-and-tuck struggle.

The Lunch entry pulled even at 80-80 with 1:56 left by virtue of some sharp outside shooting by guard Dick Dennis and outstanding rebound support by Gus Johnson, 6-6.

THE NEW champs then scored six straight points to move into a commanding lead of 86-80 with 53 seconds left.

Holly Edwards, 5-10, and Bob Thomas, 6-1, stole passes and dribbles from Pete's Cafe with the expert touch of professional bandits.

Thomas, a deadly outside shooter with a nearly-unstoppable running jump shot, teamed up with Dennis, 5-10, to supply the offensive punch for the winners.

A former Kent Roosevelt High School star, Thomas had a hot night from the field in scoring 28 points on a dozen goals and four of four at the foul line. Dennis, also from Kent Roosevelt, flipped in 27 points and was especially tough when the score was close in the fourth period.

Johnson battled with Boykin the entire game for control of the boards and the fight appeared to end in a deadlock. Boykin, who took shots from anywhere on the floor, outscored his center opponent by looping 34 points. Johnson got 14 in the title game, but it was his defensive prowess and skill under the boards that was the deciding factor.

BINGHAM, AN "old reliable" performer to many Wellsville fans, played outstanding ball, although slowed by four personal fouls at halftime. He finished with 13 points. Robinson, the pepper-pot guard, netted 12 and was the balance wheel in Pete's offensive attack.

Tom Meikle scored only two points and Tom Smith finished with 12, but each battled against the towering Johnson under the boards. Smith saw most of the action at a forward post.

Rounding out the scoring for the losers were Dan Baldwin with seven points and Charlie Vaughn, former Wellsville High center standout, with one goal.

Big Ron Brown of Johnny's Lunch, last year's most valuable player, had his troubles from the field and looped only five points. A 6-6 forward from Kent, he scored two goals and a foul.

In a consolation battle, Freed's-American Billiards sidetracked Herron's Transfer of Salem, 85-64, as Bevo Francis, Vince Giles and Jim Tucker led the way for the winners.

The Salem entry had control of the consolation game until the late arrival of Tucker, the 6-6 Duquesne University star. The double entry was behind at halftime, 40-33, but quickly took command when Tucker appeared. Freed's moved to a 62-47 lead after three quarters.

Giles led all scorers with 28 points, while Francis looped 21 and Tucker 18. Jack Green, perennial tourney veteran, finished with 9 and George Hale 6.

Rich Hunter, who performs for Western Reserve University, sparked the Salem entry with 28 points, while Woody Deitch added 14.

'He Threw Away Pennant,' Outraged Fan Comments

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Frank Lane just threw away the pennant!"

That was the outraged comment of one Cleveland Indians fan after learning that the Indians' general manager had traded Rocky Colavito to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn.

Reaction of fans to the trade sending the highly popular slugger to Detroit was mixed Sunday, but most was unfavorable.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said its sports desk was swamped with telephone calls and predicted that the trade could "touch off the biggest maelstrom here since the beloved Lou Boudreau was sold by Bill Veeck" nine years ago.

Comment ranged from the terse remark of Gilbert E. Jansen, a former Cleveland batboy, who said, "The trade stinks," to the tearful complaint of eight-grader Carol Kickel: "I belong to one of the Rocky Colavito fan clubs. It's all over. We're going to start a new one, the Lane Haters."

A few, like Richard Ganim, approved. "They got rid of a bum fielder for a good ball player," Ganim said. "Colavito hasn't learned a thing in four years. He doesn't know how to run the bases or where to throw the ball."

Johnson Is Chosen MVP In Wellsville Tournament

Akron's Gus Johnson, a 6-foot, 6-inch center, was named most valuable player Saturday night at conclusion of the annual basketball tournament of the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Johnson performed for the championship team — Johnny's Lunch of Wellsville — and won the MVP trophy for both scoring ability and rebounding skill.

An honorable-mention all-Ohio selection at Akron Central High School, Johnson is a freshman student at Akron University, but does not participate in basketball.

He succeeds Ron Brown of Kent Roosevelt as most valuable. Both performed this year for the winning entry.

Charlie Boykin, the giant center for runner-up Pete's Cafe, won awards for high point man in a single game (35) and high point performer for the tournament (93).

Dick Dennis, a guard on the Johnny's Lunch team, won the best foul shot trophy for making 18 of 21.

Named to the all - tournament team were: Jim Tucker, Bevo Francis and Vince Giles, all of Freed's-American Billiards; Johnson, Bob Thomas and Dick Dennis, Johnny's Lunch; Boykin, Tom Smith and Ted Robinson, Pete's Cafe; Dean Nicholson and Rich Hunter, Herron's Transfer; and Terry Deems of Pangrazious Pizza Shop of Denison.

Washington, Boston Open American League Season

By The Associated Press

Rumors to the contrary, the American League does plan to play baseball this year.

As a matter of fact, Joe Cronin's circuit gets going today with its traditional opener in the nation's capital. President Eisenhower even interrupted his Georgia vacation to fly up to Washington to throw out the first ball in the game between the Senators and Boston Red Sox.

On Tuesday, exactly seven days after the National League raised the 1960 curtain, all teams will open a full-scale drive for the flag currently held by the Chicago White Sox. According to most of the experts and the betting gentry, this figures to be a waste of effort by all but the White Sox, New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians.

Although probably aware that the Senators and Red Sox have been picked to finish eight and seventh, respectively, some 28,000 hopefuls were to be present at Griffith Stadium to see the winner take over undisputed possession of first place.

Camilo Pascual, who turned in an incredible pitching feat last year by winning 17 games for the cellar Senators, has been selected by manager Cookie Lavagetto to hurl against Ted Williams and Company. Choice of the Red Sox was Tom Sturdivant (7-0), a right-hander who did his pitching for New York and Kansas City last year.

Around 120,000 baseball-minded folks, two-thirds of the fans who turned out for the National League openers, were expected to take in the four games Tuesday.

BINGHAM, AN "old reliable" performer to many Wellsville fans, played outstanding ball, although slowed by four personal fouls at halftime. He finished with 13 points. Robinson, the pepper-pot guard, netted 12 and was the balance wheel in Pete's offensive attack.

Tom Meikle scored only two points and Tom Smith finished with 12, but each battled against the towering Johnson under the boards. Smith saw most of the action at a forward post.

Rounding out the scoring for the losers were Dan Baldwin with seven points and Charlie Vaughn, former Wellsville High center standout, with one goal.

Big Ron Brown of Johnny's Lunch, last year's most valuable player, had his troubles from the field and looped only five points. A 6-6 forward from Kent, he scored two goals and a foul.

In a consolation battle, Freed's-American Billiards sidetracked Herron's Transfer of Salem, 85-64, as Bevo Francis, Vince Giles and Jim Tucker led the way for the winners.

The Salem entry had control of the consolation game until the late arrival of Tucker, the 6-6 Duquesne University star. The double entry was behind at halftime, 40-33, but quickly took command when Tucker appeared. Freed's moved to a 62-47 lead after three quarters.

Giles led all scorers with 28 points, while Francis looped 21 and Tucker 18. Jack Green, perennial tourney veteran, finished with 9 and George Hale 6.

Rich Hunter, who performs for Western Reserve University, sparked the Salem entry with 28 points, while Woody Deitch added 14.

Homer Laughlin Team To Practice Tuesday

Players of Homer Laughlin in the Little League and its Minor League affiliate — Bergener's — are to report to Clark Field in Newell Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. Len Walker, manager, requests that all players bring their own glove.

'He Threw Away Pennant,' Outraged Fan Comments

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Frank Lane just threw away the pennant!"

That was the outraged comment of one Cleveland Indians fan after learning that the Indians' general manager had traded Rocky Colavito to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn.

Reaction of fans to the trade sending the highly popular slugger to Detroit was mixed Sunday, but most was unfavorable.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said its sports desk was swamped with telephone calls and predicted that the trade could "touch off the biggest maelstrom here since the beloved Lou Boudreau was sold by Bill Veeck" nine years ago.

Comment ranged from the terse remark of Gilbert E. Jansen, a former Cleveland batboy, who said, "The trade stinks," to the tearful complaint of eight-grader Carol Kickel: "I belong to one of the Rocky Colavito fan clubs. It's all over. We're going to start a new one, the Lane Haters."

A few, like Richard Ganim, approved. "They got rid of a bum fielder for a good ball player," Ganim said. "Colavito hasn't learned a thing in four years. He doesn't know how to run the bases or where to throw the ball."

Johnson Is Chosen MVP In Wellsville Tournament

Akron's Gus Johnson, a 6-foot, 6-inch center, was named most valuable player Saturday night at conclusion of the annual basketball tournament of the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Johnson performed for the championship team — Johnny's Lunch of Wellsville — and won the MVP trophy for both scoring ability and rebounding skill.

An honorable-mention all-Ohio selection at Akron Central High School, Johnson is a freshman student at Akron University, but does not participate in basketball.

He succeeds Ron Brown of Kent Roosevelt as most valuable. Both performed this year for the winning entry.

Charlie Boykin, the giant center for runner-up Pete's Cafe, won awards for high point man in a single game (35) and high point performer for the tournament (93).

Dick Dennis, a guard on the Johnny's Lunch team, won the best foul shot trophy for making 18 of 21.

Named to the all - tournament team were: Jim Tucker, Bevo Francis and Vince Giles, all of Freed's-American Billiards; Johnson, Bob Thomas and Dick Dennis, Johnny's Lunch; Boykin, Tom Smith and Ted Robinson, Pete's Cafe; Dean Nicholson and Rich Hunter, Herron's Transfer; and Terry Deems of Pangrazious Pizza Shop of Denison.

Washington, Boston Open American League Season

By The Associated Press

Rumors to the contrary, the American League does plan to play baseball this year.

As a matter of fact, Joe Cronin's circuit gets going today with its traditional opener in the nation's capital. President Eisenhower even interrupted his Georgia vacation to fly up to Washington to throw out the first ball in the game between the Senators and Boston Red Sox.

On Tuesday, exactly seven days after the National League raised the 1960 curtain, all teams will open a full-scale drive for the flag currently held by the Chicago White Sox. According to most of the experts and the betting gentry, this figures to be a waste of effort by all but the White Sox, New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians.

Although probably aware that the Senators and Red Sox have been picked to finish eight and seventh, respectively, some 28,000 hopefuls were to be present at Griffith Stadium to see the winner take over undisputed possession of first place.

Camilo Pascual, who turned in an incredible pitching feat last year by winning 17 games for the cellar Senators, has been selected by manager Cookie Lavagetto to hurl against Ted Williams and Company. Choice of the Red Sox was Tom Sturdivant (7-0), a right-hander who did his pitching for New York and Kansas City last year.

Around 120,000 baseball-minded folks, two-thirds of the fans who turned out for the National League openers, were expected to take in the four games Tuesday.

Wisconsin U. Boxer Dies As Result Of Brain Injury

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Charles Mohr, 22, University of Wisconsin boxer who suffered a brain injury in a collegiate title bout April 9, died Sunday.

"His death is a great, tragic loss," said Coach Vern Woodward. "Charlie was symbolic of all that is fine in college boxing."

Mohr died without regaining consciousness from the time he was admitted to the hospital, less than an hour after he walked out of the ring following a National Collegiate Athletic Assn. 165-pound title bout with Stu Bartell of San Jose State.

The fight was stopped in the second round after Mohr fell under Bartell's attack. He jumped to his feet and took a mandatory nine-count but remained dazed and defenseless. Mohr was rushed to a hospital when he complained to team physician Dr. John H. Flinn that he felt sleepy. By the time the ambulance arrived, Mohr was unconscious.

A team of surgeons tried to stop the bleeding of Mohr's massive brain hemorrhage during a three-hour operation. From the outset Mohr's chances were listed as minimal.

Mohr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mohr, and his sisters, Carole and Joan, returned to the family's Merrick, N.Y. home Sunday. The funeral tentatively was scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Glenville Snares Mansfield Relays

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Glenville grabbed the 29th Mansfield Scholastic Relays crown from Pontiac (Mich.) Central Saturday but it took a Pontiac disqualification to do it.

Glenville, last year's state champion, chalked up 29 7-9 points to take the meet, but the Michigan team lost four points when Joe Anderson was disqualified for elbowing after finishing second in the mile. Pontiac finished second with 26 5-9 points, but the lost four points would have pushed the runner-ups over Glenville with a 30 5-9 total.

The individual star of the meet was Joe Thomas of Uniontown, Pa., who ran the fastest scholastic mile in Ohio history, breaking the tape in 4:21. His time eclipsed the state record of 4:24 and shaved more than eight seconds off the 4:29.6 record set here in 1956 by Cary Weisiger of Mount Lebanon, Pa. Thomas chalked up another win with a 2:00.6 time in the 880-yard run.

He and Warren Harding's Paul Warfield, who won the broad jump and the 180-yard low hurdles, were the relays' only double-winners.

Snead Captures Greensboro Open For Seventh Time

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The incredible story of Sam Snead and the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament continues.

The one-time Virginia hillbilly, who now plays out of a swank White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., resort club, has won here again — for the seventh time.

When Sam accepted the winner's $2,800 check Sunday after posting a 14-under par 270 score for 72 holes it brought his Greensboro earnings to $21,600 since he won the first tournament held here in 1938.

It boosted his official earnings in the three major tournaments he's played this year to $9,325. He won at Bradenton, Fla., last month in his first outing, was tied for 11th in the Masters and won here.

Snead closed with a 69, two under par, by making birdies on the last two holes to give him a two-shot margin over Dow Finsterwald of Tequeeta, Fla., Finsterwald finished with 68 to 272, worth $1,900.

Snead fashioned rounds of 68-66-67-69 in breaking by one shot the tournament record for the 6,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course set 15 years ago by Byron Nelson.

Don Whitt, of Barrego Springs, Calif., closing with the day's best round, 66, was third at 277 to win $1,400. Len Woodward of Sydney, Australia, was fourth at 278.

Bucs Rally For 6 In Ninth To Turn Back Reds Twice

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco's major winter trade that sent outfielder Jackie Brandt to Baltimore for pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes has paid its first dividend of the infant National League season.

Loes the unpredictable was Loes the magnificent Sunday. The 30-year-old relief ace not only hurled three hitless and runless innings but singled in the bottom of the 14th and scored the run that gave the Giants a 4-3 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Third baseman Jimmy Davenport, whose late season injury was a big factor in the Giants' 1959 collapse, drove in the tie breaking run with a single off relief pitcher Ben Johnson.

The victory enabled the Giants to remain in a first place deadlock with the Los Angeles Dodgers. The defending champions defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-5 for their third consecutive victory. The defeat was the fifth for the winless Cards.

Milwaukee remained a half game behind the leaders, walloping the Philadelphia Phlies 8-4 for its third success in four starts.

Pittsburgh jumped into fourth place by sweeping a doubleheader from Cincinnati. The Pirates won the opener 5-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Friend, then came from behind with a six-run rally in the bottom of the ninth to nip the Reds 6-5 in the nightcap.

Loes was the fourth Giant pitcher, following Mike McCormick, Stu Miller and Jack Sanford. He took over in the 12th, retired six straight batters, then pitched himself out of trouble by getting pinch hitter Sammy Taylor with two runners on base in the top of the 14th.

Larry Sherry, star of the 1959 world series, won his first game of the season but he needed home run help from Gil Hodges, Duke Snider and Wally Moon. The right-hander also needed pitching help from Sandy Koufax, who stopped the Cards without a run in the last three innings. Stan Musial banged his first homer of the season for the Redbirds.

Eddie Mathews drove in three runs with a home run, triple and double to help right-hander Bob Buhl record his first victory of the season for the Braves. The homer was Mathews' 300th of his career. The 28-year-old slugger matched Jimmy Foxx as the youngest to hit that many homers.

Held to five harmless hits through eight runless innings of the second game, the Pirates exploded for six safeties in the bottom of the ninth to overcome a 5-0 deficit against Cincinnati.

When Pittsburgh came up for its last turn at bat, Red manager Fred Hutchinson replaced Raul Sanchez with southpaw Bill Henry, the fine relief pitcher Cincinnati acquired from the Cubs during the winter.

After retiring the first batter, Henry gave up singles to Smoky Burgess, Bill Virdon and Bill Mazeroski for one run. Hal Smith, a pinch hitter, then slammed a three-run homer. Ted Wieand got the second out but Dick Goat followed with a single and Bob Skinner climaxed the winning rally with a two-run homer.

Friend was masterful in picking up his first victory in the opener. Roberto Clemente's two-run homer off loser Joe Nuxhall in the first inning was all the veteran right-hander needed.

Frick Says Continental Needs Positive Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick says the Continental League should take a little more positive action.

Frick, replying to remarks of William Shea, leader in the quest by New York for another major league team, said Sunday that the new league has not qualified on a single point for major league status.

Frick said the requirements for qualification as a major league were spelled out last year and that the Continental League accepted them.

Shea charged that the established majors were making no effort to assist the new league.

The victory enabled the Giants to remain in a first place deadlock with the Los Angeles Dodgers. The defending champions defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-5 for their third consecutive victory. The defeat was the fifth for the winless Cards.

Milwaukee remained a half game behind the leaders, walloping the Philadelphia Phlies 8-4 for its third success in four starts.

Pittsburgh jumped into fourth place by sweeping a doubleheader from Cincinnati. The Pirates won the opener 5-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Friend, then came from behind with a six-run rally in the bottom of the ninth to nip the Reds 6-5 in the nightcap.

Loes was the fourth Giant pitcher, following Mike McCormick, Stu Miller and Jack Sanford. He took over in the 12th, retired six straight batters, then pitched himself out of trouble by getting pinch hitter Sammy Taylor with two runners on base in the top of the 14th.

Larry Sherry, star of the 1959 world series, won his first game of the season but he needed home run help from Gil Hodges, Duke Snider and Wally Moon. The right-hander also needed pitching help from Sandy Koufax, who stopped the Cards without a run in the last three innings. Stan Musial banged his first homer of the season for the Redbirds.

Eddie Mathews drove in three runs with a home run, triple and double to help right-hander Bob Buhl record his first victory of the season for the Braves. The homer was Mathews' 300th of his career. The 28-year-old slugger matched Jimmy Foxx as the youngest to hit that many homers.

Held to five harmless hits through eight runless innings of the second game, the Pirates exploded for six safeties in the bottom of the ninth to overcome a 5-0 deficit against Cincinnati.

When Pittsburgh came up for its last turn at bat, Red manager Fred Hutchinson replaced Raul Sanchez with southpaw Bill Henry, the fine relief pitcher Cincinnati acquired from the Cubs during the winter.

After retiring the first batter, Henry gave up singles to Smoky Burgess, Bill Virdon and Bill Mazeroski for one run. Hal Smith, a pinch hitter, then slammed a three-run homer. Ted Wieand got the second out but Dick Goat followed with a single and Bob Skinner climaxed the winning rally with a two-run homer.

Friend was masterful in picking up his first victory in the opener. Roberto Clemente's two-run homer off loser Joe Nuxhall in the first inning was all the veteran right-hander needed.

Frick Says Continental Needs Positive Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick says the Continental League should take a little more positive action.

Frick, replying to remarks of William Shea, leader in the quest by New York for another major league team, said Sunday that the new league has not qualified on a single point for major league status.

Frick said the requirements for qualification as a major league were spelled out last year and that the Continental League accepted them.

Shea charged that the established majors were making no effort to assist the new league.

FUTURE FASHION EXPERTS

Main entrance to High School of Fashion Industries in New York.

Like experts, students employ skill and imagination in getting together their millinery collection.

The High School of Fashion Industries was made to order for the apparel manufacturers and merchandisers of New York City. It is the only school of its kind in the country.

The pupils are prepared for all kinds of jobs in the fashion industry — designing, merchandising, men's and women's clothing, shoe and fur manufacturing, textiles, and other allied fields. Along with their vocational and technical studies, the students receive a complete high school course in English, social studies, mathematics, science, health education and music. Their school day is longer than that of others, but they apply themselves diligently and seriously, and have no trouble landing a job at the end of the four years.

Approximately 325 boys and girls graduate each year. About 80 per cent go right into fashion industry jobs. The rest continue their education in colleges and technical institutions.

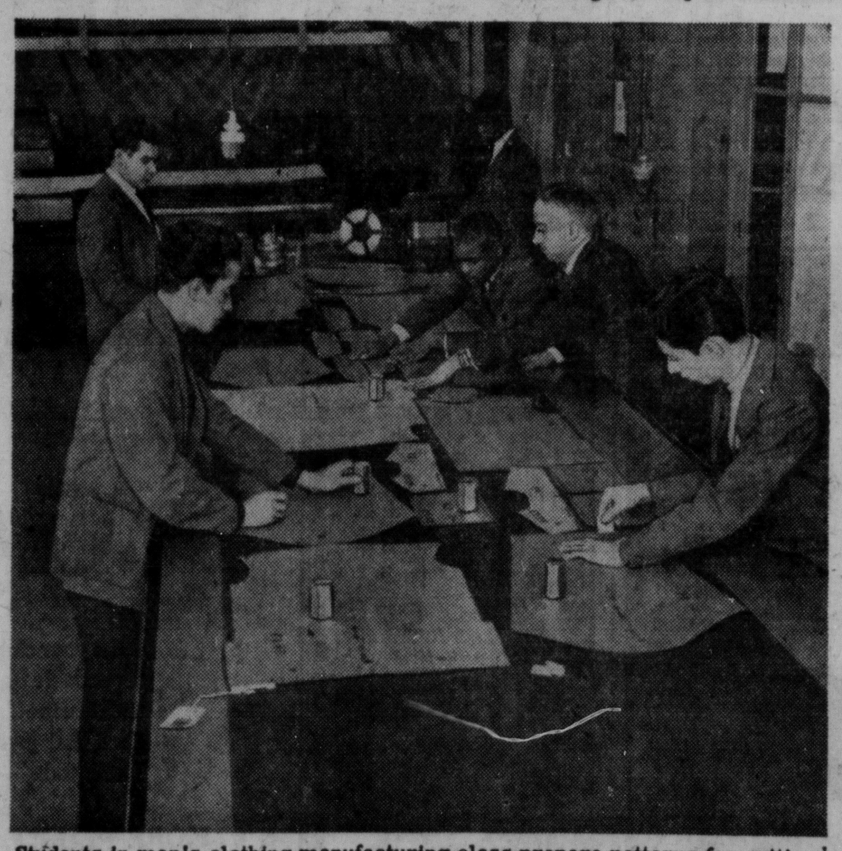
First started as a two-room "School House" in 1926, with 75 students and a staff of a principal and two teachers, the school grew fast. Today it occupies a ten-story building, with a student body of some 1800 teen-age boys and girls and a teaching staff of 114. It also has an evening school for adults.

"Our school has one of the closest industry relationships in the country," says the school's principal, Dr. Nathan Brown. "We get materials, machines, money for scholarships, and advice from the companies. All our graduates get jobs unless they want to go to college or get married."

Bending closely over her board, Elaine Persikoff illustrates a fashion ad in fashion illustration class.

Dennis Magalios hopes to become a shoe designer. A pair of shoes serves as his model.

Display artists Helen Nowak and Leonard Goran prepare a holiday window.



Students in men's clothing manufacturing class prepare patterns for cutting.

Fashion design student Barbara Byrne keeps her sketch in mind as she drapes the bodice of her garment.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Daughter's Question Spurs Mother

Overweight young mothers, today's story may provide the incentive-jolt you need to get started on the happy course to successful slimming.

By Ida Jean Kain

On January 18, our model dieter wrote:

"I know how other overweights feel. I too weighed a trim 125 pounds when I married ten years ago. I have three children and after each child I gained more weight until I reached 180 pounds.

"I tried dieting by half-starving myself, only to gain back twice the amount of weight lost. By that method I ended up a sloppy 222 pounds.

"Two weeks ago, my daughter, who is only eight, asked me if I would ever be a real mommy. I asked her what she meant and she told me she meant 'thin like real mothers are.'

—:—

"SHE HIT HOME base for I went straight to the doctor that same day for a check-up. He put me on a very strict diet which I have been following to a tee.

"I have lost 18 pounds in the two weeks. I know I will lose more slowly from now on. As an incentive I have promised myself a new outfit for each 25 pounds off.

"My husband is quite proud of me also and encourages me in every way. I have set my goal at 140 pounds which I would like to reach by Christmas of this year. This would give me eleven months to lose 82 pounds.

"Each time I am tempted to eat any sweets, I think of my little girl and the real mother she wants me to be and I let well enough alone.

"I have to go to the doctor once a month for a check-up. With this help, your column for morale support, and my own effort, I hope to make it. I would like to write to you once a month or each six weeks and let you know my progress. It will give me something to look forward to."

Cheers! Please do write to give us a progress report, E.M.C. While a jolt can interrupt your habit pattern, following through calls for staying power. The secret of staying power is strong incentive. Analyzed, a strong incentive gives power to the will. Love is the most powerful force.

YOU ATTITUDE IS wonderfully right; your goal is attainable; and your reward system of a new outfit with each 25 pounds off gives you a near goal at which to aim.

After you have reduced 25 pounds, ask your doctor if you can take some easy calisthenics to put some tone back in the abdominal muscles. We'll all be pulling for you ... so please keep us posted.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Castro Feeler 'Brushed Off'

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — A suggestion by Fidel Castro that he hold private talks with President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was seen here today a possible indication the Cuban leader wants to improve relations with the United States.

Castro told correspondent Richard Bate of the Columbia Broadcasting System Sunday that such a meeting could result in better relations between the two countries.

Such a meeting also would mean a considerable boost in prestige for Castro, and it seemed most unlikely Eisenhower would give the idea serious consideration after Castro's numerous bitter attacks on U.S. policy. Nor did it seem likely Herter would see the Cuban leader after all the harsh things Castro has said about the secretary of state.

In Washington, State Department press officer Lincoln White brushed off Castro's suggestion. He said it was surprising to him that the suggestion was made to a newsman and not to U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal, whom Castro has not seen since Bonsal returned to Cuba March 20.

Castro, who has been leading a hunt for rebel guerillas in the Sierra Maestra for the past 10 days, made the remark when he appeared at the mountain town of El Caney to help dedicate a rural school.

The official language on Aruba, a small island in the Netherlands West Indies, is Dutch. But, the natives speak a language called Papiamento—a mixture of Dutch, French, Spanish, Portuguese, English and some African.

These Kids Celebrate Birthdays In 'Double'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The children celebrate birthdays in pairs at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Gartner of Pittsburgh.

Susan Gartner was born March 19, 1954. Her brother David arrived on March 19 a year later.

Sharon Ann was born April 7, 1957. Then along came brother James last April 7th. He almost didn't make it in time. He was born 15 minutes before midnight.

Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An old gray mare ran afoul of traffic laws Sunday.

The mare and two colts were sighted galloping the wrong way on a one-way downtown street. Motorcycle officers R. W. McKittrick and J. D. Weaver gave chase. The errant animals finally were corralled by an old-fashioned road block. They were tethered in a parking lot.

Ex-Governor Dies

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP) — Albin Norblad, 79, former governor of Oregon and father of Rep Walter Norblad (R-Ore), died Sunday. Norblad, a Republican, was president of the state Senate when on Dec. 22, 1929, he became governor on the death of Gov. Isaac Patterson. He served until Jan. 12, 1931, and retired to his law practice in Asoria.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Daughter's Question Spurs Mother

By Ida Jean Kain

Overweight young mothers, today's story may provide the incentive-jolt you need to get started on the happy course to successful slimming.

On January 18, our model dieter wrote:

"I know how other overweights feel. I too weighed a trim 125 pounds when I married ten years ago. I have three children and after each child I gained more weight until I reached 180 pounds.

"I tried dieting by half-starving myself, only to gain back twice the amount of weight lost. By that method I ended up a sloppy 222 pounds.

"Two weeks ago, my daughter, who is only eight, asked me if I would ever be a real mommy. I asked her what she meant and she told me she meant 'thin like real mothers are.'

—:—

"SHE HIT HOME base for I went straight to the doctor that same day for a check-up. He put me on a very strict diet which I have been following to a tee.

"I have lost 18 pounds in the two weeks. I know I will lose more slowly from now on. As an incentive I have promised myself a new outfit for each 25 pounds off.

"My husband is quite proud of me also and encourages me in every way. I have set my goal at 140 pounds which I would like to reach by Christmas of this year. This would give me eleven months to lose 82 pounds.

"Each time I am tempted to eat any sweets, I think of my little girl and the real mother she wants me to be and I let well enough alone.

"I have to go to the doctor once a month for a check-up. With this help, your column for morale support, and my own effort, I hope to make it. I would like to write to you once a month or each six weeks and let you know my progress. It will give me something to look forward to."

Cheers! Please do write to give us a progress report, E.M.C. While a jolt can interrupt your habit pattern, following through calls for staying power. The secret of staying power is strong incentive. Analyzed, a strong incentive gives power to the will. Love is the most powerful force.

YOU ATTITUDE IS wonderfully right; your goal is attainable; and your reward system of a new outfit with each 25 pounds off gives you a near goal at which to aim.

After you have reduced 25 pounds, ask your doctor if you can take some easy calisthenics to put some tone back in the abdominal muscles. We'll all be pulling for you ... so please keep us posted.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Castro Feeler 'Brushed Off'

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — A suggestion by Fidel Castro that he hold private talks with President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was seen here today a possible indication the Cuban leader wants to improve relations with the United States.

Castro told correspondent Richard Bate of the Columbia Broadcasting System Sunday that such a meeting could result in better relations between the two countries.

Such a meeting also would mean a considerable boost in prestige for Castro, and it seemed most unlikely Eisenhower would give the idea serious consideration after Castro's numerous bitter attacks on U.S. policy. Nor did it seem likely Herter would see the Cuban leader after all the harsh things Castro has said about the secretary of state.

In Washington, State Department press officer Lincoln White brushed off Castro's suggestion. He said it was surprising to him that the suggestion was made to a newsman and not to U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal, whom Castro has not seen since Bonsal returned to Cuba March 20.

Castro, who has been leading a hunt for rebel guerillas in the Sierra Maestra for the past 10 days, made the remark when he appeared at the mountain town of El Caney to help dedicate a rural school.

The official language on Aruba, a small island in the Netherlands West Indies, is Dutch. But, the natives speak a language called Papiamento—a mixture of Dutch, French, Spanish, Portuguese, English and some African.

Needle Pattern

These Kids Celebrate Birthdays In 'Double'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The children celebrate birthdays in pairs at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Gartner of Pittsburgh.

Susan Gartner was born March 19, 1954. Her brother David arrived on March 19 a year later.

Sharon Ann was born April 7, 1957. Then along came brother James last April 7th. He almost didn't make it in time. He was born 15 minutes before midnight.

Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An old gray mare ran afoul of traffic laws Sunday.

The mare and two colts were sighted galloping the wrong way on a one-way downtown street. Motorcycle officers R. W. McKittrick and J. D. Weaver gave chase. The errant animals finally were corralled by an old-fashioned road block. They were tethered in a parking lot.

Ex-Governor Dies

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP) — Albin Norblad, 79, former governor of Oregon and father of Rep Walter Norblad (R-Ore), died Sunday. Norblad, a Republican, was president of the state Senate when on Dec. 22, 1929, he became governor on the death of Gov. Isaac Patterson. He served until Jan. 12, 1931, and retired to his law practice in Asoria.

All other Want Ads can be accepted by mail or over the telephone and a statement of the charge will be mailed to you.

The Review is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers which includes practically all leading newspapers throughout the country and has for one of its aims the elimination of fradulent and misleading classified advertising.

HOURS FOR PLACING WANT ADS 8:00 A. M. to 5:30 P. M., Monday through Friday, 8:00 A. M. to 12 Noon Saturday.

Deadline 5:30 P. M. the day before publication. On Mondays and on mornings following legal holidays advertisements are accepted until 9:00 A. M. the day of publication.

2 IN MEMORIAM

JOHN E. CROXALL. In loving remembrance of my dear father, who passed away 10 years ago today:
Gone dear father, gone forever,
Away from sorrow, cares and pain.
May you rest in peace, dear father,
Until we meet again.
From your loving son, BILL CROXALL.

Lead Widened By Democrats

Democrats have gained a margin of nearly 2-to-1 over Republicans in Hancock County, according to the registration figures for the May 10 primary.

The total registration of Democrats is 13,775, compared to 12,257 in April 1956. The Republican total is 7,988, a drop of 311 from the comparable voting of 4 years ago.

Forty registered as independents, giving a grand total of 21,803 eligible to ballot in the primary.

Registration by districts includes Grant, 5,114; Clay, 2,610, and Butler, 14,039.

Grant District, which embraces Chester and Newell, shows 2,656 Democrats and 2,458 Republicans. Clay District in the New Cumberland area shows 1,714 Democrats and 896 Republicans. In Butler District in Weirton, the figures are 9,405 Democrats, and 4,634 Republicans.

Registration in Grant District's 9 precincts, with the Democrats listed first and the Republican total second, are:

Precinct 1, 215 and 305; Precinct 2, 339 and 340; Precinct 3, 236 and 321; Precinct 4, 244 and 316; Precinct 5, 287 and 156; Precinct 6, 355 and 269; Precinct 7, 352 and 295; Precinct 8, 414 and 344, and Precinct 9, 218 and 112.

One county official commented that Grant District has registered a majority of Democrats for the first time in history.

Miss Judith Ann Fisher Weds In Lisbon Church Ceremonies

Miss Judith Ann Fisher wore a ballerina length gown of imported chantilly lace when she became the bride of Howard Wendell Cole Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Lisbon First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony before an altar setting of ferns, palms and bouquets of white snapdragons and pink carnations.

Mrs. Vernon Duke, organist, presented a half-hour of nuptial music. Mrs. Donald Lewis sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "Through the Years."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Fisher, 430 N. Market St., and her husband is the son of Mrs. Harold Kepner and Atty. Howard Cole of Lisbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was fashioned with a moulded bodice, a scalloped Sabrina neckline frosted with sequins and featuring long pointed sleeves and a bouffant skirt in tier effect. Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion lace was held in place with a pleated tulle shell cap. Her only jewelry was pearl earrings, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried an arm bouquet of white pom poms surrounding a white orchid. All the familiar traditions were observed.

Miss Ruth Ann Gerrard, maid of honor, wore a pink silk organza dress of princess style with scoop neckline. Her matching bandeau of flowers held a theater length veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Raymond Dixon served as best man and ushers were Dana Ewing and David Binsley, cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a beige linen dress with a pink flower hat and pink and beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a light green silk sheath dress with matching hat and black accessories. Corsages of pink roses complemented their attire.

A reception for 125 followed in the church social rooms. The bridal table was laid with a floor length cloth of white nylon tulle with a ruffled flounce over white satin. A narrow band of pink taffetta edged the top and ended in large pink bows of pink tulle at the corners. White tapers burned in three branch silver candleabra, which also held nosegays of pink snapdragons and greenery at either side of a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and surrounded at the base with pale pink flowers.

Miss Jean Ann Adams, cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl; Miss Darlene DeVille poured coffee and Mrs. Lester Fisher, aunt of the bride, served the cake. Miss Elizabeth Ziegler was in charge of the guest book and registered guests from East Liverpool, Leetonia, Columbiana, Akron, Elyria, Massillon, Damascus, Hanoverton, East Rochester, Rogers, Lisbon, Wellsburg, W. Va., and Pittsburgh.

For the honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C., and Gettysburg, the bride wore a blue and gray plaid walking suit with navy accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

She is a graduate of Lisbon high school and is employed at the Croft Department Store.

Her husband, also a graduate of Lisbon High, attended Miami University at Oxford, and is attending night school at Kent State University. He is employed by the Columbiana County Highway Department.

Following their honeymoon, they will reside at 510½ W. Lincoln Way.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kepner entertained the bridal party following rehearsal Friday evening at the Hotel Wick.

Cornell P. Monda, director of psychological and guidance service in Lisbon schools, will attend a meeting of the Ohio school psychologists at Granville April 29-30. Monda will serve on the "ethics and private practice" committee.

Mrs. Paul Hum of Prospect St., director of guidance services in the Salem school system, also will attend the meeting.

The Lisbon Social Club held an Easter dinner party at Heck's Restaurant in Columbiana Friday night.

Mrs. Dale Morris, who could not attend, was remembered with a gift. The club returned to the home of Mrs. Robert McCaughin of E. Washington St. for a social hour and business.

Miss Barbara Viets, a student of nursing in Mt. Sinai Hospital in Cleveland, is spending the spring vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Viets of E. Lincoln Way.

Miss Annabelle Libby, teacher in Lorain schools, spent Easter weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Libby of W. Lincoln Way.

Miss Joy Mullins, a student at Westminster College at New Wilmington, is visiting over Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mullins of Columbiana Rd.

Spring's the thing
ATTENTION HOMEMAKERS . . .

Imagine that you are walking down a street fifty feet wide and almost six hundred feet long. Except for the aisles, every inch of this space is filled with the most delectable, famous brand name, reasonably priced furniture and home decorations you had ever seen. That is what is waiting for you at Silverman's of Midland, Pa. Never before have our selections been so large nor our styles and colors been so lovely. Our prices so reasonable.

Certainly it is to your advantage to shop in the one store — that under one roof displays living room furniture by Kroehler, Howard Parlor, International, Diamond, Pullman, Kenmar, Charlton and Karpen. Our styles range from the sleekest of functional modern to the charm and grace of Early American. Our fabrics range from the homespuns, whose origin is to be found in the frontier homes of our country, to the plush nylon pile fabrics that are as new as tomorrow. We pride ourselves on our complete selection of these styles and fabrics—however, if you want something extra special, from these various factories, on special order, you have a selection of over seven thousand (yes, we said seven thousand) possible combinations of styles and fabrics to choose from. To complement this furniture we have tables and lamps by such makers as Lane, Mersman, Tonk, American of Martinsville, Sandel, Rembrandt, etc.

Our display of bedroom furniture is equally complete. Modern, Early American, French Provincial and Italian Provincial are but a few of the styles. The makers are the bluebloods of American manufacturers: American of Martinsville, Drexel, Thomasville, Fashion Trend and Bassett to mention but a few. It makes just good plain common sense for you to be sure and see our selection before you purchase any bedroom furniture —anywhere.

In department after department you will find the same huge selections of famous brand name furniture. Let us cite but a few examples. We display twenty-five different styles and finishes of baby cribs. We display eight styles and price ranges of baby buggies—plus, of course, the usual strollers, walkers and Taylor tots. We carry and display bassinettes, bathinettes, training chairs, play pens, high chairs, car beds, baby swings, chestrobes and pads for every type of baby furniture.

We display over fifty chairs of all types, colors, styles, fabrics and sizes. We have fifteen styles of curio wall cabinets. Mirrors up to huge 36"x60" in size. Few, if any other stores in this area are privileged to carry the Simmons, the Sealy, the Restonic, the Englander and the Crownrest bedding lines under one roof.

We carry carpets by Mohawk; ranges, both electric and gas by Tappan and washers and dryers by Maytag, sweepers by Hoover, refrigerators, freezers, washers and dryers and air conditioners by Frigidaire.

Not only do we have the styles, the selection and the brand names, but we cover the entire price field—from three room groups for a total cost of $398 to individual suites, (magnificent in their styling and execution), up to $795. Terms to suit your budget can be arranged. Free delivery on all purchases. We are open Tuesday and Saturday nights until nine. We have free storeside parking.

If you want the most you can get for your money, if you want to shop where selections are largest, then you must come to Silverman's at 527 Midland Ave., Midland, Pa.

Lead Widened By Democrats

Democrats have gained a margin of nearly 2-to-1 over Republicans in Hancock County, according to the registration figures for the May 10 primary.

The total registration of Democrats is 13,775, compared to 12,257 in April 1956. The Republican total is 7,968, a drop of 311 from the comparable voting of 4 years ago.

Forty registered as independents, giving a grand total of 21,803 eligible to ballot in the primary.

Registration by districts includes Grant, 5,114; Clay, 2,610, and Butler, 14,039.

Grant District, which embraces Chester and Newell, shows 2,656 Democrats and 2,458 Republicans. Clay District in the New Cumberland area shows 1,714 Democrats and 896 Republicans. In Butler District in Weirton, the figures are 9,405 Democrats, and 4,634 Republicans.

Registration in Grant District's 9 precincts, with the Democrats listed first and the Republican total second, are:

Precinct 1, 215 and 305; Precinct 2, 339 and 340; Precinct 3, 236 and 321; Precinct 4, 244 and 316; Precinct 5, 287 and 156; Precinct 6, 355 and 269; Precinct 7, 352 and 295; Precinct 8, 414 and 344, and Precinct 9, 218 and 112.

One county official commented that Grant District has registered a majority of Democrats for the first time in history.
